PARLIAMENT OPENS WITH GREAT POMP

enabling the dominion to co-operate with the provinces in the accomplishment of this desirable object.

It is essential to recognize that in a country possessing so great an area of fertile land as this, the development of the industry is happily endeavored with the greatest industry. My address was pronounced that the time has come when greater aid and encouragement should be given to those who are engaged in the cultivation of the land. To this end a measure will be introduced under which it is hoped that there may be co-operation between the dominion and the various provinces, for the purpose of assisting and encouraging our farmers to secure the best results in production and, at the same time, preserve the fertility of the soil.

A measure will be introduced relating to the inspection of grain and the providing the means by which the government can secure through a commission, the control and operation of the terminal elevators upon the great lakes.

A bill will be introduced to establish a permanent tariff commission whose duty it shall be to ascertain, by investigation and inquiry, such information as will furnish a more stable and satisfactory basis for tariff legislation than has heretofore been available.

Bills will also be laid before you with respect to the department of external affairs, the archives and other subjects. The selection of the best route for the Hudson Bay railway, and an announcement will be made to you of the result of their inquiry.

Gentlemen of the house of commons—The accounts of the last year will be laid before you.

The balance of the estimates for the current fiscal year as well as the estimates for the coming year, will be submitted for your approval at an early date.

Hon. gentlemen of the senate: I commend the subjects which I have mentioned, to your best consideration and trust your deliberations, under the blessing of divine Providence, may tend to the welfare and good government of this dominion.

On returning to the commons, Hon. Mr. Borden formally moved the appointment of the select committee to strike the standing committee. In so doing he threw out the suggestion that the business of the house would be benefited by their numerical decrease. Sir Wilfrid Laurier approved the suggestion and urged that it be borne in mind by the committee in their deliberations.

On motion of the premier, Hon. Messrs. Monk, Reid, Parley, Rodde and the speaker were appointed as a committee on external economy, and the house adjourned till Monday when the debate upon the address from the throne will be taken up.

Following the adjournment, Hon. T. S. Sproule, the speaker, entertained the members and their ladies and friends in the speaker's chambers.

Bishop Richardson, in Spirited Address to Laymen, Urges Material Development in Order to Give Proper Aid to Missionary Movement—Addresses by Sir Andrew Fraser and Canon Gould.

Described by Bishop Richardson as the most representative gathering of men from the protestant churches ever held in St. John, the laymen's missionary convention opened in Centenary church yesterday with an attendance almost up to expectations, and it is expected that today's arrivals will swell the registration to 1,000. Two very interesting sessions were held yesterday and the outstanding feature was the address of Bishop Richardson last evening.

The accounts of the last year will be laid before you. LAURIER GRIPS THE BORDEN GOVERNMENT

Shows How They Obtained Reins of Power by False Pretenses

Condemns the Unholy Alliance of Tories and Nationalists, and Forces Premier to Admit That He Has Bowd to Dictation of Bourassa and Abandoned the Naval Policy He Once Approved Of—Sir Wilfrid Moves Want of Confidence Motion.

Special to The Telegraph. Ottawa, Nov. 20—The debate on the address was started today, and started with a fight. Sir Wilfrid Laurier followed up the declaration of war which he made on the election of the speaker Wednesday, with a frontal attack today, and drove it home with a vigor and keenness which surprised friends and opponents alike. The galleries were crowded with people who had almost approaching battle, and they were not disposed to be deterred.

Mr. Borden, of Dorchester (Que.), speaking in French, made an address which was far more loyal than some he is credited with having made on the platform. He was disappointed, however, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier dealt with the reciprocity agreement and its defeat, with the absence of a Conservative naval policy and with the presence in the Borden government of Toronto Imperialists and Quebec Nationalists who had denounced imperialism throughout the campaign. He concluded with a want of confidence motion.

Mr. Borden was more eloquent than usual. He said that he had not formed his cabinet for the purpose of pleasing Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and was not surprised when he was disappointed. He stated that the Laurier naval programme would be dropped, and that there would be substituted for it a well considered scheme, after consultation with the members of the cabinet, and the plan was prepared to be submitted to the Canadian people for their ratification.

