THE MODERN PULPIT.
Editor World: I am pleased to read in The World that we have a few fearless Protestant ministers in this country, and I do trust when these men go back to their churches they will say the same to their people, who are not afraid to speak out their minds at our annual church gatherings on the all-important subject—Graft, gambling, women, wine, etc., etc. I wish to God there were many more ministers of the gospel would preach more on the great evils of the present day that surround us on every side and just a little less about those men in the olden times, Moses, Solomon and David, who had not have so many empty churches, and it would be better for both preacher and people.

Holiday Dress

No better chance in the year to note the mistakes in dress than in the holiday crowds.
And what a satisfaction it is for one to know for himself that no finger can be pointed to him as being off-style in the smallest detail of his dress—but to be absolutely certain of this means that he chooses his haberdashery and clothing from the man who knows what's what.

"SCORES" know — and emphasize for the quick half-day's selling to-day:

A Great Living Volcano.
Describing the terrible Kilauea, one of the great living volcanoes of the world, standing four thousand feet above sea level near Hilo, the chief town of Hawaii Island, a writer in The World's Work says: At 9 o'clock at night, with lanterns and a trusted guide, we start on horseback the descent into the crater. Following our leader into the blackness, often by crevasses, and picking our way as best we can—but usually trusting to our horses' instinct—we zig-zag down the steep side of the crater about 1300 feet, and then travel about three miles across the lava to the "Lake of Fire." The last part of the journey is made on a foot, and the heat from the crevasses is so intense and the air so filled with suffocating fumes, that it is almost impossible to breathe. The lava, which is so hot, is boiling, and as we near this boiling lake of molten lava, one by one we are led to the very edge. Down below is the seething, hissing lava, terrible in its grandeur, and there we stand on the very brink of this awful furnace, with crevasses a foot wide not four feet behind us. In the daytime this crater appears like a deposit of black pitch in the process of cooling, with smoke and steam rising everywhere. There could not be a more weird scene anywhere than is afforded by this lake of perpetual fire, with its rolling, fiery billows and its fountains of flame that shoot up like geysers. The numerous caves and crevasses are frequently visited by sightseers, and the temperature does not increase, but long stay. The changes in the crater usually take place in the early morning hours and often paths which were followed at night are gaping crevasses at daybreak.

Oldest Human Being.
The oldest living human being of authentic record is Mrs. Mary Wood of Hillsboro, Ore., a few miles west of Portland. Mrs. Wood is 120 years old. She was born in Knoxville, Tenn., May 20, 1787, which the records of Knoxville show. When she was 65 years old she rode the entire distance across the continent from her home in Tennessee to her present home in Oregon.

Local Option and Pianos

How to get a piano is a problem in some homes. One way to get an instrument is to stop all leaks. One of the worst leaks is the bar. What some people spend in the bars would soon buy a piano. Judging from appearances one would infer that some men have greater enjoyment in pouring poisonous liquor into their stomachs than in seeing accomplished musicians. Give the piano a chance by getting a local option. Local option will help bring the piano. Vote local option.

HUMBER BAY.

Close as Hotel—Open as Restaurant.

HUMBER BAY, June 28.—Quite a few years have passed since Nurse's Hotel at Humber Bay presented such a dismal appearance as it does at present.

It was always a favorite resting place for Torontonians who wished to enjoy an evening in the suburbs, but on Saturday last the Deputy Reeve vacated the premises and Mrs. P. V. Meyer took possession.

On Saturday night the license commission for 1908 were unanimous in refusing a transfer of the license. The commissioners claim that Mr. Nurse did not make application to this effect, and to-day the premises look as if local option had struck the neighborhood. It is the intention of the present proprietress to run a first-class restaurant and pleasure ground, even in the event of no license being granted.

MIMICO.

Etobicoke Township Plans a Good Work.

MIMICO, June 28.—At the last meeting of the Etobicoke Township Council $5000 were voted to put the Lakeshore-road in proper repair, on condition that $2500 would be raised by private subscription. The Deputy Reeve Warner states that this amount has already been raised, and the work will commence as soon as County Engineer McDonald can give the necessary levels.

The part of the Lakeshore-road that will be repaired lies between New and New Toronto, a distance of almost five miles. The road will be graded and macadamized, and the necessary drains put in at various intervals.

