The St. John News knows of a Nova Scotian, well up in years, who on learning that his son had enlisted in Boston, proceeded from Wilmot to that city, with the intention of bringing him home if he could be got off. If that could not be effected he was anxious to secure the bounty which, in case the son was killed, would be lost altogether. He succeeded in getting permission for the son to go on board a Nova Scotia schr. lying at a Boston wharf. In a few minutes sail was made, and the old man, his son and the bounty were on their way to Wilmot, where they still remain.

comators and the old Wesleyan Chapel.

IMPORTANT IT TRUE.—That a commercial league, or Zollverein, as Germans would term it, will be found amongst the several measures, most likely to lead to mutual benefits, agreed upon by the Intercolonial Conference, now assembled in Quebec. We should be glad to find that something had been done in the way of introducing a smiform currency.—Now.

We learn from the Acadian that the bodies of the two young men, Robertson and Austin, who were drowned a few days ago at Digby have not yet been recovered, although every exerciton, with the aid of a diving bell, has been made of discover them.

The St. John (libbe says that nothing could better exhibit the intense desire of the people of St. John to have the Intercolonial railway built, han, the way in which they received the anouncement hait the Duke of Newcastle's proposal had been accepted. Everywhere was that announcement that the Duke of Newcastle's proposal had been accepted. Everywhere was that announcement that the Duke of Newcastle's proposal had been accepted. Everywhere was that announcement hailed with the greatest satisfaction, and few at first stopped to empire what terms had been made between the Provinces, it seemed as if the public, after long years of waiting and expectation, was rejoiced at the probability of the great work being at last undertaken—and of the three reviews being connected by bands of iron.

Adding Deserters.—The St. John Nees streams of benevolence in this time of ulgent necessity, and in addition to a more general and personal application, collections in the various Churches will be a good means of securing a considerable amount. We observe that a General Association for receiving contributions, and distributing them to the various Local Relief Committees has been formed in England of working people who are not in indigence have been appealed to, to aid in this benevolent work by giving or collecting not less than sixpence each, and we have no doubt a proportionably liberal response will be given from the wealthier classes. The people of these Provinces are in privileged circumstances, and, it is hoped, they will not stop their ears to the cry of the starving thousands of the cry of the starving the cry of the starving the cry of the starving t their ears to the cry of the starving thousands in the father land.

APOLOGETIC.—A diminished sheet this week calls for explanation. The stock of paper in the American market being very limited, owing to the lessened number of hands employed in the paper factories, our supply, ordered five weeks ago, has not been received, obliging us to avail ourselves of what the city at present affords. We hope that our own stock will be on hand in a day or two. The fact is, this horrible Yankee war, so foolishly and so wickedly persevered in, is turning everything upside down.
