

WILLIAMS PIANOS NINETEENTH YEAR

The World

Empress of Table Waters ONE CENT

DEATH CONQUERED HIM AT LAST

Mr. Gladstone was Borne Off by the Grim Destroyer at Five o'Clock This Morning.

Hawarden, May 19.—Gladstone is dead. He died at five o'clock this morning.

All last night a weary vigil was maintained. The whole family was in and out of the sick room.

His last hours. London, May 19.—According to a special despatch from Hawarden received early this morning.

which by then. It was generally felt at St. Stephens that his dying was but the sequel to that great speech witnessed four years ago when, his last speech spoken, he quitted the House without one word of spoken salute.

Anticipating the inevitable, the members of the Government discussed the appropriate procedure to be observed, and resolved that no effort on their part should be wanting to mark a suitable sense of their loss.

Overlooking recent precedents it was decided that the procedure in Parliament should be the same as that adopted in the cases of the Earl of Chatham and the Younger Pitt, namely, an address to Her Majesty praying for a funeral at the public charge and a monument erected in Westminster Abbey.

A BIOGRAPHY.

Mr. Gladstone was born at Liverpool, Dec. 9, 1809. The son of a Liverpool corn merchant—Sir John Gladstone, M. P., sometime of Leith—and of Ann Robertson, daughter of Mr. Andrew Robertson of Stornoway, and Provost of Dingwall, the greatest Liberal statesman of his time has ever been proud to boast of his Scottish nationality and middle-class origin.

He was educated at Eton and Christ Church, Oxford, and at both places early developed High Church tendencies, and these they placed upon which he apparently inherited from his father. At school he contributed largely to the Eton Miscellany, and subsequently took an active part in the discussions of the Oxford Union. He was married in 1839 to Miss Catherine Glyne, daughter of Sir Stephen B. Glyne, of Hawarden Castle, Flintshire.

Entered Public Life. Shortly after the passing of the first Reform Bill, in 1832, Mr. Gladstone made his entry into public life at Newark, where he was elected, as the Duke of Newcastle's nominee, in the Derby election, defeating Sir Robert Peel, the popular candidate. It was on May 17, 1833, that he delivered his maiden speech in the House of Commons, in reply to Lord Howick, on the slavery question, when he expressed himself as opposed to slavery, but not in favor of hasty and wholesale emancipation.

On the dissolution of the Melbourne Ministry, at the end of 1834, Sir Robert Peel called Mr. Gladstone to his first public appointment as Junior Lord of the Treasury, which post he resigned in February of the following year for that of Under Secretary of State for the Colonies.

He remained in the office of Under Secretary until 1836, when he was appointed to the office of Vice-President of the Board of Trade and Master of the Mint.

He took Gladstone's part in the Corn Law debates of 1841-42, and, although opposed to Mr. Villiers, the champion of the free-trade party, the revised tariff scheme was still a chiefly Mr. Gladstone's work.

He became President of the Board of Trade in 1843, but at the commencement of 1845 he resigned, owing to his opposition to the extension of the Maynooth Grant and the establishment of non-sectarian colleges. In 1846, it having been announced that an said: "Yes and No" nor does the physician believe that Mr. Gladstone recognized any one. Nevertheless he suffers no pain whatever, but just lies with his head facing the light, his eyes closed, his hands sometimes outside the counterpane and sometimes hidden beneath.

MR. GLADSTONE.

"His grand face bears an almost peaceful and beautiful look. A few days ago the deeply indented wrinkles that so long marked it were almost gone; but now, strangely enough, they seem strong and deep as ever. He looks, too, in wonderfully good color."

ALL BRITAIN IS MOURNING.

London, May 19.—Every other topic in Great Britain has been dropped out of sight before the passing of Mr. Gladstone. Hawarden focuses the attention, which, from the highest to the man in the street, is respectful, sincere and profoundly moved.

Now the hour is come when to quote from Mr. Chamberlain last evening at the club service banquet, "the greatest statesman of our time and generation is passing to his rest."

