THE MAN'S WORLD.

REQUIEM TO SUMMER.
Designed by Mildred Cassels.

In the gloaming, sad and lonely,
While the golden fades to grey,
Moaning branches whisper only
For the summer passed away.

Sylvan temple, lately glowing,
Gilded by the summer sun,
Now is filled with sad intoning
For her idol, stolen away.

Wooded valleys weeping coldly,
Gloomy grown, that once were grey,
Sigh like souls for sins atoning
Since the summer's passed away.

O, strong man, this change beholding,
Know thou, too, must meet this day.
Mould the heart to do thy duty
Ere thy summer pass away.
—W. Chapman Brown.

W. O. T. U. Convention.
Boston, Oct. 18.—At the W.O.T.U. convention to-day, as soon as Mrs. L. M. Stevens of Portland, Me., called the gathering to order, brief devotional exercises were held, the roll of official members was read, and several committees were appointed.

Mrs. Stevens then read a letter of greeting from Lady Somerset, president of the W.O.T.U., who was unable to attend the convention.

It was voted to send a cablegram of appreciation to Lady Somerset, Mrs. Stevens announced that the representatives of the W.O.T.U. in the different countries had presented to Lady Henry Somerset a bell, which had been placed in the chapel in London where she was born.

A cablegram from Lady Henry was read, in which she said, as follows: "Grateful, humble, loving, thanks for the silver-toned voice."

Governor Gould then welcomed the delegates on behalf of the commonwealth, and Mayor Fitzgerald for the City of Boston.

The report of the executive committee caused some discussion with reference to the status of life members. Finally, a recommendation was adopted, members be allowed to vote in world's conventions, provided they are active members of some local union, was adopted.

The report of Miss Agnes E. Slack, honorary secretary, was then presented. Miss Slack's report consisted of a survey of the work in different countries, and showed that gains had been made nearly everywhere in members and in activity.

The greatest proportional gain has been made in Sweden, where a membership of 736 years ago, has been raised to 2623. In Sweden, there has been a large amount of practical work, including the establishment of temperance societies.

In India there are 38 local unions, with a total membership of 994. Scotland has introduced in the school and the W.O.T.U. is co-operating with several other temperance organizations, in South Africa many new unions have been organized.

In Madeira, work is being carried on actively, and much assistance is being received from physicians, who are publicly warning the people against the use of liquor.

The Queen, with a total membership of 109,053. The Licensing Act passed by parliament in 1904 has proved an obstacle in the way of suppressing the coffee houses and temperance restaurants. There has been a large increase in membership in Ireland, the work is proceeding slowly but steadily in Germany.

Encouraging reports have been received from various parts of Austria, Denmark, Iceland, Egypt and Palestine.

Empresses of the East and West.
One of the greatest charms of Queen Alexandra is her voice. Low and very sweet, with the faintest suspicion of a foreign accent about it, due to her Danish origin, one catches in it at once an almost pathetic cadence. The Queen, however, is never at her best when speaking in public, being apt to be ill at ease.

Queen, considering that she will be 62 in December, has suffered little from the hand of time. Every youth-retaining device of value she has tried, and the creams, washes, and cosmetics that she uses are legion. Her complexion is a thing of the hairdresser's, and the hair in England it might be made to speak of it, a particularly fine man in Paris always dresses her hair. The Queen has seven of these, each of which, after being worn for one day, is sent immediately to Paris, where it is re-dressed and sent back. In it any wonder, then, that her crowning glory is always beautiful.

Alexandra seldom uses any perfume, but the old-fashioned lavender water of which large quantities are manufactured annually for her exclusive use.

According to the account of Miss Katherine A. Karl, who was permitted to paint the portrait of the Dowager-Empress of China, the latter's beautiful hands, symmetrical, well formed, with a good development above the rather large ears; jet-black hair, smoothly parted over a fine, broad with head well set upon her shoulders, and a fine presence; really beautiful, hands, daintily small and high-bred in shape, symmetrical, well formed, with a good development above the rather large ears; jet-black hair, smoothly parted over a fine, broad

AN HEROIC ENCOUNTER

WITH THE NIGERIAN OUTLAWS

Half Dozen British Native Soldiers Administer Defeat to 500 Tuareg Warriors.

London, Oct. 18.—News has just reached England from Lake Chad of a case of almost unparalleled bravery on the part of British native troops, who, under the leadership of a black corporal, held at bay for over two hours, and subsequently drove off with considerable loss, a force of Tuareg outlaws, who outnumbered the defenders by nearly 50 to 1.

Owing to the remoteness of the region in which the incident occurred, and the fact that no white officer was present at the time, only the bare facts are yet to hand. From these, it appears that some time in June the British post at To was surprised by a raiding band of masked Tuaregs, who, under the leadership of a black corporal, held at bay for over two hours, and subsequently drove off with considerable loss, a force of Tuareg outlaws, who outnumbered the defenders by nearly 50 to 1.

The raiding band, which was composed of about 500 warriors, was led by a black corporal, who was killed in the action. The British native soldiers, who were only 50 in number, were led by a black corporal, who was killed in the action.

THE DICKENS' FELLOWSHIP.

Annual Banquet of Toronto Branch - Election of Officers.

Charles Dickens is honored by 10,000 readers, who have formed a Dickens Fellowship with an organ, "The Dickensian," and the Toronto branch, said to be the largest in the world, with 220 members, held its annual dinner Tuesday night at a banquet of 100.

President E. S. Williamson said that numerical strength was not of most importance, and their object was to do something for the benefit of others, to help in every possible direction the cause of the poor and distressed, and to ameliorate social conditions in the ways dear to the heart of the great novelist.

The secretary's report recounted the activities of the year, and the treasurer's report showed a balance of $55 to the credit of the fund.

Frank Leigh told about the little black child, Victoria St. Clair, who occupies the chair that had been occupied by Mrs. Jean Elvett, a former occupant died after an operation on the brain.

The following officers were elected: President, E. S. Williamson; Vice-President, J. W. Brough, J. A. Denison, J. W. Brough, J. A. Denison, J. W. Brough, J. A. Denison.
