Too Many Provisional Officers

A halt has been called in the training of provisional officers not absolutely needed for authorized overseas units, and until the present great reserve of unattached lieutenanls has been absorbed, which from present indications will not be for some months yet, no more probationers than those whose commanding officers certify that they are required to fill vacancies in existing battalions will be trained. This drastic new regulation has been adopted to prevent the waste of money and time that would follow the training of a by local applications, as they cannoreach the diseased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is in flamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

TIRELESS INSECTS.

Built For the Strenuous Life, They Are

Never Weary. In "Insects, Their Life Histories and Habits," Harold Bastin, the entomologist, says that, contrary to popular belief, spiders are not insects. have six legs, neither more nor less. and another peculiarity of the insect is that it has wings, sometimes two. more often four. Spiders have eight legs and no wings; therefore spiders are not insects.

Insects have no backbones and no skeletons, says Mr. Bastin, but skins with a hard, durable surface called chitin, which makes up a light shell of armor that forms the outside of the body, to the inside of which the muscles are attached.

Insects do not breathe through their mouths, but through holes in their bodies, called spiracles. Insects have neither veins nor arteries. The blood is pumped directly from the chambered heart into the body cavity, where it bathes and nourishes the organs. Insects have wonderful and enviable digestive organs and feed upon and digest almost any substance from which nourishment may be extracted.

Because of the way they are built insects are particularly fitted for the strenuous life, and a tired insect is a thing unknown. They are always busy traveling, buzzing, biting or seeking some work to do.

A "Primitive" Painter.

Henri Rousseau, a man who used to hold a minor government position in France, was for a quarter of a century the joke of artists and art students in Paris. For years in the independent salon he showed daubs which had not the most distant kinship with art. Some of his "famous" pictures were a "Lady on a Sofa In a Jungle," a "Tiger In a Jungle," a "Nigger In a Jungle." He affected jungles, which consisted of innumerable parallel green lines to represent grass; the tiger was a painted wooden toy; the lady looked as if she had come out of Noah's ark. The unfortunate Rousseau went on exhibiting the same sort of work every year, and the painful thing was that he gradually became a celebrity. Sinister humorists told him he had genius, and he took himself quite seriously. "I am a real primitive," he would say. Some practical jokers even went the length of buying his pictures.

She is Always to Blame. Of what use is it discussing whether men or women will do the sillier things to maintain a pose? We all know-or ought to, perhaps-that when the woman buys a twelve dollar pair of white kid boots that are unsuitable to wear with anything else that she can afford she is herself to blame; and when a man mortgages his farm to buy an automobile that he cannot afford to run it is the women of the family who are to blame; and there you are!—"As She Sees It,"

Marriage In France.

In France a man under twenty-five and a girl under twenty-one cannot marry without the consent of their parents if they are alive or of the survivor if one is dead. If both are dead the grandparents must be consulted if living. Even the would be bridegroom over twenty-five and the bride over twenty-one must ask the parental benediction. Over thirty and twenty-five they must give their parents or their representatives a month's clear notice of their intention to marry.

Everlasting Bricks.

Once made a brick is practically indestructible. Nearly every brick that has ever been made by man from the beginning of time is still in existence on this earth. The men who made and laid them and who directed these operations have long since been gathered into dust. Some of them have doubtless contributed in their bodies to the making of more bricks. But the steadfast and enduring square of baked clay persists and will until the heavens and earth are shriveled like a scroll.-Exchange.

Portuguese Burial Custom. They have an unusual mode of burial in Portugal. Instead of the headstones and monuments of the graveyards of other countries the cemetery of Lisbon shows rows and rows of tiny chapels ranged in long avenues bordered by cypress trees. The Portuguese are cypress trees. The Portuguese are reluctant to bury their dead out of sight, and these chapels serve as mortuaries for the coffins, which are placed on the shelves within. Through the iron grills the eye discerns small al-tars and flowers gleaming through the subdued light of the interiors.

In its Grateful Shade.
"I have aimed at health and happiness. When confronted with a for-midable obstacle," said Sir George Reid on his seventieth birthday, "I have always first tried to knock it over. Failing this, I try to get around it; failing that, to get over it or under it. If I did not then succeed I have been content to lie down in its grateful shade, praising the obstacle as a blessing in disguise."-London Standard.

Unfair Suggestion.
Wife—Do you think Tommy disturbs our neighbor with his drum? Husband -I'm afraid so. The man next door made him a present of a nice new knife today and suggested that Tommy should cut open the drum and spend the money that is inside.

Would they could sell us experience, though at diamond prices! But, then, no one would use the article secondhand.-Balzac.

His Golf Prize.

When the Duke of York was living in Edinburgh in 1681 he was told that a certain shoemaker named Patersone was the best golf player in Scotland, and him, the duke, later James II., chose as partner in a foursome, winning a huge stake. He promptly turned over the money to Patersone, who forthwith built a house in which the duke placed a stone with a Patersone crest bearing the motto, "Far and Sure."

Always Wrong.

Manager—I'm disgusted with the mistakes that new man makes! He gets everything balled up. Assistant Manager—Oh, well, some of the best ones are that way at the beginning. He may bring home the bacon yet. Manager-He won't unless we send him for ham.

His Motive.

Judge-Why did you commit a second theft after you had just been acquitted of the first one? Prisoner—I had to pay my lawyer, your honor.

Their Work. "What a noisy clatter children do keep up at the table!" "They certainly do put the din in

How he Hated Publicity

Some people hate publicity, like the young musical comedy actor. He was dressed in a tight-fitting suit of the latest cut, and his whole costume was a dream of sartorial refinement. And he was of sartorial refinement. And he was plainly embarrassed as he entered the editor's office.

editor's office.

"I was intensely shocked to read a notice in your paper of my engagement," he began. "I cannot tell you how shocked I was. I was positively chagrined. My fiancee was chagrined; we were all chagrined. How much for fifty copies of the paper?"
