*The Allies' Best Friend
The Merchant Sailor*

300,000 Men Brave the U-Boat for Us

¶ The men of the Merchant Marine have given loyal service--yes, and their lives--ungrudgingly and unflinchingly! They deserve the utmost we can do for them.

¶ The tragedy is that this splendid body of men is not recognized by governments, no provision is made for the relief of dependents--no separation allowance--no pension?

¶ It is left to public subscription to care for the widows and orphans. It is vital work our seamen are doing--for without the supplies and munitions carried by the Merchant Marine it would be impossible to keep our armies in the field.

No Government Allowance for their Dependents

¶ 300,000 seamen of the Merchant Marine "carry on" in spite of the U-boat and the floating mine. 15,000 have made their last voyage.

¶ One hundred and seventy-six merchant ships have been sunk since the war began, without leaving trace of ship, cargo or crew.

¶ All this in the Allies' cause--it is for us! Isn't it the very least we can do to take care of the widows and orphans, who otherwise will nurse their grief in poverty? Sooner or later governments may make provision for this vital service, but until this time comes we have an unquestionable duty.