An 18-inch drain will be laid across the road opposite Mrs. Hughes', and through the ravine.

The contract was let by the Township of Etobicoke, but was not done satisfactorily, and Deputy Reeve Warner ordered the inspector to reconstruct the drain.

MARKHAM.

Opening of First Library for the Blind in Ontario.

MARKHAM, July 28.—The opening of the free library for the blind at Markham on Monday marks a forward step in this direction. The library, the first of its kind to be established in Ontario, will for the present at least be located in the residence of Dr. Robinson, whose wife, E. F. B. Robinson, M.A., a blind graduate of Trinity College is the librarian. Mr. Johnson is president and E. W. Hermon is treasurer.

There are 126 volumes, and already there are twenty-six members. The books are divided into two classes, one in circulation and the other for reference. Last year the legislature gave a grant of $200 toward its establishment.

The Sewell site, on Main-street, has been approved by the township general as a proper one on which to locate the new postoffice. It is expected that the plans will be ready by Aug. 1.

The fact that the Township of Markham has reverted to the old system of statute law seems to be working out well, many of the main roads being in better condition than for a long time at the south end of the town to concession 7 has been built in a splendid shape. Others are being similarly treated.

W. B. Sargeant, B.A., of Toronto, will conduct service in the Christian Church on Sunday evening.

Crops in this vicinity have seldom, if ever, looked better.

Another new canoe has been added to the small fleet of pleasure craft on Stephenson's pond.

HUMBER BAY.

Work is Now Under Way—Lake Shore Road to Be Remodeled.

HUMBER BAY, June 28.—Charles Nurse, former proprietor of Nurse's Hotel, has purchased the lot just west of the old stand, 200 feet frontage, on the Lake Shore-road, running back to the lake. He is started to-day that he intends to build an up-to-date hotel on the property.

The work of improving the Lake Shore-road was started this morning by a gang of men in charge of Isaac Scott. There is $7500 to be spent in improving the road from the Humber to New Toronto. The Etobicoke Township Council has voted $5000 for this purpose, and Deputy Reeve Warner has collected $2500 by private subscription.

Roosevelt on Horseback.

Washington Post.

President Roosevelt on horseback seems a quite different personality than when afoot. While decidedly a daredevil rider, not even his most ardent admirer can call the president astride his horse. When walking or standing his muscular system is taut and strained, but when riding he is mentally. When riding horseback, however, all the muscles in his well-knit body seem to loosen almost to the point of flabbiness. There is scarcely perceptible a bend of his knees, and his legs dangle and jostle with the movement of his steed. While a cowboy on the plains he acquires the habit of ramming his feet completely thru the stirrups, with the heel of his shoe touching the edge of the stirrup. The result is that he sits full and flat in the saddle, his body slightly inclined forward, and usually he holds the reins in both hands. When riding down the street, a companion the president keeps up a rattling fire of conversation, and manages to do nearly all the talking. It is only when his horse is going at a lively gallop that the presidential muscular system is rigid and the presidential knees are bent. Then he hugs the horse's body tight with his legs, holds the reins in one hand, and keeps the other arm free. He seldom carries a whip, but when he does he holds a horse that needs the whip is not only a dangerous one, but is not worth riding. In his horseback rides around Washington the president generally is accompanied by two or three friends, and close behind the cavalcade is a cavalry corporal in khaki. Concealed under the soldier's coat is a big pistol, and it is said that the chief magistrate also goes armed on such occasions.

Mrs. Roosevelt frequently accompanies her husband on these rides, and she sets her horse gracefully, altho she has acquired the riding habit only recently. The president's two most frequent companions are Senator Lodge and Civil Service Commissioner John A. McIlhenny, one of the numerous rich young men who entered in the president's famous regiment of Rough Riders.

The Suspicious Man's Fate.

"To be unfair, to be prejudiced, to be suspicious," says the Metropolitan Museum, he was arrested to find that the admission to this splendid building cost nothing. He accepted the offer and entered.

"Your umbrella, sir," said a uniformed official, extending his hand. "The countryman looked back his umbrella, laughed scornfully, and turned on his heel.

"I knowed there was some cheat about it when yet got it free," he said.
