THE TORONTO WORLD

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.

No. 25 LONG STREET, TORONTO.

A MUNICIPAL ABATTOIR FOR TORONTO.

The editor of The Canadian Journal of Medicine and Surgery makes out a good case in favor of the establishment of a municipal abattoir in Toronto.

He points out that the condition of the city's slaughter houses is not satisfactory, a leading city veterinarian saying that they are extremely filthy and ill kept, so much so that "if the people of Toronto knew the horrible surroundings and the disgusting condition of the places where their meat is dressed they would feel too nauseated to eat it."

There are 30 slaughter houses in the city. One central abattoir would answer the requirements of a city larger than Toronto. The arguments in favor of such a building are that it would do away with the poor and badly equipped slaughter houses, which in many cases are nuisances in their neighborhood.

It would make it unnecessary to drive cattle through the streets, a practice which interferes with traffic and is the occasion of many accidents. The municipal abattoir would afford small butchers advantages enjoyed by the wholesalers.

They could use the facilities of the large slaughter-houses, which are superior to their individual establishments, and the cold storage system could be used by all, with economy to the dealer and advantage to the consumer in the increased wholesomeness of the meat.

The official and the condemned organs and carcasses could be disposed of to better advantage. It has been proved by experience that a public abattoir, instead of increasing the cost of meat, actually tends to reduce it. A large system can be conducted by co-operation between butchers at less expense than when each has his own establishment.

The European system of municipal ownership is undoubtedly most desirable. It has been found that the returns from abattoirs are sufficient to pay the running expenses and to afford a reasonable return on the investment.

The whole system is not only an advantage to the consumer of meats, but it subjects the butchers to no hardships whatever, and makes it more convenient and cheaper for them to conduct their trade.

The editor of The Journal above quoted feels confident that if the butchers of Toronto examined the question from every side they would decide for an abattoir in their own interests as well as for the advantage of their customers.

More than 600 municipal abattoirs have been established in Germany. If the slaughtering of animals were all done in one place it would not be difficult to establish an effective system of inspection. When, however, the killing of the animals is done at 30 different places an effective system of any kind becomes impossible. It is suggested that the Ontario act for the inspection of meat and milk supplies of cities and towns be amended so as to provide that "when an abattoir shall have been established in a municipality, all the butchers shall be obliged to stop using their slaughter houses, and all butchers' meat sold in the municipality shall have been dressed in the abattoir."

We are in full sympathy with the proposal advocated by our medical confreres. We have on several occasions advocated the same reform ourselves. It would be one of the best things that could happen to Toronto if the aldermen put the idea into execution.

THE ELEVATOR MIDDLE.

It is more than a year since the Council first asked for tenders for the installation of elevators in the new City Hall. It has been juggling with the question ever since, and the contract is still unawarded. Any business man or the board of directors of any private corporation would have done in two weeks what the Council has failed to accomplish in a year. The revelations that are coming to the surface in regard to this elevator matter reflect little credit on the Mayor and aldermen.

Judging the various tenders according to their merits is the thing about which the Council has given the least consideration. The whole year has been spent in intrigue and wire pulling. The issue which the aldermen was not to decide which was the cheapest and best elevator to install, but to find out which company could lobby the best. The latter question is still undecided. As soon as that issue is determined, it will not take long to arrive at a conclusion as to the most desirable elevator. The World the other day mildly insinuated that some of the aldermen, when compared with carpenter costing $4.25 per yard, were low-grade men. Several of them took offence at the remark, stating that it was unbecoming for a newspaper to use such language. We think the intrigue, the wire pulling, the detective work that has characterized the action of the Council in dealing with the elevator question fully justifies the epithet low-grade as applied to some of the people's representatives at the City Hall. At any rate the aldermen have not proved themselves very high-grade in their dealing with this question.

THE PROPOSED NEW HOTEL.

The one thing that Toronto cannot afford to let slip out of its hands is the proposed new hotel. The advantages that will accrue from the establishment of such a concern in this city will be manifold. The hotel will directly or indirectly benefit every resident of Toronto. It is surprising, therefore, to find that some parties, who apparently imagine that the new hotel will prejudicially effect their interests, are circulating anonymous statements calculated to kill the project. If these anonymous circulants emanate from the proprietors of the other hotels it is certainly a mistake on their part. The proposed hotel will not injure the business of any hotel now in Toronto. On the contrary we believe it will benefit them as much as any other kind of business.

The hotel is to be of a different class from anything we now have in the city. It will attract a class of tourists who hitherto have not come to Toronto. The advertising that Toronto would get through the new attraction will benefit every other hotel. The more people who visit the city, the better will it be for everyone. If the hotel people look at it in the proper light they will help the enterprise along as enthusiastically as the merchants and business men of the city are doing. We must not lose sight of the fact that the construction of the hotel will involve an expenditure of close on a million dollars among the working people and the manufacturers of this city. The Council can afford to deal liberally with the projectors of the new concern.

TRIENNIAL COUNCIL OPENS.

Protestant Episcopal of the United States Meet at the Capitol-Deputation From Canada.

Washington, Oct. 2.—With impressive ceremonies the triennial Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States opened to-day at the Church of the Epiphany. Notable among the lay delegates present were: Bishop of New York, George C. Thomas and James S. Biddle of Philadelphia.

Bishop Whipple conducted the service and offered the opening prayer. Then followed the service of the Episcopal Church, Bishop Wilmer the gospel, and the creed. Bishop Little of Missouri delivered the triennial sermon.

The actual business of the council began at 3:30 o'clock, when the House of Deputies met in the House of Representatives. The House of Deputies was organized by the Rev. Morgan Dix, D.D. of New York City, was unanimously chosen presiding officer, and Rev. Charles H. Tuttle, of Concord, Mass., was chosen secretary of the council.

It was determined to make a pilgrimage on the 15th inst. to Jamestown, where in 1607 the Episcopal Church was first founded in this country.

Canadians Wished to Center.

The house was informed that a deputation from the Church of England in Canada was in the city and desired to confer with the council. Thereupon it was resolved that the houses of bishops and deputies meet together at 10:30 next Friday and receive the deputation on report.

The House of Bishops organized by electing Bishop Doane of Albany as presiding officer and re-electing the Rev. Samuel Hart, D.D., of Hartford as secretary.

If a man will try to substitute some won't he try to fool you on his other goods? water for Mt. Clemens Sprudel?

ABOUT THE ARMOURIES.

The Queen's Own Rifles paraded 623 strong last night in command of Lieut. Col. Delamere. After returning to the drill hall, company and battalion drills were the order of the evening.