Ovation to Sir Wilfrid. Sir Wilfrid Laurier received a remarkable ovation from his followers when he began to speak. For several minutes the applause was continued until the Liberal chief himself raised his hand eventually to secure a cessation.

Sir Wilfrid expressed the delight of all Canadians, at the fact that their royal highnesses had come to represent the crown in Canada. They had already won Canadian hearts by their simplicity of manner, their cheerfulness, and their kindness of heart.

Commenting on the first paragraph of the speech from the throne, Sir Wilfrid said that the present government was an increasing prosperity of the country and the growing revenues were in singular contrast to the situation when the late government took office, fifteen years ago.

The complaint which the present government had to the outgoing administration could not have been duplicated in 1896 when trade was languishing, property was falling, and the people were generally almost in despair. But now after fifteen years of Liberal rule Canada was recognized as a nation upon which the eyes of the world were turned.

Never before had an administration gone out of office under such conditions. It was not that they had not done enough for the country, but that their opponents said they were going to do too much. He could not wish for a better epitaph for the late administration than that contained in the opening words of the address.

"We, sir, are in a state of transition. The old civilization is passing away and a new civilization is coming. The period of conquest, of domination and of aggression, is passing away. We have so far advanced that there is no general conflict of interest over the conflict of Italy and Turkey, of France and Germany in Morocco, or the new condition of the future—a condition of peace—the friendship of the United States would be the best asset that England could possess."

"I do not believe that any Canadian was influenced by hostility to the American people, but I regret that the language of certain newspapers and public men during the campaign was not such as to promote the friendliest relations with the neighboring republic."

"The American people can find no fault with us if we took the attitude of rejecting the reciprocity convention. It was our right and privilege. Nevertheless, I believe we have lost an opportunity, both an opportunity of trade and an opportunity of increasing the friendship of the Canadian and the American people."

Arbitration Treaty in Danger. Sir Wilfrid went on to quote the New York Times, a very conservative publication, in which it was intimated that the treaty for two battleships of 3500 tons displacement each.

Earthquakes in West Indies. St. Thomas, W. I., Nov. 20—Two sharp and prolonged earthquakes were experienced here at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon. This movement was also felt in Martinique, Guadeloupe, St. Vincent and Dominica Islands. At Dominica the shock was less severe than is reported at the other points.

A LASTING DISGRACE Wife of Prince Regent Now Living in Mukden With Her "Affinity"—Took a Fortune in Jewels With Her.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 20—Princess Lai, mother of the baby emperor of China and wife of the prince regent, has eloped with an actor, Yung Shu Lu, according to Chinese newspapers received today.

A number of newspapers published in China refer to the "disgrace" which has come to the royal family, but only "one," the "Min Li Po," the largest newspaper published in China, gives the princess' name and an account of the elopement.

The mother of the emperor, the paper says, fell in love with the actor and corresponded with him for some time before the rebellion began.

The paper draws the conclusion that the princess believes that the Manchus came to power and decided to flee. The princess is said to have taken a fortune in jewels with her and to be living with Yung in Mukden.

An actor and a barber are classed with the lowest of castes in China, and Chinese here said today that the elopement of the princess was the greatest disgrace that could come to the Manchus Dynasty.

HOW THEY TABBED THE TEACHER Culprit in Kansas Outrage Admits His Complicity

Young Woman Was Denounced as Lonely Spot, Dragged from Carriage, Disrobed and the "Tar Party" Wreaked Their Vengeance.

Lincoln Centre, Kansas, Nov. 20—How the Shady Bent "Tar Party" met at the mill of E. G. Clark, one of the wealthiest citizens of the community, and arranged the details of the plot to tar Miss Mary Chamberlain, the school teacher whose experience at the hands of a band of men and boys last August aroused all Kansas, was told on the witness stand by Chester Anderson, one of the "Tar Party," at the beginning of the trial today.

