THE SUSSEX BAPTISTS.

Conditions have arisen at Sussex which, unless all the principal facts are known, might give rise to the belief that Baptist union has not been found the most satisfactory arrangement in the Kings County town. The Church Avenue and Main Street churches, which since the union worshipped as one congregation, have decided to separate temporarily, and for a time each of the original congregations will occupy its own building.

Previous to the union these bodies both possessed very valuable properties, including churches and parsonages, and the Church Avenue members had but a short time before completed a Sunday school building at a cost of between three and four thousand dollars. After the union the two congregations met as one, using the Main Street church, parsonage and Sunday school. Under this arrangement it became advisable to dispose of the Church Avenue properties, and a deal has been made for the sale of the parsonage, though the conditions are such that the proposed transfer may be cancelled and the building be retained by the congregation.

Meanwhile Church Avenue church has remained vacant, and on this account and because of certain other interests, financial and otherwise, the members of that formerly distinct congregation decided that it would be best for them to temporarily resume worship in their old home. Accordingly a few weeks ago they engaged a pastor from Eastport and have moved back. During the past few days the advisory board of the United Baptist Association has been in consultation with the two congregations, and at a meeting held on Tuesday approval was granted for the change.

This action must not be regarded as in any way a failure of Baptist union. On the contrary, it is made up in best interests of the denomination and the arrangement will for the present prove more satisfactory to all concerned than did the former plan. It is for a short time only, as the two congregations have purchased a site for the erection of a new church which will be a credit to Sussex and to the Baptist denomination, and when the time is ripe, the work of construction will be commenced.

MONEY VS. JUSTICE.

A struggle for supremacy between money and justice with the chances strongly in favor of the former, began in New York yesterday, when Harry Thaw was placed on trial for the murder of Stanford White. Settling aside all the rubbish which has been dumped on a long sputtering public concerning the unwritten law and emotional insanity, the facts are clear. Thaw married a disreputable actress whose relations with men other than her husband had been too intimate. In a fit of jealousy her husband shot and killed White, one of the men of whom he had cause to complain. Thaw knew his wife's career, and when a man in his position is fool enough to marry such a woman, nothing better could be expected than that he would also be fool enough to commit murder for her.

Since the crime efforts have been made to prove that the prisoner is insane, but Thaw himself has been the principal obstacle in this course, for he has shown in every way that he is in full possession of his senses. Failing in this attempt the prisoner's friends have been carrying on an extensive campaign for the purpose of educating the public mind on what has been called the unwritten law, this law holding that a man has a right to kill anyone who wrongs him. Emotional insanity, another and bigger sounding name for anger or jealousy, is also offered as an excuse for Thaw's crime. The effect of this campaign will no doubt be felt, and it will be backed by all the family millions, and if money and social influence can accomplish anything the murderer will escape. One thing certain is that he will never be punished according to the magnitude of his crime.

THE SITUATION IN P. E. I.
In order to ascertain the actual conditions in Prince Edward Island, the strength of the sentiment in favor of separation from the Dominion, so ardently advocated of late by the Charlottetown Guardian, The Sun has sent a correspondent to investigate at first hand the foundation for the grievances urged and to interview leading men in various sections of the island regarding the need for reform and the nature of the remedies required. A series of articles based on the information thus gathered begins in The Sun today. In them the existing situation and the events which have led up to it will be interestingly described from an unprejudiced and unpartisan standpoint.

These articles will also appear in the Star.

LAMENT OF THE WOODEN INDIAN

My tomahawk is bent; and ill hath fared
My bunch of smokes; my war paint's washed away;
My day is done—and, oh! the friends who shared
My vigils of the sidewalk, where are they?

Gone is the Golden Glove that gaily swung
Before your window bright with scarfs and veils;
And gone the Gilded Boot that lightly hung
When still the ingrate cobbler pegs his nails.

The massive Plaster Foot that erst betrayed
The man of corns has trod the self-same path.
The Teeth, whose jovial grinning oft dismayed
The dentist's victim, gnash in hidden wrath.

