

I venture to wonder whether some larger measure of self-restraint, self-sacrifice, and self-discipline might contribute toward a greater measure of success in agreeing upon common objectives in trade and economic matters and in attaining those agreed upon objectives.

S/C