OTTAWA. Eighth Hussars May Not Go Into Camp at Sussex. Cartwright's Meeting in Toronto a Significant Failure. Enlarging the English Market for Canadian Hams and Bacon—Laurier will go to Chicago.

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.—The department of trade and commerce has received copies of the memorial sent to Lloyds and foreign underwriters, protesting against increases in the rates of insurance on ships and cargoes to and from Sydney, C. B. The memorial is signed by the Merchants Bank of Halifax and is likely to open a breach here by which the British authorities have decided to accept the order for the 8th Hussars to go into camp at Sussex. (Special to the Globe.)

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.—World was revealed in the city today by the dropping of the first bomb, and the Government telegraph construction party in Ross Rapids on the Yukon river. Military operations of an interesting character carried out tonight in the northern suburbs of the city. They consisted of an attack on the capital by a force of the R. O. C. I. at present encamped at Rockcliffe, supported by part of the first and the second Grenadier Guards footguards. The defence was made by the Ottawa field battery and one company of the 43rd stationed on Rockcliffe heights. At the conclusion of the battle, the Grenadier Guards were congratulated on their successful, but congratulated both sides on the conduct of the engagement.

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.—The Ontario Rifle Association's annual matches began yesterday at the Long Branch rifle ranges with marksmen from all parts of the Dominion in attendance. Several crack shots from the lower provinces being present. The rapid firing competition, range five hundred yards, Capt. J. Dover 78th, was third with 49 points out of the possible 14, and Lt. Blake of the same battalion, 62nd, with nine points. In the MacDonald match, range 200 yards, Lt. H. R. Lordly, Charlottetown engineers, was 19th with 27 points and Capt. J. Dover, 78th, 42nd with 36 points. There were those the last cries for help uttered by James Pattison heard by Burchell's mountain, estimated by Mr. Burchell to be at least two miles from his house. It was a cry for help according to those who are skilled in these things, just about the distance which a man like Mr. Pattison would accomplish from a quarry, past two miles, in a single moment.

A TRAGIC STORY

Told by Searchers for Traces of James Pattison.

His Dying Cries Heard by a Hermit Resident of Burchell Mountain.

During a Lull in the Fearful Thunder Storm That Swept Over Quaco on the Night of July 25th.

Yesterday afternoon three men, W. A. Beckett, A. Totten and W. Chittick, returned to the village of Quaco, after a search for the traces of James Pattison, who mysteriously disappeared five weeks ago.

These men left the city last Wednesday, and ever since have been scouring, not altogether unsuccessfully, the woods in the vicinity of St. Martin's. They took with them properly constructed grappling irons, with which they were able to trace Mr. Pattison's tracks in the woods, where, back of the lake and in a huge swamp, traces were found of boot marks, which corresponded exactly with those of Mr. Pattison, of July 25th. He was wearing boots and soles the day before he left Saint John for Saint Martin's. Further on marks were found as if a man had sat down, and by such evidence as this the party were able to trace Mr. Pattison over the following route: Out the old Quaco road along the by-road called the Black property, across Black and Currie dams and over Irish river. From here the wandering man evidently made westward toward Burchell mountain, spending the night of July 26th somewhere in that vicinity. The supposition is that he was awakened by the fall of a tree, which he struggled through the wilderness.

Burchell mountain has the reputation among those who know it of being the wildest and most nearly impenetrable wood in this part of the province. Underbrush and fallen trees make walking almost impossible, while here and there throughout its length are deep gullies, with their sides rising almost perpendicularly to the sky. Bears and wildcats make their homes in its depths. It is not improbable that all day long Mr. Pattison must have struggled through this terrible place in a vain search for help. At the day advanced the wanderer must have grown weaker and weaker and his attempts grown feebler every hour. "I will remember the thunder and lightning storm of the evening and night of Friday, July 25th. Terrible as it was in the city it must have been most fearful to the poor wanderer struggling for life on that mountain side. Down in a little valley on Burchell mountain an old man named Burchell lives in a little hut. Friday evening when the storm came on he went out to bring in his cow. As he left his house the roar of the thunder drowned even the noise of the rain, falling in torrents on the leaves and limbs of the trees, through the interstices of which the lightning flashed momentarily. Suddenly the storm ceased for a moment, and in the stillness of the calm between the two storms Mr. Burchell heard first a short wailing cry, followed by a longer and more piercing shout, as of one in agony. When the storm set in with renewed vigor, and Mr. Burchell heard no more. The storm made any search by him useless.

