

SEC. 4. The jurisdiction of the referee shall not extend beyond the match for which he is appointed. At the commencement of each game, and after "fouls" and "ball out of bounds," he shall see that the ball is properly faced. He shall have the power to suspend, at any time during the match, any player infringing the laws—whether or not a foul has been claimed by the captain of either side. Any side rejecting his decision, and refusing to continue the match, shall be declared the loser. All disputed points or matters of appeal that may arise during his continuance in office shall be left to his decision, which in all cases shall be final. If "foul" has been claimed by either captain, and a game scored before the referee has had an opportunity to call "time," the referee shall decide whether or not a foul has been committed, and it shall be optional with him to allow the game, order the ball to be faced, or give a free throw. In the event of a complaint being made and proven against the decision of either umpire, the referee shall dismiss the umpire and appoint another.

SEC. 5. The referee shall have power to fine any team one goal for every twenty minutes it shall be late in arriving on the field; the referee, however, having discretionary powers in case of unforeseen circumstances arising.

RULE VII.

UMPIRES.

SEC. 1. There shall be one umpire at each goal. They shall be disinterested parties, and shall not be removed during its progress, unless as provided in Section 4, Rule VI.

SEC. 2. The umpires shall be selected by the captains at least half an hour before the match commences, each being allowed three nominations and three objections; and in the event of their failing to agree, it shall be the duty of the referee to appoint one or more umpires, as may be required, who shall not be one of the persons objected to.
