LETTER FROM GERMAN FOUND BY CANADIAN

Says It is a Terrible Life and Those Best Off Are Men Killed.

While there are few incidents of the war and few details of the method of fighting and of living that we do not read about in letters from the Canadian boys who have gone forward, yet we are not often permitted to lift the curtain that veils the intimate life of the enemy soldier. Such an opportunity is given in a letter from a German soldier which was never posted but fell into the hands of a Canadian officer during a recent successful engagement at Houtholst.

The letter, which was found in the trenches near Ypres for five weeks and up to now I have escaped with my life. Yet we have had great losses. One half of my unit no longer exists. He is the best of who gets a bullet and does not need to knock around any longer.

"I went yesterday with a ration party, but for the last time, I won't go again. They can do what they like with me. It is no longer humane. The beasts are better off. The officers don't notice it. They have enough to eat and drink. No wonder so many of the Bavarians deserted at Arras.

"Tomorrow night we go into the front line. This is the last time, I hope, and consists merely of shell-holes. Death lies in wait for us like a fox for his prey.

"Men of all arms say that the battle here is worse than the battle of Arras. Our artillery is scarcely able to fire a round. Matters have come to such a pass that our military moves forward in the night, unimpeded, and let loose some thousands of gas shells, and retires before the dawn. It is no longer war, but a contest of every arm that enters the battle is to play itself out as soon as possible in order to be withdrawn. A few nights ago I lay with another man in a concrete dug-out. It was water to be out of the way. It is the first time I ever shirked duty, but it is more stupidity than cowardice in such matters. Many of the company have cleared out or have never come into the line at all. Everybody does his utmost to get out of the way, and quite right, too. Life is precious. The rations will last till tomorrow morning, but there's no more left to eat. I shall go back on my own responsibility. That is fact."

The spirit of the writer of this letter may not fairly represent the whole German army, but as may be sure it represents a good deal more than themselves.

WILL DIRECT WORK.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 28. — F. H. MacPherson, former local newspaperman, but lately in business in Detroit, was today appointed to take the work of the division of investigation of the war industries board at Washington.

The position was unoccupied, and in accepting it Mr. MacPherson was influenced by patriotic duty, as there is no salary attached.

SHAKSPERE IN TURKISH.

Germans, who claim to have taken over Shakespeare like Heligoland, announce that the hand has been accepted by their Turkish allies. An Ottoman named Abdullah Dachevich, described as a physician, politician and poet, has just translated into Turkish "Hamlet," "Macbeth," "Othello," "A Midsummer Night's Dream," "Romeo and Juliet," "Antony and Cleopatra" and "Julius Caesar." Abdullah has also put Schiller's "William Tell" into Turkish.

UNEASINESS FELT IN NORWAY OVER FIRES

Much uneasiness is felt in Norway owing to the fact that the mysterious fires previously reported all over the country still continue.

On Thursday, near Kongsberg, where the principal government arms factory is situated, a great fire broke out at a saw mill at four o'clock in the morning. A watchman in the arms factory met a strange individual who had penetrated thru a garden of armed soldiers surrounding the principal building. The watchman approached the intruder, who fired at him with a revolver, wounding him slightly. The watchman was running to an adjoining room to get a weapon when the man fired a second shot which went thru his cap. The criminal disappeared as mysteriously as he had come. There is little doubt that he was familiar with the place and with the ways of those employed in the factory. The watchman declares that he could identify his aggressor, who looked like a foreigner.

The case is much commented on owing to the circumstances that several people who spoke German have recently been seen in Kongsberg. The Tidenes Tegn says: "In the case of the Rautefeldt bombs the Germans explained that they did not injure us. But a similar explanation can hardly be given when emigrants are sent to destroy Norwegian property. No one in this country would harbor unjust suspicions, but we are not disposed to tolerate outrages of this character."

PLAYS, PICTURES AND MUSIC

"Very Good Eddie."

Theatregoers of Toronto may safely look forward to the big musical comedy treat of the year when "Very Good Eddie" comes to the Royal Alexandra Theatre for a week's engagement, beginning Monday evening, December 3. There is nothing uncertain about the quality of the entertainment furnished by "Very Good Eddie." While one piece was still enjoying its sold year's run in New York last season there were so many requests for "Eddie" from all the principal cities in the States and Canada that the management crisscrossed two duplicate companies. Those who saw "Very Good Eddie" before are still finding much to amuse them in recalling the hundreds of funny situations in the farce, while the musical parts of the piece have been sung, whistled and played over for many months, and millions have danced to their fascinating strains.

"Fair and Warmer." The sale of seats opens this morning for "Fair and Warmer," a very funny wood farce, to be seen at the Princess Theatre next week. Mr. Hopwood's admirers have found in his latest work the same sparkle of line and cleverness of characterization that have made his other successes, with an added ludicrousness of situation. Selwyn and Company are sending "Fair and Warmer" here with an admirable cast and elaborate production.

Next Week at Shea's. Known as "The Twentieth Century Goddess of the Dance," Leslie, as the heroine of the new musical comedy, is the attraction of an excellent bill next week. Assisted by Frank Hurst and Ted Dwyer, Miss Cavanaugh will offer a kaleidoscope of dances, color and song. Jimmy Duffy and Jack Ingle, "The Music Masters," have a bright little musical satire in which they are seated to excellent advantage. Alfred Bergen, the American baritone, possesses a rich, colorful voice of considerable range and quality. J. Francis Dooley and Corinne Fales, who have been favorites here, have a clever sketch with the unusual title, "Will You Be My Wife?" The play is a clever sketch with the unusual title, "Will You Be My Wife?" The play is a clever sketch with the unusual title, "Will You Be My Wife?"

Low's Theatre. A raid in a fashionable gambling house is one of the thrilling episodes in "Man's Woman," the feature of the new musical comedy, which is being presented at the Low's Theatre next week. The play is a clever sketch with the unusual title, "Will You Be My Wife?" The play is a clever sketch with the unusual title, "Will You Be My Wife?" The play is a clever sketch with the unusual title, "Will You Be My Wife?"

The Hippodrome. Florence La Savant, brilliant Canadian film star, will be featured at the Hippodrome next week in the new, inspiring, patriotic film, "A Man Without a Country." The feature is based upon the English classic of the same name and contains a story of love and adventure. Mile. Theo and her Dan- drea is a musical comedy revue, enhanced by wondrous stage settings and replete with smart songs, dances and a stirring plot. WEST TORONTO

Buy $25,000 Victory Bonds

All Profits of the Three-Week Campaign of This Well-Known Playhouse Invested With the Government

Patriotism of the best spirit is shown by the management of THE BEAVER THEATRE in their publicity campaign for VICTORY BONDS. The management are giving away free a $50.00 Bond on Christmas Day to the patron who has the largest number of votes in their VICTORY BOND CONTEST. One vote is allowed with each 15c admission ticket purchased, and the patrons can vote for their friends if they wish. Although the contest has been running less than a week, it is proving very popular with the theatregoers of that district.

The management also have given the salesmen for Victory Bonds space in the lobby of the theatre for selling Bonds, and as a special inducement are giving a month's pass to the Beaver Theatre to anyone purchasing a Victory Bond.

The Beaver management is now making arrangements with The World to bring to Toronto one of the largest pictures ever shown in Canada.