Were those the last cries for help uttered by James Pattison heard by Burchell's mountain, estimated by Mr. Burchell to be at least two miles from his house. It was a cry for help according to those who are skilled in these things, just about the distance which a man like Mr. Pattison would accomplish from a quarry, past two miles, in a single moment.

The searching party heard Mr. Burchell's story and searched the mountain side in vain for the body of the missing man.

They believe, however, that if a party of half a dozen men who know this region should make a thorough search the mortal remains of James Pattison would be found on the side of Burchell mountain.

SENATOR TEMPLE ILL.

Suffering from a Sudden Attack of Heart Disease. His Condition is Alarming.

FREDERICTON, N. B., Aug. 24.—Many friends of Senator Temple were startled this morning by the receipt of a telegram having been received by Hon. A. F. Randolph and Postmaster Hilyard announcing that he was seriously ill at Falmouth, N. S., and requesting that his daughter (Mrs. Hilyard) and Mr. Randolph go over at once. No further particulars were given. The Senator and Mrs. Temple went to Nova Scotia a little over a week ago. Mr. Temple was in the best of health when he left, and this morning's telegram was the first intimation received that he was ill.

A later telegram to Postmaster Hilyard this morning, stated that Senator Temple is doing rapidly and requesting his daughter, Mrs. Hilyard, and Mr. Randolph to go to Falmouth with all haste. Both went to St. John

TRANSVAAL TROUBLES.

No Settlement can Ensure Lasting Peace without a Reduction of Arms.

Believed at Johannesburg that Great Britain is Preparing to Accept the Proposed Compromise.

PRETORIA, Aug. 25.—It is ascertained on the highest authority that the British government has received the proposal of the Transvaal government of state for the colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, to submit to a joint commission of inquiry the effect on the Transvaal of the proposed compromise.

It is understood from unofficial sources of information that the alternative proposals of the Transvaal government are for a five years' franchise and a one-fifth representation of the Uitlanders in the new House, provided the imperial government does not further interfere in the internal affairs of the Transvaal.

Official circles at present regard the situation as tending to improve. The war ammunition consigned to the South African republic is still detained by the Portuguese authorities in Delagoa Bay.

JOHANNESBURG, Aug. 25.—The field forces are busy distributing muskets and ammunition to the burghers. The exodus of miners continues.

PRETORIA, Aug. 25.—The government of the Transvaal has received a communication from the governor of the Cape Colony relative to the stoppage of arms there, to the effect that Portugal's obligations to all nations, including Great Britain, required the enforcement of the Transvaal-Portuguese treaty, and as an unsatisfactory explanation existed as to the transportation of arms, they were stopped at Delagoa Bay and until the terms of the treaty should be complied with, though about the matter will ultimately be arranged satisfactorily.

The Transvaal government regards the communication as "extremely vexatious."

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 25.—In the Cape assembly today Cecil Rhodes, referring to the Transvaal question, said: "There will be no blood shed. President Kruger, like a sensible man, will climb down. The less the Cape Colony is concerned in the quarrel the better."

Continuing, Mr. Rhodes said it was his belief that the Transvaal would become an English speaking country, and that the Uitlanders, being in a vast majority, would form a government in keeping with their views. He expressed the hope that the settlement would be fair and that the Cape Colony would let the imperial government deal with that matter also.

It is rumored here that the Boers intend to attempt a coup to obtain forcible possession of the ammunition detained by the Portuguese.

