TODAY THE EMPIRE CROWNS HER SAOR KING

LONDON'S MILLIONS KEPT VIGIL ON CORONATION'S EVE

At Midnight Dense Crowds Began to Leave Their Homes to Take Possession of Every Point of Vantage for the Morrow's Pageant—People Spent the Night Cheering and Singing the National Anthem.

SKY GAVE PROMISE OF REAL KING'S WEATHER

LONDON, June 21.—The British nation shows not the slightest sign of diminishing favor toward monarchical government. A half century of quiet life under Queen Victoria has been succeeded by a stirring decade, which has seen a coronation and two state funerals. Yet the public appetite is unquenched, but rather augmented, in its enthusiasm for royalty and kingly display. Never before has this enthusiasm reached such a high pitch, and the ceremonies attendant upon tomorrow's great event, the coronation of George V., appear likely to be attended by a degree of excitement and public favor unrivaled in any great state ceremonies in past times.

To the casual observer the countless population of the city, with its myriads of foreign and provincial visitors, is not sleeping to-night and the scenes until midnight vividly recalled the scenes enacted when the news of the relief of Mafeking was received. After that, for a few hours, there was a slight subsidence of the turmoil before the thrush from the suburbs of the great crowds to watch the coronation procession and secure places.

The King and Queen have not for a moment relaxed their sense of public duty, which has characterized them since they mounted the throne. Although their majesties have long and continuing ceremonies attending them, they spent the day as busily as any previous day of this exciting period, receiving coronation visitors, attending to matters of state and dropping in on the horse show at Olympia. Wherever they appeared in public they were the objects of unbounded enthusiasm.

The eve of the coronation found London at the highest point of fever heat. Immense crowds of the preceding days became to-night a seething mass. All attempts to secure to-night a view of the royal procession, the streets in the west end were almost utterly impassable and everybody was thoroughly humored and ready to cheer at the slightest provocation.

The waiting throngs. Myriads waited around the route to watch the brilliant decorations, which were illuminated until long after midnight for the special distraction of the waiting throngs, who thus were enabled to enjoy a magnificent spectacle. Occasional by the sound of bugles announced the approach of troops just arrived in London, marching to their camps to snatch a few hours of rest before dawn.

Late in the evening a strong escort of Life Guards reached Westminster Abbey, conveying a great scaled wagon in which the royal regalia was carried, and handed over the historic crowns, sceptres and sword to the dean and canons, who placed them for safe custody in the "Jerusalem Chamber," surrounded by an armed guard of eight Tower warders until the arrival of the royal procession.

In preparation for tomorrow's ordeal King George and Queen Mary passed the evening alone in the Prince of Wales's Hotel, where they had before that great multitudes waited patiently, hoping to obtain a sight of their majesties. From time to time the people sang the national anthem and other patriotic songs.

There had been some anxiety concerning the weather, but the clouds gave place at midnight to a beautiful blue sky, and hopes rose for tomorrow's prospects. Dense crowds of people, who had retired early, about that time began to leave their homes and make their way towards the centre of the city. Late trains and street cars poured tens of thousands into the capital, until the streets overflowed. The entire police force came on duty and kept pedestrians in circulation, although they were compelled to stop all vehicular traffic. Numbers of people who had engaged stands took possession of the sidewalks, fearing that they would be unable to reach them in the morning.

Entertainment of Visitors. At the house of parliament, where the ministers and members are entertaining large numbers of extensive preparations have been made. Tents have been erected in the palace yard, where 2,500 guests will be served during the coronation.

MONTREAL BREAD MERGER

Another Firm Likely to Enter, Says Report.

MONTREAL, June 21.—(Special.)—Messrs. Cawthra Mulock and Mark Bredin, accompanied by their solicitor, A. M. Stewart, of Toronto, have again been in Montreal on the bread merger business, but returned last night to the west. It was rumored that Messrs. Stuart, Limited, well-known bakers had agreed to join the proposed combine, but Mr. W. J. Stuart, a member of the firm, would neither deny nor confirm the report. He believed that the Toronto mergers were going to build a huge concern in Montreal, but beyond that he would not say.

"The Montreal situation is not in shape yet to permit of a statement being given out," said Mr. Bredin to The World last night, adding that a meeting was to be held on Friday of next week.

Both gentlemen will be officially decorated with the Cross of St. Michael and St. George, which has just been bestowed on them by the King.

The honor conferred on C. C. James also appears to be a birthday one, for Mr. James celebrated the 48th anniversary of his birth a few days ago, and the present week marks the 29th year he has been in office at the parliament buildings.

