"Ever tempted to sell your automobile?" asked the Cheerful Idiot.

"The temptation is strong enough," replied Mr. Inbadd, "but there are too many points involved. You know I mortgaged my house in order to buy the machine."

"Yes, I know that."
"Well, I mortgaged the machine in order to build the garage and now I've had to mortgage the garage in order to buy gasoline."

No casualties have been reported. The following official account of the attack was given out. "A hostile aeroplane approached Sheerness at about 1.45 p. m. to day, flying very high. Four bombs were dropped, three of which fell into the harbor. The fourth fell in the vicinity of a railway station, and damaged several railwaycars.

"British aeroplanes went up and the raider made off in a northeasterly direction. No casualties have been reported."

An official communication issued this evening says: "A hostile seaplane was shot down and destroyed this afternoon by one of our naval aircraft. The enemy machine fell into the sea. Judging by time, it was probably the seaplane which visited Sheerness today."

GREAT VICTORY FOR THE FRENCH

Fighting in the Air

Paris, Oct. 24.—In a powerful series of attacks on the Verdun front the French have captured the village and fort of Douaumont, advanced beyond the Thiaumont Work and Farm, and occupied also Haudremont Quarries, north of Verdun, according to the bulletin issued by the War Office tonight. The prisoners captured and counted thus far number 3,500.

The text reads: "On the Verdun front, after intense artillery preparation, an attack on the right bank of the Meuse was launched at 11.40 o'clock in the morning. The enemy line attacked on a front of seven kilometres, (4 1-3 miles), was broken through everywhere to a depth which at the centre attained a distance of three kilometres (nearly two miles).

"The village and fort of Douaumont are in our hands. "To the left, our troops advancing beyond the Thiaumont Work and Farm, rushed the Haudremont Quarries, and established themselves along the road from Bras to Douaumont.

"On the right of the fort our line runs to north of La Caillotte Wood, along the western outskirts of the village of Vaux and the eastern border of Fumin Wood; and continues to the north of Chenois Wood and the Damloup Battery.

Prisoners are pouring in. So far 3,500 including about 100 officers have been counted. The quantity of material captured cannot yet be estimated. Our losses were small."

Paris, Oct. 24.—The text of the French official statement regarding aerial operations, says:

"Aviation: On the Somme front one of our aeroplanes attacked with a machine gun enemy trenches in St. Pierre-Vaast Wood.

"On the Verdun front yesterday despite a thick mist our aircraft displayed activity and fought some twenty engagements.

Legislating The People To Death

(Truro Citizen)
The people of Nova Scotia will next month be put to the trouble and expense of what is equal to a general provincial election. We refer to the municipal elections on that date, and what will the people have gained by it? On that date more than four hundred representatives will be elected, nearly one for every one thousand of the population of the province.

What policy is the voters being asked to vote for or against in respect to these elections? The thing that creates most interest in these elections is the advantage grit may gain over Tory, or vice versa in the matter of appointing revisors of electoral lists. It is merely a political game at the expense of the people, as all political games are.

A great many people are fast coming to the conclusion that the so-called county councils have about outlived their usefulness, that the country in municipal matters is no better served than it was by the old courts of sessions, while the cost under the present system is a hanged sight greater than it was then.

Is it not a fact that the powers of the county councils are not nearly as large as they were when they first came into existence? The local government has encroached on such an extent on the rights of the county councils as to raise the question asked above, "Have they, the councils outlived their usefulness?"

Time was when the councils administered the road grants, but that system was not a vote getter for the provincial government, and therefore the government took that power away from the councils—that and some others too—till the work of the councils has got down to appointing municipal officers, considering road and other petitions, and caring for the poor. Are those things sufficiently important to put the people of the province to the expense of a provincial election every three years, and to pay more than four hundred each from four to five dollars a day, an average of ten days a year? Is it not pertinent to ask if the municipal business above referred to could not be done with less expense to the people than it is being done under the present system—the county council.

What with Dominion, provincial country, city and towns, the half million population of this province have about nine hundred representatives, about one of every five hundred of population. Say, that's going some. Don't you think it is time for a change? Don't you, think we are almost governed to death? Don't you think we could do with less representatives? Is the game worth the candle?

Think it over. It is perhaps not too much to say that the county councils alone cost the people of the province not less than $25,000 a year—$75,000 every three years.

For the Home.

Every week in the year something is needed for the home, something to eat or to drink, some new furniture or new clothes. The list is endless and the worry of the housewife is almost as endless, unless she uses intelligence and system in her purchases.

The advertising columns are intended for such harassed housekeepers. They contain real news that will help to ease her burden and settle her uncertainties. Certainly the advertisers expect to make money. Are they not entitled to it if they make life more comfortable for thousands?