In two places, perhaps, was the venison most keen and most heartfelt—the House of Commons and Hawarden. Just before the House rose a telegram from Mr. Herbert Gladstone reached Lord Stanley, announcing that his father was sinking. In the minds of all it was the last of a long series of bulletins anxiously awaited and mournfully received. Already before his death the house of his triumph; and from the present moment turned to the past, recalling his sayings and doings. A great lion lay dying, his old colleagues, his one-time enemies and followers watching his last long fight with his last and implacable foe as they watched in days past his fights against foes whom he could overcome. True to himself, he was yielding slowly beat on the Irish University Education Bill in 1850, and Mr. Distrell returned to power in 1854.

The Bulgarian atrocities. Mr. Gladstone then decided to resign the leadership of the Liberal party, but in 1876 aroused much public indignation against the Bulgarian atrocities, which he perpetrated in Bulgaria. In 1879 he made his first visit to Constantinople, and on the dissolution of 1880 he was elected for that constituency, and became for the second time Premier.

Amongst the important Acts he carried through in 1883 may be mentioned the Irish Land Act, the Hares and Rabbits Act, the reform in the Land Laws, and the third Reform Act and Redistribution of Seats Act.

On the fall of the Salisbury Administration, Mr. Gladstone and the Liberal party were again called to office by the Queen to again take office.

He then held as Premier the office of First Lord of the Treasury and Keeper of the Privy Seal. In consequence of a divergence of views between some of the leading members of the Liberal party and Mr. Gladstone with respect to his proposed Irish policy, several of his old colleagues, notably Lord Harrington and Sir H. James, did not join his cabinet—Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Trevelyan, who accepted office, resigning March 27.

The Expulsion of the Fenians. Mr. Gladstone introduced bills relating to the government and land of Ireland, the former in a great speech on April 8, and the sale and purchase of land (Ireland) bill on the 10th. In the meantime the revolt of a large section of the Liberal party, who were known as Unionists, became pronounced, and on April 14 a great Unionist meeting was held at Her Majesty's Theatre to protest against both the Home Rule and the Land Purchase bills, which were moved in the House of Commons and a lengthy debate commenced. On May 27 a meeting was called by Mr. Gladstone at the Foreign Office, the invitation being issued to "all members of the Liberal party, who were desirous of maintaining full freedom on all the particulars of the Irish Government and the Home Rule bill, and the establishment of a legislative body in Dublin for the management of the affairs specifically and exclusively Irish." On June 8 the meeting was held at the Theatre, and 200 members attended. On June 8, when the meeting was held at the Theatre, when the meeting was held at the Theatre, when the meeting was held at the Theatre.

On June 14 Mr. Gladstone issued his election on June 17, 1885, in London, progress for the north being yet again marked with every sign of enthusiasm. Only 2 Mr. Gladstone was elected for both Midlothian and Leith, and he carried his constituency, but the result of the general election was to deprive him of power. During the remainder of that year and Paris, and rolled in French to the toast of his health, proposed at a great banquet to which he was invited. The 51st anniversary of the right honorable gentleman's birthday in 1860 was made the occasion of the unveiling of a memorial fountain at Hawarden (Dec. 25, 1860), which was dedicated to commemorate his golden wedding. He spoke in the House of Commons (Feb. 1, 1861) in favor of the motion to expunge resolutions referring to the expulsion of Mr. Bradlaugh. He moved (Feb. 4), in a speech which was regarded as one of his most eloquent efforts, the second reading of the Religious Disabilities Removal Bill.

In the Realm of Literature. Besides his many valuable works, and cover a most extensive field. In his early manhood he published "The State in its Relations with the Church," and his pamphlet on the "Bulgarian Horrors" is still fresh in memory. In 1868 Mr. Gladstone and Professor Huxley crossed swords in the Nineteenth Century over "Science and Landmarks of Homeric Study," and "The Impregnable Rock of Holy Scriptures," which reached a second and much amplified edition in 1892.