HON. JOHN COSTIGAN HONORED.

EDMUNDSTON, N.B., June 21.—The banquet tendered to Hon. Controller Church says he will receive proposal to build a foot-bridge across railway tracks at the foot of Bay-street, as it will be five years before the viaduct is ready. PRINCE AND PEOPLE

The New Democracy on Coronation, 1911

Let the King rule; but in the nation's hand.
Let the King hear; but best his People's voice.
Let the King judge; the Law will be his guide.

The King makes war; but for the Nation's cause;
The King is leader; but by Wise men led;
The King is king; but first must be a Man;
The King has Right divine; by Faith alone,
The son is King; his father feared the Law.

God guide the People when they make the Kings;
God bless the King when he takes up the Crown,
Man reigns when all the People make the Law;
God reigns when Prince and People keep the Law.

CONTINUOUS DISPROOF OF THEORY OF FROZEN NORTH

Report Issued, Covering Journey to Hudson Bay Taken by Earl Grey Last Summer.

OTTAWA, June 21.—(Special.)—By permission of the governor-general a report has been prepared by R. W. Brock, director of the geological survey, covering the journey to Hudson Bay, taken by Earl Grey last summer. His Excellency is credited in the report with a lively interest in "the continuous disproof of the theory of the frozen north."

Dealing with the country between Lake Winnipeg and Hudson Bay, Mr. Brock says that as far as Hill River the land is similar to much of Northern Ontario and Quebec, while the climate does not differ materially from that of Manitoba. The building of the Hudson Bay Railway will open up the way for prospectors, and "having regard to the results obtained from prospecting similar formations in Northern Ontario, half of only reasonable to suppose that prospecting in the Hudson Bay district will result in some gratifying discoveries."

Mr. Brock confirms previous reports of the shortness of the navigation season in Hudson Bay, three and a half to four months, extending from the latter half of July to the early part of November.

STREET RAILWAY MEN IN JURY

Because Company Refuses to Answer Committee's Letter.

Street railwaymen are indignant over the action of the Toronto Railway in refusing to enter into negotiations with their committee, appointed for that purpose at the mass meeting two weeks ago. They claim that this is in fact a violation of the agreement.

In a related statement issued yesterday, after a meeting of the executive two days ago, the officials say that R. J. Fleming has not even acknowledged the receipt of their letter.

The street railwaymen have been restive for some months, and from the present attitude, it looks as if a strike will be called in the near future. That is unless R. J. will try a swat at the grievances of the men.

CHOOSING AN ARCHBISHOP

Roman Catholic Bishops Meet to Select Names.

A meeting of the Roman Catholic bishops of Ontario was held yesterday at the residence of the late Archbishop for the purpose of selecting three names, which will be forwarded to Rome as their choice to succeed the late head of the Toronto archdiocese. The conference was private.

The Archbishop of Ontario, Bishop Dowling of Hamilton, Bishop Scoullard of North Bay, Bishop McDonald of Alexandria, Bishop O'Connor of Peterboro, Bishop Gauthier of Kingston, and Bishop Paton of London were present.

FATE OF RECIPROCITY HOVERS IN THE BALANCE

Result of Amendment to the Wool Bill Now Renders it Impossible to Say Whether Enough Votes Can Be Mustered to Pass it Without Amendment.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The throwing of the Democratic wool revision bill into the senate to-day drove the insurgent Republicans of that body into an open coalition with the Democrats in a demand for a general revision of the tariff and brought about the threatened crisis in the finance committee's control of the senate. At the end of a bitter fight the resolution by Senator Gore requiring the finance committee to report back the wool bill before July 10 was passed by a vote of 29 to 18.

The fate of the Canadian reciprocity bill was to-night in doubt as a result of the remarkable developments of the day's session of the senate.

WOULD FORGET THE PROVISIONS TO MAKE TERMS

Rep. Mann of Illinois Wants to Let in Paper Made From Private Pulpwood Lands Free and Tax That From Crown Lands, in Hope of Forcing Provinces to Lift the Embargo on Exportation.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Attack on the Root amendment to the print paper and wood pulp section of the Canadian reciprocity agreement as "a violation of the agreement," was made in the house to-day by Representative Mann of Illinois. He declared the practical effect of the amendment was to say "this section shall never take effect."

"It would be of no benefit to anyone," he said, "except to those paper mills in the United States which own a temporary supply of spruce wood pulp forests and which hope to convert them into paper at high prices during the next few years, leaving the future to look out for itself. This is neither statesmanship nor wise economy. If the reciprocity bill comes back to the house with such an amendment to the pulp and paper provision, which is so utterly destructive of its purpose, and which renders its intent entirely ineffective, I trust that it will meet with instant and decisive disapproval here."

