

ing made any nominations his interest in the society shall be transferable to or among the persons who may be entitled by law to receive the same. If any member dies leaving a will, but without having made any nominations, his interest in the Society shall be transferable to his executors or administrators.

If any member becomes a bankrupt his interest in the Society shall be transferable to the trustee of his property.

XXVI.—DIVISION OF PROFITS.

An interest of seven per cent. shall be allowed on all paid up capital; after which and the payment of interest on loans and other expenses, the net proceeds from sales of fruit and other products shall be divided amongst the members, according to the amount, value and varieties of fruit and other products supplied by them, excepting not less than five nor more than ten per cent. thereof, which shall be retained as provided for in Rule, xxxi.

The division of such proceeds on hand amongst the members, for the sale of fruits or other produce during the previous quarter, to be made at each quarterly meeting.

Should any of the members require a part of the proceeds from fruits or other produce supplied by them, before the regular quarterly meeting, the Committee of Management may authorize the payment of such portion as they deem the funds on hand will warrant.