A volume of translations of the Odes of Horace, the first fruits of his release from political toil, was published in November, 1884, and a commentary on the Poet's "The Impregnable Rock of Holy Scriptures" was published in 1885.

In 1893 there appeared a new edition of "Butter Works," arranged and annotated by Mr. Gladstone, and a volume of "Studies Subsidiary to the Works of Bishop Butler."

In a character sketch, entitled "Gladstone's Science of Life," Mr. W. P. Wood last year wrote of the great English Commonwealther: Besides his religion and his wife, the two outside influences which kept Mr. Gladstone in personal youth by minimizing the worry of life and lubricating the rapidly revolving wheels of this human dynamo, Mr. Gladstone had various habits which contributed greatly to his longevity and physical vigor. First of these was unquestionably the gift of sleep, a gift he shared in common with few men of his time. Mr. Gladstone throughout the whole of his life has had sleep at intervals, and what is more remarkable, he was never able to devote more than a few minutes of sleep to sleep. He has been a famous sleeper; his nightly slumbers were deep and refreshing. When Mr. Gladstone lays his head on his pillow he is able to do so in a few minutes, and he is able to sleep and he sleeps with all the automatic persistence with which he adheres to his habits. Mr. Gladstone's body was like a chronometer; it was adjusted to a certain time and kept so year after year without a shadow of variation. His organs in and out of him worked in unison, and the endless uncertainty throughout 1887 little of special importance occurred, though Mr. Gladstone delivered many speeches, both in the House and the country, on Home Rule. He visited Italy early in 1888, and was most warmly received. In December he again visited Italy, returning in February, 1889. He had the palatine tributes in the House to the great qualities of John Bright, and later he made a great campaign in the West of England.

IN TREE-FELLING COSTUME.

His golden wedding was celebrated on July 25, 1886. In September he visited that follows the lack of fixed rule. Not that he was a martinet or a pedant, but his that every piece of work should be done in the most efficient manner. He has been thirty-two times in one of the many instances which might be cited as to the attention he pays to small things.

Another thing which might perhaps be classified as merely another phase of the same faculty, and one which nevertheless helped to prolong his vigor, was that he sedulously eschewed the practice of promiscuous newspaper reading.

Arthur Balfour, the present leader of the House of Commons, has always made a point of never reading a newspaper at all, unless he is compelled to do so, a rule which has certainly its advantages, but which could hardly be adopted by anyone less audacious or less happily constituted than Mr. Balfour. He told me once that not only did it save a great deal of time to let your newspaper reading be done by other people, but it was so much more interesting to hear things at first hand for yourself instead of taking them second hand from newspaper reporters.

Mr. Gladstone in the matter of newspaper reading stood midway between Mr. Balfour and Mr. Bright. Mr. Balfour read nothing. Mr. Bright read every word of a morning newspaper, devoting regularly two hours a day to it. Mr. Gladstone usually reads one newspaper regularly. It used to be the Pall Mall Gazette before it changed hands, and latterly it has been the Westminster Gazette. The Times Mr. Gladstone has never read regularly. I remember him telling me in 1871 that he never looked at the Times for any other reason excepting to read the telegrams which W. J. Stillman, the Times correspondent in Montenegro, despatched as to the progress of the campaign against the Turk.

Another achievement that must be taken into account is the immense diversity of interests which Mr. Gladstone enjoys in life. He touches life at every side, with the exception of racing or gambling, and wherever he touches it he is thrills responsive to its touch. Merely to be Prime Minister of the Queen is of itself sufficient to provide for the rest of his life. But Mr. Gladstone was never able to devote more than a section of his time to politics; he has probably spent more time over Homer than he ever did over the questions of parliamentary ture was more that of the observer than of the expert.

