BRITISH POTTS TO HONOR QUEEN

Suggestion Made by Marchioness of Bute Spreads Like Wildfire—Contributions Paid in From All Sources.

London, Jan. 29.—The happy idea recently announced, that Marys throughout the British Empire should contribute to a coronation gift for Queen Mary, has caught on like wildfire, and Marys all over the United Kingdom have become self-enlisted canvassers in the cause. Every Mary of the British Empire, be she old or young, jovial or exalted, is invited to subscribe to a coronation gift to Queen Mary, which is to be presented on the occasion of the greatest moment of her life. The gift may be as much as a penny. In no case must it exceed 5s. A list of all the contributors will be kept but not the amount given by each. Contributions must be made before May 1. It will then be decided whether the gift shall take the form of a personal ornament to be worn by the queen or of a sum of money, to be placed at her majesty's disposal to allocate to whatever purpose she may determine.

Address books are being ransacked for possible subscribers, and "What is your Christian name?" is a question heard on every side in places where women congregate. As in addition to this many women who are not fortunate enough to be called Mary are consoling themselves by enlisting in the crusade among their friends and acquaintances, the number of Marys who do not figure on the list will be infinitesimally small. One hostess has already arranged for a Mary Tea, and another in Worcester, is getting up a Mary Dance, and is much perturbed in mind to know whether men bearing the name of Mary are also eligible as subscribers.

The committee has not yet solved this knotty point, but since Mary is a male Christian name is very much rarer in England than on the continent it is not a matter of the first importance. Great hauls for the local committees are expected to result from both these entertainments, and doubtless other and even more ingenious ways of filling the list will be devised. Letters in answer to the appeal are already assuming large proportions and local committees anticipate considerable success in coping with the flow of correspondence.

The idea originated with the Marchioness of Bute who last October advised the queen to name a Mary, and received in the course of a few days some 2,000 replies. Nobody knows how many Marys there are in the Empire, except that it is safe to say that the bearers of no other name exceed them in number. In one district in due course a Lady Bute sent out a circular to her own people, instant replies were received from 1,200 Marys.

The committee has a specially privileged class in this year. The names of the real Marys of the committee, determined not to be too exclusive, have decided to include a few names which include all permutations of the name, except that no name shall be taken from any of the names of Mary, May, Martha, Marian, Marion or Marie, but from nobody else.

FORTUNE TO FIND MISSING HEIRESS

HAVE YOU SEEN THIS YOUNG WOMAN'S FACE ANYWHERE? FROM A PHOTOGRAPH OF DOROTHY ARNOLD, WHOSE FATHER OFFERS A FORTUNE FOR HER RETURN.

From Bryn Mawr college. She was always studious. On Dec. 12 she told her mother that she was going into Fifth Avenue to look at an evening gown for holiday wear. She walked around the corner to Fifth Avenue and swung into the cavalcade of richly-dressed women on this famous thoroughfare. In a book shop she purchased a novel. Dorothy then dropped from sight. For many weeks the parents and relatives, hoping to keep the disappearance quiet, spent vast sums in employing detectives. Wireless messages were sent to all ships at sea. The hospitals of many cities were searched. Dorothy Arnold had completely disappeared. Finally, in desperation, the parents made the matter public. "I will spend all of my money to bring Dorothy back to us," says the father. "It will mean a fortune to the one who finds her."

New York, Feb. 1.—This is the photograph of Dorothy Arnold. The police of all the American cities and of most of the large cities in Europe are looking for her. They desired to hire a rig to drive to Bass Point, Nahant, but as the young lady appeared under a mental strain and acted somewhat strangely, they declined to let them have the team. He was curious enough to have one of his men follow the woman and, he says, they went to the depot and took a train for Boston. He explained his failure to report the matter before by saying that he was not entirely sure in his own mind that she was the missing girl, but more he read the more convinced he became that the descriptions were the same.

PRINCE SOON TO GRADUATE

London, Jan. 25.—At the conclusion of the Empire term in April next, the Prince of Wales will have completed his studies at the Royal Naval College at Dartmouth. He entered the college in July, 1907, and this will have gone through a fairly exacting course, extending over nearly two years. The plans for his future education were outlined by the late King Edward, and have received the endorsement of King George. The discipline he has had to undergo has been exactly the same as the other cadets, no favor in the least respect being shown the heir to the British throne. How determined his father has been in this respect is illustrated by an amusing incident. One day the Prince asked his tutor to be allowed off duty to attend a cricket match, a sport of which the lad is very fond. The tutor pointed out the work he had to perform just like his fellow cadets. It was not his turn to be off. The Prince tried to remonstrate, and the tutor replied that the Prince was to be a soldier, not a playboy. The Prince wrote to his father complaining. In reply the tutor received a letter from the King telling him he was quite right and the Prince a firm but fatherly letter letting him know he had no right to remonstrate against the orders of his masters. The Prince was sensible, and like a young gentleman, apologized to his tutor.

SEVERAL INJURED IN TRAIN WRECKS

Montreal, Feb. 1.—Five persons were injured, three of them probably fatally, when the New York bound Rutland express, which left Montreal this morning, tore through a defective switch at St. Agathe, Que., cut its bogie car in two, and overturned the locomotive. Fireman Wm. Marchand and engineer H. Lapier and Mrs. Laura Leemard of Isle La Motte, were most seriously hurt. Calgary, Alta., Feb. 1.—Nine persons were seriously injured and several others were slightly hurt when a west-bound Canadian Pacific train No. 1 was derailed near Gleichen, five miles east of here, last night. The train, travelling fast, struck a broken rail.