The furrer's well-remembered sign is down—
The furrer's Bear that dark sierras bred;
And even the Barber pole of old renown
No longer flaunts its spiral white and red.

'Tis gone at last—the goldsmith's ancient pad,
The Giant Watch that would not go before,
Within what moldy attic now abide
The Smirking Dummies of the clothing store?

No more the Schooner, brimmed with foaming beer,
The barkeep shows—which bows my heart with grief
Despised, forgot, alone, I linger here
To chant the death-song of a Wooden Chief.

—Arthur Gutterman, in N. Y. Times.

A PERPETUAL JOB.

Thousands of men work all their lives at securing the banks of the great Yellow River, in China. Yet every now and then the tide sweeps away all opposition, and the loss in human life is greater than any war ever caused. Nineteen years ago the river burst its bonds, and poured from a height of twenty miles to the hour, thirty miles wide and ten feet deep. The flood has been described as that of five Danubies pouring from a height of two months on end. For two thousand years the Chinese have been embanking this river.

MORE NERVE.

Tom—Do you think women are braver than men?
Dick—Yes, I do. I never saw one yet that wouldn't take a chance at marriage.

THEY WALKED STRAIGHT.

Servant (trembling)—Oh, ma'am, I'm sure it's burglars!
Mistress—Perhaps it's only Mr. Tomkins just home from the club.
Servant (positively)—Oh, no, ma'am, it's burglars, sure enough, for they haven't fallen over anything at all.

WAS IN DOUBT.

A negro boy, employed by a physician, was sent out one night to saddle the doctor's horse. When the boy led the horse to the front gate the doctor discovered that the saddle was on the horse in a reversed condition, the front of the saddle pointing toward the horse's tail.
"Why did you put the saddle on in that manner?" remarked the doctor.
The negro innocently replied: "Doctor, I didn't know which way you was gwine."

WANTED INFORMATION.

A clergyman was trailing a creeper to a piece of trellis near his gate, when he noticed that a small boy was watching him attentively.
"Well, my young friend," he said, "are you looking out for a hint or two on gardening?"
"No," said the boy, "I'm waiting to hear what a parson says when he hammers his thumb."

ANY OLD LEG WILL DO.

The parson's wife had sent an order for a leg of mutton, and received in reply the following note:—"Dear Madam: I have not killed myself this week, but can get you a leg off my brother if that will do. Your affectionate butcher, John Smith."

AND IT WASN'T.

Mrs. Strong—What did you say, dear, when he asked you your age?
Miss Sharp—I told him the truth.
Mrs. Strong—You did! Really?
Miss Sharp—Yes, I told him it was none of his business.

SURVIVOR OF NOOSE IN CIVIL WAR DIES

John McGrogan Was One of the Eight
Foragers Hanged by Guerrillas on March to the Sea.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—John McGrogan, who was hanged by guerrillas with seven other members of a foraging party on General Sherman's "March to the Sea," and who alone was cut down in time to save his life, died yesterday in his home in Paterson, N. Y. He was eighty-four years old, and his death was due to the infirmities of age.

McGrogan enlisted in the Thirtieth New Jersey volunteers in August, 1862, and served until the regiment was mustered out in 1865. He was in nineteen battles and skirmishes, and was wounded in one. The Thirtieth was with the Army of the Potomac until after the battle of Gettysburg, and then was transferred to the Army of the Tennessee.

On the march from Atlanta to the sea the army carried no railroads, but lived on the product of the land, and foraging parties were sent out. Foraging was dangerous as guerrillas followed the parties and it was death to a forager who was caught—not the death of a soldier, but the death of a spy, by noosed ropes carried for that purpose.

McGrogan was detailed with seven other Union soldiers for one foraging party. Fifteen miles from the main line of march they were surrounded by guerrillas and overpowered. The guerrillas strung them to the limbs of trees and galloped away. Some time afterwards a detachment of Sherman's cavalry appeared and cut the foragers' bodies down. The rescuers noticed a sign of life in McGrogan's body and hurried him to the hospital and in a few days he was able to be about.