His exploits as a wood-cutting hare-attained a worldwide notoriety, and although it may be a mistake to imagine he was always chopping trees, nevertheless the fact that he could find an immense satisfaction in the joys of felling timber shows in what trim he must have kept his muscles, and how carefully he has nursed and developed his strength. He was a very rapid walker, but he has seldom walked more than three or four miles a day. Putting all these things together in the midst of the turmoil of party politics he has ever been able to preserve an equable and tranquil soul, with the exception of the laws of health, regularly exercised, and the continual variety of his interests, enabled him to keep his sanity brightly furnished to the last.

To obtain an excellent profit some dealers palm off imitations. When you ask for Tuffi Fruit Gum see that you get it.

Butchers and Grocers. Our lines of pass books and counter books are cheaper than anything offered in the city. We can give you 25 to 50 per cent. off. Eight Bros., 51 Yonge-street, next to World Office.

Cook's Turkish Balm, 301 King W. Open all night. Bath at 50c.

ROSES FOR EVERYONE. A great reduction in prices—fresh cut roses selling from 50 cents per dozen up. All the spring flowers in profusion, at low prices, at Dunlop's.

To CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25 cents.

Embroidered Turkish Bath, 301 King W. Ladies, 25c; day 75c and evening 50c.

Essential Weather. Minimum and maximum temperatures: Esquimaux, 48-60; Kamloops, 52-64; Calgary, 42-60; Qu'Appelle, 40-71; Winnipeg, 48-60; Port Arthur, 38-48; Parry Sound, 42-61; Toronto, 38-61; Ottawa, 42-61; Montreal, 44-68; Quebec, 42-64; Halifax, 42-64.

FRIGID: Fresh winds; mostly east and south; unsettled; with showers or thunderstorms.

Oak Hall, 115 King-street east, are offering for Friday and Saturday's trade a table of Brownie suits, sizes 28 to 26, at two dollars and seventy-five cents, regularly sold at three to five dollars; also a good choice of three-piece suits for two forty-nine.

Gibbons' Toothache Gum cures toothache instantly—price 5c.

Hon. Mr. Harvey again ill. Hon. William Harvey, Minister of Public Works, owing to ill-health, has taken a rest. He will recuperate for two weeks on Wolfe Island. In his absence, Hon. R. Harcourt will take charge of Public Works.

IN TREE-FELLING COSTUME.

throughout 1887 little of special importance occurred, though Mr. Gladstone delivered many speeches, both in the House and the country, on Home Rule. He visited Italy early in 1888, and was most warmly received. In December he again visited Italy, returning in February, 1889. He had the palatine tributes in the House to the great qualities of John Bright, and later he made a great campaign in the West of England.

His golden wedding was celebrated on July 25, 1886. In September he visited that follows the lack of fixed rule. Not that he was a martinet or a pedant, but his that every piece of work should be done in the most efficient manner. He has been thirty-two times in one of the many instances which might be cited as to the attention he pays to small things.

Another thing which might perhaps be classified as merely another phase of the same faculty, and one which nevertheless helped to prolong his vigor, was that he sedulously eschewed the practice of promiscuous newspaper reading.

Arthur Balfour, the present leader of the House of Commons, has always made a point of never reading a newspaper at all, unless he is compelled to do so, a rule which has certainly its advantages, but which could hardly be adopted by anyone less audacious or less happily constituted than Mr. Balfour. He told me once that not only did it save a great deal of time to let your newspaper reading be done by other people, but it was so much more interesting to hear things at first hand for yourself instead of taking them second hand from newspaper reporters.

Mr. Gladstone in the matter of newspaper reading stood midway between Mr. Balfour and Mr. Bright. Mr. Balfour read nothing. Mr. Bright read every word of a morning newspaper, devoting regularly two hours a day to it. Mr. Gladstone usually reads one newspaper regularly. It used to be the Pall Mall Gazette before it changed hands, and latterly it has been the Westminster Gazette. The Times Mr. Gladstone has never read regularly. I remember him telling me in 1871 that he never looked at the Times for any other reason excepting to read the telegrams which W. J. Stillman, the Times correspondent in Montenegro, despatched as to the progress of the campaign against the Turk.

