BUSINESS MEN ARE RUSHED

A Period of Activity Reported in Many Lines, With Mills Running and River Closing Time Approaching

During the summer business around the North End has been somewhat dull but with the starting of the mills about six weeks ago conditions have changed decidedly for the better until at the present time business is at its best and things generally are booming in that section of the city. All the mills are running at their full capacity trying to make up for the time lost during the summer and to meet the demands of the lumber merchants. In consequence of this activity the tug boats are kept very busy especially as it is near the end of the season and it is necessary to bring down the logs before the river closes.

The river steamers are also exceedingly busy even for this season of the year as the fall freights are considerably heavier than they have been for several years. Extra men have had to be engaged to handle the freight and in some cases the large warehouses owned by the steamboat companies at Indiantown have not been able to contain the large amount of freight handled and it has had to be piled on the wharf. Hundreds of barrels of potatoes are being brought to the city every day.

The up-river freights are also very busy in the North End now. The recent cold snap reminded people that they cannot expect to enjoy summer all the year round and in consequence a general rush has been made to have their stoves attended to at once as they have been.

Plumbers and stove merchants are also very busy in the North End now. The time for the furnace is now. The May Queen left Indiantown last Wednesday morning and was two days in getting to Chipman instead of getting there on the day she left here, the delay being due to a quantity of freight put off at the different stops along the river.

Radway's
Ready ReliefA strong movement is on foot in Calcutta among college men particularly for the emancipation of the Moslem women and the discarding of the traditional "veil."J. L. Radway of Meade, Mo., writes: "I had a number of patients last week, had three doctors, but did not get much relief. A friend advised me to try it. It is a good thing. In twenty minutes after the first application I could turn in bed with ease and two bottles and am well."Apply the Relief externally to the part or parts affected, as badly as circumstances will permit. Benefit will also be derived from Radway's Pills, their extensive action being peculiarly suited to this disease. When the bowels are constipated or obstructed, the Relief, with sweet oil, is an admirable lubricant.

any good. I got tired of trying their remedies. I then went to a skin spec-

I secured a trial bottle of D. D. D.