The knot had caught under his chin in such a manner as to leave room for air to reach his lungs, but the pressure of the knot on the side of one eye and left a lump on his neck that remained there throughout his life.

General Sherman adopted severe reprisals for such acts, and directed that the residents of the country in which the crimes were committed pay at once $25,000 to the families of the seven victims.

McGrogan returned to Paterson after the war, and a few years ago was a manufacturer of cigars. He will be buried with military honors by the Grand Army of the Republic.

AUSTRIAN STUDENTS ENGAGED IN RIOTING

Demanding the Use of the Polish Language in Their Examinations.

LEMBERG, Austria, Jan. 23.—There were the most serious scenes at the University here today which resulted in the arrest of one hundred students. The students began demonstrating against the action of the University Board in refusing to accept the usual statutory declaration made by the students on entering the University, which language, insisting that it should be made in Polish. The demonstration consisted in demolishing the conference hall, the students using hatchets to break up the furniture, chandeliers and various ornaments, wrecking the desks and the smashed furniture in the quadrangle. Dr. Winiars, secretary of the University, was seriously wounded before the police were called in to put a stop to the disorders. The police formed a cordon to surround the University and took one hundred students into custody. The demonstrations then came to an end.

RAILWAY NOT ALLOWED TO ISSUE NEW STOCK

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 23.—In the Ramsey County district court today, Judge Oscar Holman signed an order enjoining the officials of the Great Northern Railway Co. from making the proposed increase of $60,000,000 worth of additional stocks of that company, or issuing the same or any part thereof, during the pending litigation, without first making an application to the Minnesota Railway and Warehouse Commission, and securing its approval thereof, as provided by the State law.

The pending suit to restrain the stock issue was brought last month by Attorney General Young to compel the railroad to apply to the State Railroad Commission before issuing the stock. The railroad attorneys assert that under the company's original charter, it could issue stock at will, and that the law granting this power to the commission is unconstitutional.

LETTER CARRIERS ON SLEDGES.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The weather in many parts of France is still severe, and in the Department of Puy de Dome the postmen are going their rounds on sledges.

Shoe Clearance Sale!

A good sale at a good time. Snow and rain and slushy streets wear out SHOES as nothing else can. Many people who expected to get through the winter with their old SHOES, have found that they can't do it. They will welcome this sale. Our shoes sales have never yet failed to attract buyers. People know that, when we announce a bargain, it will be a bargain.

Because it is nearing the end of the season, manufacturers and jobbers are clearing up, and we bought SHOES at our own prices. We are also, closing out our own stock at even lower prices than ever before. Come today or tomorrow but come soon, bring the children; bring the family.

We'll make fifty cents of your SHOE money appear like a dollar.

Twenty Five Scott Act Convictions During the Year—No Meeting Until January Next.

At the afternoon session of the council a discussion took place on a motion to pay the councilors $3 a day during the sitting of the council in addition to the mileage now paid. A sharp debate followed, resulting in the following recorded vote:

Yea—Titus, Bradley, Price, Folkins, Johnson, H. J. Fowler, Gilbert, Jones, McAulay, Gilliland, Urquhart, Miles, Jamieson, A. D. Murray, Whitley, E. A. Flewelling.—14.
Nays—McGarrigle, Alexander, McNair, Dymart, Currie, Eveleigh, S. H. Flewelling, Seely, Gorham, Branscombe, Campbell.—15.

It was ordered that the committee appointed last session to wait on the Government in regard to assessing the several parishes for lunatic paupers, be paid a mileage of ten cents a mile for their services.

An assessment of $3,397.35 was ordered for support of the Aims House, divided up among the several parishes, the lowest amount being $28.45 for Kars, and the highest $593.76 for Havelock.

A motion passed, 19 to 7, ratifying the order of the Government, which grants two and one-half per cent. commission on road tax collected in the several parishes, payable to the secretary-treasurer and auditor, 2 per cent. to the former and one-half per cent. to the latter.