Another achievement that must be taken into account is the immense diversity of interests which Mr. Gladstone enjoys in life. He touches life at every side, with the exception of racing or gambling, and wherever he touches it he is thrills responsive to its touch. Merely to be Prime Minister of the Queen is of itself sufficient to provide for the rest of his life. But Mr. Gladstone was never able to devote more than a section of his time to politics; he has probably spent more time over Homer than he ever did over the questions of parliamentary

ture was more that of the observer than of the expert.

His exploits as a wood-cutting hare-attained a worldwide notoriety, and although it may be a mistake to imagine he was always chopping trees, nevertheless the fact that he could find an immense satisfaction in the joys of felling timber shows in what trim he must have kept his muscles, and how carefully he has nursed and developed his strength. He was a very rapid walker, but he has seldom walked more than three or four miles a day. Putting all these things together in the midst of the turmoil of party politics he has ever been able to preserve an equable and tranquil soul, with the exception of the laws of health, regularly exercised, and the continual variety of his interests, enabled him to keep his sanity brightly furnished to the last.

To obtain an excellent profit some dealers palm off imitations. When you ask for Tuffi Fruit Gum see that you get it.

Butchers and Grocers. Our lines of pass books and counter books are cheaper than anything offered in the city. We can give you 25 to 50 per cent. off. Eight Bros., 51 Yonge-street, next to World Office.

Cook's Turkish Balm, 301 King W. Open all night. Bath at 50c.

ROSES FOR EVERYONE. A great reduction in prices—fresh cut roses selling from 50 cents per dozen up. All the spring flowers in profusion, at low prices, at Dunlop's.

To CURE A COLD IN ONE DAY. Take Laxative Bromo Quinine Tablets. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure. 25 cents.

Embroidered Turkish Bath, 301 King W. Ladies, 25c; day 75c and evening 50c.

Essential Weather. Minimum and maximum temperatures: Esquimaux, 48-60; Kamloops, 52-64; Calgary, 42-60; Qu'Appelle, 40-71; Winnipeg, 48-60; Port Arthur, 38-48; Parry Sound, 42-61; Toronto, 38-61; Ottawa, 42-61; Montreal, 44-68; Quebec, 42-64; Halifax, 42-64.

FRIGID: Fresh winds; mostly east and south; unsettled; with showers or thunderstorms.

Oak Hall, 115 King-street east, are offering for Friday and Saturday's trade a table of Brownie suits, sizes 28 to 26, at two dollars and seventy-five cents, regularly sold at three to five dollars; also a good choice of three-piece suits for two forty-nine.

Gibbons' Toothache Gum cures toothache instantly—price 5c.

Hon. Mr. Harvey again ill. Hon. William Harvey, Minister of Public Works, owing to ill-health, has taken a rest. He will recuperate for two weeks on Wolfe Island. In his absence, Hon. R. Harcourt will take charge of Public Works.

WHAT KILLED THE BABY?

The Sudden Death of an Infant at an Adelaide-street Maternity Home Being Investigated.

The body of a male infant was taken to the Morgue yesterday from 143 Adelaide-street west and a warrant has been issued for an inquest. The child died suddenly early yesterday morning. It is in an emaciated condition and seems to have been neglected.

Mrs. Besley conducts a maternity home at 143 Adelaide-street west, where the emaciated child was found yesterday. She has been three weeks ago yesterday. She told The World that she had no idea what caused the baby's death, as it had seemed to be alright before it was taken suddenly ill early yesterday morning. Dr. Ferrier, Mrs. Besley's physician, was called and under the circumstances he refused to issue a burial certificate. The woman stated that the mother of the infant was a young girl named McGowan, who had come to her from Naples. The girl seemed in poor circumstances, but a week ago a man, who said his name was Johnston of Naples, came and asked Mrs. Besley $10. The mother is now in bed ill.

