

So may our noble university, our alma mater, rising from her sure foundation, "broad based upon the people's will," rear once again her stately form, fair and tall, pure and bright, majestic and benign; gleaming with the sacred jewels of learning; illumined by the holy light of truth; and conferring, through countless generations, unnumbered blessings on the land she serves.

---