

imbecility. Try to lessen the sin that is in the world, by good counsel and example, and strive to mitigate the suffering that is in it, by an able exercise of the noble Art to which you have devoted yourselves:— And, so doing, you may look to God for His blessing.