New Recruits. Each day is bringing new recruits to the army of young people who are using the hunting season as necessary to outdoor costume. It is a matter for mutual congratulation between Quin and his patrons to note that he has received another contingent of English matrons for his smart neck dressing. It is also comforting to know that ties from this material are absolutely fast in color and are only 50 cents each.

The Hat Hit of the Season at Dinwiddie. The present intense interest in the floss line of Wooding Park will subside with the closing day of the races, but the prevailing taste for the dressy shape of the new Oxford and Hazel Brown Square Crown Hats and popular fancy shading more elegant than ever designed for a man's head, and it's a shape and color becoming to men of all colors and young men as well as to others. The display of fashionable new headwear at Dinwiddie's new store, 100 Yonge-street, corner Temperance, is the largest and best ever attempted in Toronto, and with every facility and advantage of doing the largest business the old firm has had in good care that it shall have no rival in low prices.

To obtain an excellent profit some dealers palm off imitations. When you ask for Tuffi Fruit Gum see that you get it.

Cigar Famine Inevitable. Mr. Muller says that if there is not soon a prospect of a speedy peace and cessation of the American-Spanish war he will decline to sell any more Havana cigars to his dealers. He thinks he will be able to sell all he has to his patrons, who are buying largely by the box, and to the clubs. His club trade is an important feature of his business. Nearly every club in Canada buys his imported Havana they need from Muller. He held this trade when he was engaged in the wholesale business, and he then visited Cuba twice a year to select the best. In that way he established relations with the best manufacturers on the island of Cuba.

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

For Rent—Fine large newly-furnished house by week or month with all modern conveniences. 30 Wellington Street East (House No. 1). William G. F. Lutz, Prop., 107

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

For Rent—Fine large newly-furnished house by week or month with all modern conveniences. 30 Wellington Street East (House No. 1). William G. F. Lutz, Prop., 107

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

For Rent—Fine large newly-furnished house by week or month with all modern conveniences. 30 Wellington Street East (House No. 1). William G. F. Lutz, Prop., 107

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

For Rent—Fine large newly-furnished house by week or month with all modern conveniences. 30 Wellington Street East (House No. 1). William G. F. Lutz, Prop., 107

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

For Rent—Fine large newly-furnished house by week or month with all modern conveniences. 30 Wellington Street East (House No. 1). William G. F. Lutz, Prop., 107

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

For Rent—Fine large newly-furnished house by week or month with all modern conveniences. 30 Wellington Street East (House No. 1). William G. F. Lutz, Prop., 107

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

For Rent—Fine large newly-furnished house by week or month with all modern conveniences. 30 Wellington Street East (House No. 1). William G. F. Lutz, Prop., 107

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

For Rent—Fine large newly-furnished house by week or month with all modern conveniences. 30 Wellington Street East (House No. 1). William G. F. Lutz, Prop., 107

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

For Rent—Fine large newly-furnished house by week or month with all modern conveniences. 30 Wellington Street East (House No. 1). William G. F. Lutz, Prop., 107

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

For Rent—Fine large newly-furnished house by week or month with all modern conveniences. 30 Wellington Street East (House No. 1). William G. F. Lutz, Prop., 107

Small Profits and Increasing Sales. This being my motto, has always been my pair if you'll leave your old ones with us to be at 1875, and we clean goods to purchase. Ask your neighbors for the name of C. G. Head Office, Toronto, 757-791, 8th St., Phone 2037, 914, 1145, 1014, 1008.

$4.00 PATENT CALF BOOTS. Don't buy a cheap patent leather. It's rank extravagance. Better skimp your suit than your shoes. See our lines of $3, $4 and $5 patent calf not cow boots. We have them with vesting and kid tops in color, beacon and jewel toes. It's the proper boot to wear at the races.

L. KINGSLEY & CO. 86 YONGE-STREET, Gentlemen's Fitters.

SLER & HAMMOND STOCK BROKERS AND MANAGERS. 400 BAY ST. TORONTO.

