

MAY BE JUNE OR SEPTEMBER.

Whitney Announces Election on Either of These Dates.

Guarantee Canadian Northern Railway $2,500,000.

Many Important Measures Rushed Through House.

Toronto, April 13.—If the general election does not take place before the 15th of June, then it will stand over until September. This announcement was made by Premier Whitney on Saturday afternoon. The Premier claimed that he was not in a position to make any statement of a more definite character, but that all the elections should take place on the same day, and there is no doubt that the fixing of the date depends entirely on the preparation of the voters' lists for the unorganized districts. If these lists can be ready in time, then the election will take place in the second week in June, but if they are not ready, then the election will not be held until the fall.

Prorogation will take place on Tuesday afternoon, so that, so far as the majority of the members were concerned, the business of the last session of the seventh provincial Parliament was finished on Saturday afternoon. The concluding days of the session were remarkable for the manner in which important measures were railroaded through. After the Premier had announced his desire that the session should conclude next Tuesday, no less than six Government bills, all of an important character, were brought down. The proposals that the elections for the new northern constituencies should be held on a different date to those for the rest of the Province raised a storm of protest from members on both sides of the House, to which the Premier had to give way, and as a compromise it was arranged that the time for appeal after the passing of the bill should be reduced to fifteen days.

James Bay Bond Guarantee.

Another Government proposal which was opposed by some of their supporters was the guaranteeing of the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway to the extent of $2,500,000. When the bill was introduced Col. Hugh Clark, a member for Centre Bruce, stated emphatically his opposition to this departure from the platform the Premier had adopted before he was returned to power. Other Conservative members had also expressed their intention of opposing it, but the bill slipped through in their absence on Saturday afternoon. Mr. P. H. Bower (East Kent) subsequently stated that his only object in attending the morning session of the House was to take the opportunity to protest against the bill. He had left on the understanding that the Premier would resume after lunch at 3 o'clock as usual. Instead Mr. Whitney adjourned until half-past 2, and when Mr. Bower, together with the Conservative members for South Oxford and East Wellington, returned at 3 o'clock they found that the measure had already received its third reading. Mr. Bower stuck to his guns, however, and entered his protest before the House adjourned.

Perhaps the most outstanding incident of the afternoon was the submission of an amendment to the automobile bill. The amendment provided that motor should be kept off rural roads during certain hours on Saturdays and Sundays. Mr. Clarke desired to divide the House, while the Premier strongly objected, even going so far as to enforce the rule that at least five members should favor a division. Besides Mr. Clarke, there stood up Messrs. Smith (Peel), Smith (Sault Ste. Marie), Bowman and Kohler. To the latter's astonishment of everybody, the Speaker said that he had only counted four members, and ruled that the "yeas" and "nays" could not be taken. Again the five stood up, but the Premier insisted that the Speaker could stick to his ruling, and he did, thus saving a number of rural members from registering their protest for which their constituencies might call them to account.

Mr. Beck's bill to validate the power by-laws passed by the different municipalities received its third reading. The Attorney-General's amendment on law reform was also passed after a practical amendment by the Hon. A. G. MacKay had been voted down.

Reward for Information. Hon. Mr. Foy made an explanation as to why the Government had seen fit to make the payment of $38,000 to La Rose Mining Company. The grant, he said, had been made as a reward for certain information the Government had obtained about original discoveries in the northern mining country. Answering a question of Mr. McDougall (Ottawa), he said the Government would like people to know that where information was given leading to the regaining possession of Crown lands there would always be a reward.

Hon. Mr. Whitney said that the two companies had been quarrelling for some time, and the former Government had decided in favor of the O'Brien. La Rose people asserted that this was wrong and desired a fiat that they might prove their title to the mine. The Attorney-General had decided, however, that the Crown should bring the action. Considerable money had been spent by La Rose people in preparing the case for the Province. Through what La Rose people had done the Province had obtained a settlement whereby Ontario would get 25 per cent. of the value of the output of the mine. La Rose interests thought they should have $350,000, but had finally agreed to take less.

Why the Difference? Mr. McDougall (Ottawa) thought it a very strange thing that the Government should have adopted the course they had in regard to this company when their action in regard to Cobalt Lake was so different. He could not see why La Rose people should not be treated in the same way.