"The Root amendment," says Mr. Mann, "decries the agreement as to pulp and paper. It completely prevents the importation of paper free from Canada, or of paper into Canada from here free."

"We would leave it within the power of any one province in Canada to prevent the taking effect of any portion of these provisions, and thereby prevent the admission of any paper free merely by refusing to remove the restriction it makes in its contract on the exportation of pulpwood. If this power be left in each individual province of Canada, it is absolutely certain that the provision in the act is not worth the paper it is written on."

Mr. Mann contended that only by establishing competition between the private wood lands and the crown lands of the provinces be brought to remove the restrictions which they have placed on the importation into this country free of duty of wood or wood pulp from foreign lands.

"The crown land pulp wood and the private land pulp wood are in competition in Canada. If we let in paper free from the provinces, we let in wood free, and charge a duty of $5.75 a ton on the paper made from a crown land pulp wood, the latter will be at such a disadvantage that the province, which is the owner of it, will naturally seek to secure the same benefits for the crown land pulp wood that the private land pulp wood has. It will force take off the prohibition on exportation."

MOOSE JAW, SASK., June 21.—(Special.)—The second day of R. L. Borden's tour beyond Winnipeg has been distinctly encouraging from his point of view. He scored a great personal success, and he has distinctly turned the flank of a pro-reciprocity meeting in a settlement largely composed of those who had come from the United States—Spoke at Seven Meetings Yesterday.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., June 21.—(Special.)—The second day of R. L. Borden's tour beyond Winnipeg has been distinctly encouraging from his point of view. He scored a great personal success, and he has distinctly turned the flank of a pro-reciprocity meeting in a settlement largely composed of those who had come from the United States—Spoke at Seven Meetings Yesterday.

This latter incident took place at Weyburn, the second stopping place for the day. Here the grain growers were again in force and their demands were presented by Delegate E. J. Shepherd. Then Delegate Jas. Smith followed with a paper on the tariff and the farmer. This was strongly anti-protectionist in tone. It declared that protection could not give equal treatment to all sections of the community.

Mr. Smith accused the manufacturers of going "to the government with misrepresentations of facts, that no may be permitted to take toll from the citizens."

"The grain growers," he went on, "ask that they be relieved of unfair taxes, not that others be taxed for their benefit." This caused some amusement, which soon broadened into general laughter, when he went on to charge the manufacturers with "selfishness and greed," and to credit the grain growers with "unselfishness and patriotism."

"Reciprocity," he said, "has not settled our demands, but we accept it as a long step in the right direction."

At this time there were some "No, no," and more general applause.

He went to warn both parties against being deceived by the manufacturers as was done by Delegate Borden. "We have been charged," he went on, "with disloyalty and with accepting a bribe from J. J. Hill. Those who make that charge know that it is false. We know that we are right and we will continue the fight until we win." (Cheers.)

Shortly after this the audience became restless, and Mr. Borden and the chairman had to appeal for a hearing for Mr. Smith.

"No Separation of East and West."

"Must be the loss of our grain," then declared, "we may be driven to demand the separation of the east from the west."

"No, no," came from all over the meeting. "Never, St. John."

"I am not favoring it," he explained, "I am explaining what may happen."

Again there were shouts of "Never," and Mr. Smith had to conclude in haste.

This put the meeting in the best of humor to listen to Mr. Borden, and he was received with great applause. He at once made use of the favoring humor of the crowd to chaff Mr. Smith with settling in a few pages questions which had engaged mankind for centuries. He followed this up by repeating his declaration that he would not give up his "deepest abiding convictions for anything in the gift of the people of Canada." (Cheers.) He then proceeded to propose that a tariff was needed to provide funds for the development of Canada, and was cheered when he advocated the development of our resources at home, instead of sending both resources and people abroad.

That the audience contained a considerable group of sympathizers with him soon became evident. They observed here and there when he advocated a separate tariff for the development of Canada and the United States. His statement that the tariff on lumber was higher in some parts of Canada.

VALUABLE MARKET LETTERS.

A comprehensive weekly market letter, something of an innovation for a Toronto brokerage firm, but Charles A. Stoneham & Co. have made a notable success of their venture. The whole field of Prospec and Gold stocks is capably covered, and the investor will find a fund of information readily accessible which should assist him materially in making up the situation. Latest reports of mining operations are included in the summary, and no one who is interested in the gold and silver areas of Ontario should fail to study these weekly letters.