F. H. GOOCH, Insurance Underwriter and Adjuster. 422 BAY ST. TORONTO.

A. GORMALY & CO. STOCKS, RAIN AND PROVISIONS. 56 AND 58 VICTORIA ST.

st Mortgage Bonds for Sale. Twenty years to run. Rolling 5 per cent. to investor. Strictly First-Class Security.

I. O'Hara & Co. Members Toronto Stock Exchange, 24 King-street, Toronto.

JOHN STARK & CO. 26 Toronto Street, NEY INVESTED CAREFULLY in stocks, Debentures, Mortgages, Coupons, Interest, Bonds collected.

H. TEMPLE, Member Toronto Stock Exchange, 13 MELINDA STREET.

L. SAWYER & CO. FINANCIAL and INVESTMENT AGENTS. King St. West, 11 St. Mary Ave.

HENRY A. KING & CO. BROKERS. STOCKS, GRAIN, PROVISIONS. 2 King St. East, Toronto.

E. WEBB, Member Toronto Stock Exchange, KING STREET EAST.

A. E. AMES & CO. (Members Toronto Stock Exchange) 6-10 JAMES BUILDING.

D. FISHER & CO., BROKERS, 6-10 JAMES BUILDING.

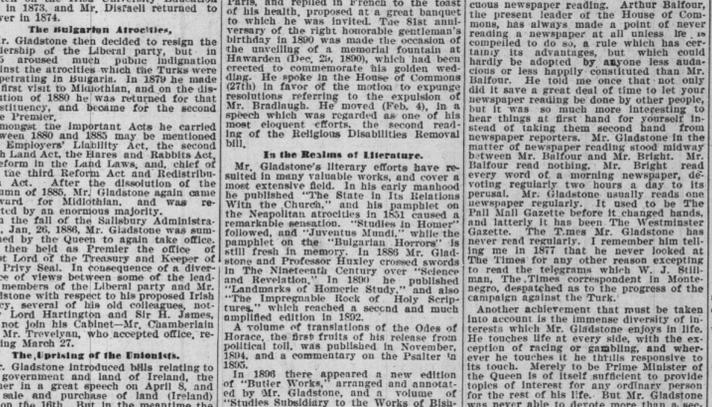

Cheese Markets. Appleford, Ont., May 17.—At the Appleford Cheese Board, held here to-day, 400 boxes white and 70 colored were sold.

ED WINE, GRAPE. Slightly sweet wine.

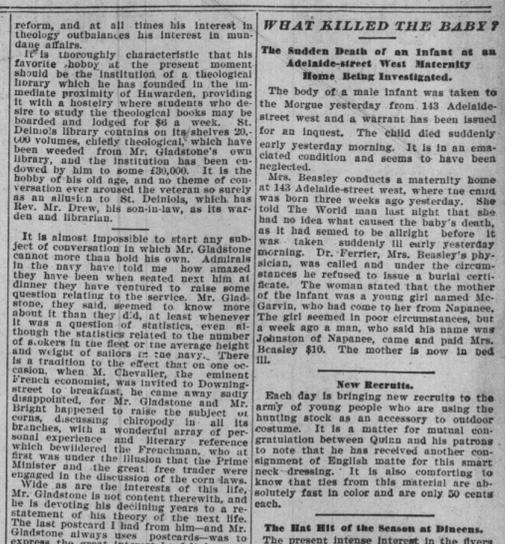

WINE AND LIQUORS. 699 Yonge Street.

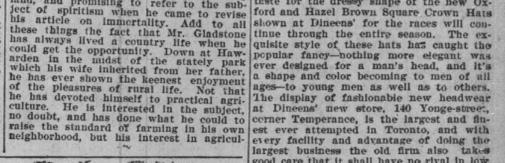

A FAMILY GROUP.

THREE GENERATIONS OF GLADSTONES.

IN TREE-FELLING COSTUME.

IN TREE-FELLING COSTUME.