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 25.—From an excellent unofficial source of information it is ascertained that the substance of the Transvaal's communication to the British government in reply to the latter's demand is a concession of five years' (retroactive) franchise, in the election of the president, an increase in the representation of the gold fields, probably eight national seats, and a stipulation that all other questions are to be submitted to an arbitrator, but not a foreign power; that Great Britain shall not use the present interference as a precedent, and that the British government shall relinquish all suzerainty rights.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The Johannesburg correspondent of the Times says: "Disquieting reports have been received here from Natal. It is that on Sunday a large contingent of Transvaal forces was fired on in Transvaal territory. The feeling near the border is bitter, and the deluged Natal Dutch are armed with muskets."

LOURENÇO, Marques, Delagoa Bay, Aug. 25.—The deluged Natal Dutch are armed with muskets. The deluged Natal Dutch are armed with muskets.

It is reported that the Boers contemplate sending commands for the ammunition.

PRETORIA, Aug. 25.—Conynghen Green, British agent and charge d'affaires at Pretoria today presented to the government a further despatch from the British secretary of state for the colonies, Joseph Chamberlain, the nature of which has not yet been divulged. The presumption is that it is connected with the recent pour paroles.

The members of the executive are apparently more cheerful.

CAPE TOWN, Aug. 25.—The Delagoa Bay incident, coupled with the recent transit of a large contingent of ammunition from the British secretary of state for the colonies, has directed the attention of the British officials to the immense accumulation of munitions of war in the South African republic, especially in the Transvaal. The Uitlanders being debilitated from carrying arms, the supply of weapons, as shown in Lourenço Marques (Delagoa Bay) returns for three years, is greatly in excess of the burghers' requirements, and consequently there is a growing feeling among the British community in South Africa that no settlement of the existing crisis will ensure lasting peace unless it included a provision for the reduction of armaments.

DROWNED AT EASTPORT.

EASTPORT, Me., Aug. 24.—The body of Arthur Colpitt, the eight year old son of Daniel Colpitt, was found on the beach here today. It is supposed that the boy fell into the water while playing near the bank and was drowned.

TRANSVAAL TROUBLES.

France and Germany to Interfere, with a view of participating in the proposed inquiry, and that the Transvaal government entertained their demands regarding the dynamic contracts, hoping to make it an international question. According to this authority, when the Volksraad committee reported against the cancellation of the contracts the French and German consuls communicated with Paris and Berlin in order to ascertain if their governments would support the request of their subjects and would take steps to secure official representation on the committee of inquiry. No replies were vouchsafed, which was regarded as equivalent to a refusal, and the hope for countenance of the French and German governments is thus withheld. The Transvaal government, it is asserted by the Barboston News, desires an opportunity to climb down without offending the amount proper of the burghers; but it is not so generally held that the war will not be stopped.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—A special magazine has been constructed in the steamer Unwink, which leaves for Thames tomorrow for the conveyance of ammunition and stores to Natal. The consignment includes a million rounds of machine gun cartridges, a thousand saddle trees and a hundred tons of general military stores.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The Johannesburg correspondent of the Morning Post says: "The general impression today, both here and in Pretoria, is that Great Britain is preparing to accept the proposed compromise."

"Mr. Shelly, the local representative of Burroughs, Wellcome & Co., the London druggists, was arrested near Johannesburg last week. The police subjected him to many insults, but soon liberated him in the absence of any specific charge."

ATLANTIC MAIL SERVICE.

TORONTO, Aug. 24.—Deputy Postmaster General Coulter, questioned regarding the report that the government had entered into a new contract for the transatlantic mail service, said it had evidently grown out of a misapprehension of the situation. The contract of '98-'99, the government declined to renew the joint contract with the Allan and Dominion lines on the ground that the stipulations of the latter company were not fundable up-to-date service. Arrangements, however, were made with the Elder-Depueter company to take such mails as might be offered at Montreal and Liverpool, the department forwarding mails by New York and Liverpool lines as their sailings might suit. The arrangement is now being carried out.