The three men on trial were Sherill Clark, brother of E. G. Clark, the merry who pleaded guilty, and John Schmidt and A. N. Simms, farmers.

Anderson testified that they were not members of the band who actually "spread the tar," as they came to the rendezvous on foot and were unable to keep up with the others who rode motor cycles.

County Attorney McClelland made the opening statement for the prosecution. He told how the plot was laid in Shady Bent Aug. 7; how Edward Rice, the Beverly barber, was hired to take Miss Chamberlain out in a buggy, on the pretence of escorting her to a country dance, and then to deliver her over to the men with the tar hidden behind the fence. He told how Chester Anderson and Delbert Kinderparker had played the highwaymen to the hilt, and the girl.

"They held up their buggy at the point of pistols," McClelland declared. "They took the young woman from the buggy and threw her to the ground; they tore off her clothing and while one poured the other rubbed the tar upon her naked body. All of the men were masks."

While the three men had not been at the actual "tarring," McClelland said, because they were unable to keep pace with the motor cycles. They were equally to blame with the others, he said.

NEW YORK PROMOTER GUILTY OF THEFT Wm. J. Cummins, Manager of Carnegie Trust Co., Convicted of Stealing $150,000—May Get 10 Years.

New York, Nov. 20—Wm. J. Cummins, the former Tennessee promoter and recent directing head of the Carnegie Trust Company, was found guilty today of theft of $150,000 from the "Nineteenth Ward Bank" by the jury before which he has been on trial for the past five weeks. He was remanded to the Tombs prison until Friday, when his counsel will be given the privilege of making such motion as he may decide upon before sentence is pronounced.

The penalty of Cummins' offense is an indeterminate term, from five to ten years as the maximum sentence. Cummins is fifty years old, and has a wife and married daughter.

Important Meeting at Montreal New Scheme of Financing Extensions Approved by Directors

Montreal, Nov. 20—One of the most important meetings ever held by the directors of the Dominion Steel Corporation was held this afternoon at the Bank of Commerce. The president, J. H. Plummer, occupied the chair, and the directors present were: Sir William Mackenzie, Sir Montague Allan, William McMaster, George Caverhill, Sir Henry Pellatt, Senator Cox, Senator MacKeen, W. G. Ross, Mark Workman, E. R. Wood, Colonel Mason, Senator MacKay, Senator Dandurand, J. R. Wilson, W. D. Matthews, F. L. Wanklyn.

After the meeting the following official statement was given out: "The chief subject considered by the board of the Steel Corporation today was the recommendation of the president, that the Steel Corporation should not continue to provide for the expenditure on its new plant by the sale of the bonds, which were authorized in 1906, of which about $90,000 is still held in the treasury, but that capital should be obtained by the issue of preferred stock of the corporation."

"The steel company has also secured an important extension, which will increase its fourteen producing collieries to twenty, and require greater facilities for transportation, etc. The capital required by that company can also be best obtained through the corporation."

"The advantage of the mode of financing is that it avoids the decrease of bond charges and leaves the Steel Company with a large reserve of unissued bonds of established market value. No change of issue was done with regard to making the issue, but the board decided that, under proper conditions, this would be the wisest method of obtaining capital for the new extension of the various plants. Its ultimate effect would be to interest people in London, and probably in Paris also, in the stocks of the corporation, and it would benefit the present holders."

"The company has been asked to give certain rights as to common stock in connection with the sale of the new preferred whenever that point may be reached, and it is not unlikely that this may lead to considerable investment in the common stock abroad. In any case, it is the interests of the common stock holders which the board have in mind. The whole object of the policy of extension, which is being vigorously pursued, is to increase output, decrease cost, and enlarge profits. The benefit of such extension, in interest of the new capital, need not necessarily accrue to the common stock holder."

"Whether it is better to get the capital needed to extend the works by continuing to sell bonds, or to initiate a finance policy which will serve for future growth, as well as for present needs, and make those who supply the capital partners, instead of creditors is purely a question of judgment. The object is to get capital for the new works on the most favorable terms."
