

Things Not of This Earth!

(Sir Oliver Lodge, famous English savant, has just stirred the whole world by declaring that not only do we keep on living after death, but that it is entirely within the cold province of science completely to prove THIS! In America a master brain is also at work in attempting to solve the strange import of "things not of this earth." He is Hamlin Garland, famous writer, author of "The Shadow World" and leader in a great national society for psychical research. Garland in his years of investigations of the occult, has met with many astounding and apparently inexplicable experiences—things involving deeply mysterious phenomena. And now he himself has selected and written the greatest of these for the readers of this paper.

In this article today he tells how the "astral voices" of a mad man talked for two whole hours in a college professor's library.)

BY HAMLIN GARLAND
Famous American Author of "The Shadow World," "The Tyranny of the Dark," Etc.

A few years ago Prof. Dalbeare, professor of psychics at Tufts college and myself, had a most marvelous "sitting" perform such wonders in Los Angeles. This seance was held in Prof. Dalbeare's own library. No one but ourselves, Mrs. Dalbeare and the psychic were present. Conditions were absolutely of our own making except that the room was dark.

The psychic, confined to her chair by the silk threads the ends of which were held by Dalbeare and myself—fell into a death-like trance and while in this condition and while absolutely motionless and silent, a large tin cone, which stood upon the table, was knocked about. Books were thrown from the shelves behind the psychic!

Large hands appeared between me and the light! And then at last, a voice came from a trumpet which floated around the table!

For two solid hours this voice, which claimed that it had belonged to a Confederate soldier, a native of Missouri, kept us laughing by the quaint and ready humor of his replies.

Prof. Dalbeare was profoundly puzzled as well as amused by the events. Pillows were patted and tossed around, books hurled through the air; my chair was tapped at a distance of six feet from the psychic and the cone moved with unerring precision to whatever point in the room we indicated!

The table was shaken as if by a strong man—And yet the silk threads remained undisturbed and no slightest sound indicated a movement on the part of the psychic!

Other "spirits" whispered through the cone and some gave their names which the Dalbeares recognized, one came to me, but I paid little attention to that part of the performance.

When the lights were turned on the psychic was disclosed lying as if dead. Her arms were badly swollen and the threads were deeply sunk into her wrists. Her pulse was very irregular and so faint we could scarcely detect its beat, but a half hour's brisk rubbing and a cup of coffee brought her back to normal activity.

She said she knew nothing of what had happened.

After Mrs. Dalbeare and the psychic had left the room I said, "Well, professor what do you make of that?"

He gazed at me with remote and puzzled glance.

"I don't know! I don't know!" he answered in a hesitating voice.

Many years afterwards I asked him the same question and he gave the same answer.

"Pillows were tossed about, Books hurled through the air and the cone moved through the room wherever we indicated—all without assistance."

out a warrant for the arrest of her husband on a serious charge. The father at the time of the first assault a week ago was accompanied by an unknown man, who aided in the assault. The daughter said that her father at that time declared he would kill her, owing to the story she has told.

Miss Whalen told the police that she believed that after her mother went to work her father entered the house alone and hid in a closet. She did not hear him approach while she was seated at the table, she says, and did not recognize him until after he had gagged her and stifled her outcries. While he was tying her hands behind her back she says her father declared he intended to kill her. After he had thrown her upon the floor he turned on the gas jets and locked the door before leaving the place.

It was almost an hour before Miss Whalen, who began pounding on the floor with her feet, attracted the attention of another woman in the house and the latter notified employees of a stove on the street floor, who broke into the apartment and found the girl.

As soon as the police received word of the affair, a general alarm was sent out and policemen began searching the city and the suburbs for Whalen.

WE Eat Too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then The Back Hurts

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug-store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, and it also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless, inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

GIRL AGAIN FOUND TIED AND GAGGED AND GAS TURNED ON

Viola Whalen of Haverhill Accuses Her Father of Murderous Act

Haverhill, Mass., Oct. 2.—For the second time in a few days Viola Whalen was found bound and gagged in the sitting room at her home in Winter street. The room was filled with gas, which was escaping from an open jet.

The discovery was made by employees of a store on the street floor who were summoned by one of the inmates of the apartments adjoining those occupied by Miss Whalen and her mother, Mrs. Mary Whalen. Miss Whalen was partly unconscious.

The story told to the police was that she was seated at a table reading, when her father stepped behind her and fastened a woman's stocking over her mouth, after which he tied her hands behind her back and throwing her on the floor turned on the gas jets in the room and left.

The police have been searching for her father, George Whalen, for some days. Miss Whalen having been found bound and gagged and almost suffocated to death by her mother, one evening when she returned home from work. Mr. and Mrs. Whalen have not lived together for the last four months. Mrs. Whalen came here from Exeter, N. H., where, based upon the story told by her 15-year-old daughter, Viola, she had sworn