Hon. Mr. Matheson.—They would have taken the whole thing. Mr. McDougall.—If they were entitled to it they ought to get it. The Government should not pay thousands of dollars a couple of months before the election. It is a very funny thing that the matter should be brought down in the dying hours of the session when there is an opportunity for anybody to look into it properly. It would seem that a close relation of the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines had been getting him to use his influence.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane.—If the hon. gentleman has anything to say let him come out with it. Premier Whitney.—He won't do that. Mr. McDougall.—I will ask the hon. gentleman if D. A. Dunlop is not his brother-in-law.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane.—What has that got to do with it? If the hon. gentleman is prepared to make a charge let him get up like a man.

Mr. McDougall.—Will the hon. gentleman say that he was never interviewed and asked to use his influence to settle this claim? If he will say so I am satisfied.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane.—I have been interviewed by the whole of them, but I can assure the House that I was never asked to use undue influence in any shape or form.

Mr. McDougall.—It seems to me that this matter should have been brought down earlier in the session. If these people are not entitled to the whole thing they are not entitled to anything.

Hon. Mr. Cochrane.—As I understand it, O'Brien was a commissioner for the T. & N. O. Railway and also looking out for himself in a personal way. La Rose people did claim that Mr. M. J. O'Brien used his influence so as to do them out of their right to this mine. When the Government came into power the Attorney-General wisely took action. Proceeding, Mr. Cochrane said that the Cobalt Lake case was on an entirely different footing. "I thoroughly believe," he added, "that they knew Cobalt Lake had been withdrawn by order-in-Council. The lawyer who acted for them congratulated me, as a member of the Government, on withdrawing Gillies limit and Cobalt Lake, and said that those things should be set aside for the benefit of the university. That was the day I want to assure the House that my brother-in-law never endeavored to use any undue influence."

Mr. MacKay said that he maintained the position he had previously taken, that the Legislature should not usurp the functions of the courts.

Law Reform. The Attorney-General moved his law reform motion, which had occupied a place on the order paper all session. He said that the resolution explained itself, but he thought that a special committee might be appointed next session to consider details. The resolution was as follows: "That in the opinion of this House, with a view to the more prompt and satisfactory administration of justice in civil matters and the assessing of the cost thereof, it is expedient: (1) That there should be but one Appellate Court for the Province; (2) That all the Judges of the Supreme Court of Judicature for Ontario should constitute the Appellate Court; (3) That the Appellate Court should sit in divisions, the members of which should be permanently assigned to them, or chosen from time to time by the Judges, among themselves; (4) That the divisions should consist of five members, four of whom should be a quorum, except in election cases, and cases in which constitutional questions arise, for which five members should sit, and except in appeals from inferior courts, for the hearing of which three Judges should form a quorum; (5) That the decision of the Court of Appeal should be final in all cases except where (a) constitutional questions arise, or (b) questions in which the construction or application of a statute of Canada is involved, or (c) the action is between a resident of Ontario and a person residing out of the Province; (6) That the appeal of right to the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council should be abolished, and the prerogative right of granting leave to appeal to that tribunal, if retained, should be limited to cases in which large amounts are involved, or important questions of general interest arise; (7) That in matters of mere practice the decision of a Judge of the Supreme Court, whether on appeal or in a Judge's first instance, should be final; (8) That provision be made to regulate examinations for discovery to prevent the excessive costs that are often incident to such examinations, and the undue prolongation of such examinations; (9) That the County and District Courts shall have jurisdiction in all actions, whatever may be their nature or the amount involved, in which parties consent; (10) That the ordinary jurisdiction of the County and District Courts should be increased; (11) That communications should be made with the Imperial and Dominion Governments with the view to legislation by the Imperial and Canadian Parliaments as to such of the foregoing matters as are not within the legislative authority of the Province."

Mr. MacKay's Amendment. Hon. A. G. MacKay said that the Premier when in Opposition had condemned the then Government for not bringing in a measure of law reform. He would have thought that would indicate that the Premier had some proposition to make, and therefore it was surprising that now, after he had been in power three years he was not prepared to introduce a practical measure.

The amendment, which was seconded by Mr. McDougall, was lost, and the original motion carried.

Went Through Quietly. Almost the first matter of business taken up at the afternoon sitting was that of guaranteeing Canadian Northern Railway bonds, and this guarantee, amounting to $2,500,000, went through the House in about two minutes. There were but a few members there to say anything, however.

