"So rdain yet so suggetive, so practical yet so profound are these Lectures that while ou read them you feel their deep truth and reality; that you are in contact with realities both visible and invisible; that you are in close contact with the beating heart of nature and humanity, and that all their life and hope flow full and free from God alone."—Fredericton Head Quarters, March 1st, 1871. Head Quarters, March 1st, 1871.

The writer is evidently well acquainted with the literature of his subject, and that acquaint-time reveal sitself almost unconsciously in every page. There is no ostentation of reading or learning, but there is everywhere the gleaming forth of light which cannot be hid.

The style is simple, intellig ble, graceful. It shows at once that Mr. Bennet is a man of literary culture, who can express his thoughts with schularly chasteness and good taste. We could not open a page without meeting some thought vigorously expressed. The work is eminently fresh and readable."—Pres. Witness, Hulifax. "He reveals in the treatment of his themes strong common sense, a firm grasp of thought, a logical acumen and a clear insight into human character. Even when dealing with trite ideas he imparts to them a novelry and interest by which they are lifted into an importance they scarcely deserve. The style throughout is lucid, cure, compact, forcible,—and it is his own—the garb of his own thinking. We have met in our perusal of the book with numerous paragraphs of finished and brilliant rhetoric—fine specimens of pulpit oratory. He is never tame nor tiresome. We have not found one slin shod sentence in the volume."—Christian Visitor, (Baptist) March 6th, 1871. "We were not prepared to find him writing in such a finished style and issuing such a volume as the result of certain preparations made for an evening lecture to his congregation. If all his pulpit perfermances are equal to these, his people have reason to rejoice in the Providence which guided his steps to them."—

BANKERS: BARK OF NEW BRENSWICK.

This is a remarkably thoughtful, solid book Mr. Beonet is evidently at home in Metaphysics and Ethics, and he is a shrewd observer of human nature in its ordinary manifestations; consequently he ranges over the lessons of the Preacher with a power of illustration which shows his mastery of the subject. The style is close and direct, and yet so lucid, that any reader may understand every sentence in the volume.

The objects contemplated in the formation of this society are, First—To secure to Stock holders a profitable return on their gradually accumulating capital, by its safe investment on real estate. Second—To afford to Borrowers facilities for obtaining lexitimate Loans on the security of their property, and to enable them opposite and the security of their property, and to enable them opposite all the advantages of a thoroughly secured Savings Bank system of business, but paying a much higher rate of interest than is now to be paid by that institution.

Shares may be taken up at any time. All shares mature in four years. Money is received on Deposit, bearing interest at six per cent, per annum, compounded half yearly. Particular attention is solicited to these Monetary and Savings Bank arrangements. The Society's mission is to encourage and foster thrifty habits. "Each chapter is so well done, so lucid, yet concise in its exposition, that it is sometimes deficult to determine which is the best and most interesting. "Stewart's Quarterly, St. John.