Hon. Mr. MacKay pointed out that the amount was larger than at first announced, and Hon. Mr. Matheson stated that $1,000,000 was for the extra fifty miles of road and $1,500,000 for terminals at Key Inlet and Toronto.

To Validate Agreements.

When Hon. Mr. Beck's bill was in committee he said that the municipalities had asked that the power contracts be validated by the Legislature. Hon. Mr. MacKay.—Is it a fact that if this cost is more than estimated the municipalities will have to pay and the Province will not be liable?

Hon. Mr. Beck.—Yes. Replying to more questions by the Liberal leader, Hon. Mr. Beck said that the commission did not propose that the by-laws would be enforced until they had tenders that would without doubt confirm the estimates, and be within the estimated cost in the by-laws.

"To-day we can supply power to the municipalities at the prices embodied in the by-laws," he added.

Raising Age Limit. Hon. Mr. Monteth submitted an important amendment when the shops act was in committee. At present the age limit of those employed in shops is ten years. The Government at first proposed the limit to be twelve years, but upon strong representations by Mr.

Fun for Times Readers

Would Ask No Mercy.

Mrs. Nick Senn.—What do you suppose you would do if you were to meet the foolkiller?

Her Husband.—I'd tell him I was the man he was looking for, all right. I have just given orders to have that new addition to the house torn down and built again exactly as you want it.

Orthographical Romance.

They were returning from the spelling bee. "Mr. Spoonmoore," she said, "you did you miss that easy word? You spelled 'hoop' with a 'u'."

"I know it," he answered. "The feeling came over me all at once that I just couldn't get along without 'u' Miss Daisy."

Disastrous Reaction.

"I was awfully worried about Johnny when he had that last sick spell," said Mrs. Lapsling, "and when the doctor told me he was going to get well I went fairly delirious with joy."

There It Is.

Be not discouraged if you've failed in finding a rhyme for "month." You'll miss it on the first attempt, but get it on the millionth.

Recklessness.

Refused Wratz.—What'd you do if you wuz as rich as Rockefeller?

"Greasy Grimes—I'd build a marble palace with sixty rooms in it, all lined with gold leaf, an' call it my bungalow."

Boy Wanted.

Small Boy.—Ma says they've got a new baby girl at the grocer's.

Small Girl.—Why, isn't that funny? Will they have to keep it.

Small Boy.—Of course, silly. Why?

Small Girl.—Cause there's a card in the window with "Boy Wanted" on it.

OPERATION ON SMITH.

A Bullet Taken From the Montreal Homicide's Back.

Montreal, April 12.—An operation was performed on James Smith on Saturday afternoon. One bullet was extracted from his back. This entered near his heart and passed around his ribs. A splintered bone was taken out of his elbow and his jaw stitched up. Smith seemed in a very good mood when he was brought into the room where the other was administered and as he lay outstretched upon the operating table he remarked in a jocular way: "I hope you will not let Dr. Osler know how old I am."

When asked if he had any messages or property to leave in case he should not survive the other, he answered "No." His complete recovery is only a matter of a few weeks.

The Welland Canal will be opened tomorrow.

It is expected that the Australian Government will resign to-day.

Recreation.

Kind Old Lady (to motorman)—I suppose, young man, that you do get time for some recreation during the day?

Motorman.—Oh, certainly, ma'am. For instance, to-night I go off at 12.15, and I get all the rest of the evening to myself.

He Got Even.

A grocer was guilty of some rather sharp practice on a customer, and the latter stamped out of the store, roaring: "You're a swindler, and I'll never enter your doors again!"

Next day, though, he came back and bought five pounds of sugar.

"Dear me," said the grocer, smiling in a forgiving way, "I thought you were never going to enter my doors again."

"Well, I didn't mean to," said the customer, "but yours is the only shop in the place where I can get what I want. I am going to pot some bulbs, and I need seed."

Entirely Superfluous.

"A word to the wise is sufficient," remarked the man with the quotation habit.

"Wrong again," rejoined the contrary person. "A word to the wise is unnecessary."—Chicago News.

His Misfortune.

"I was a celebrated pianist and a great success with the public," confided the sad-eyed man to his companion, "but I had a misfortune that threw me out of favor with my audiences and cut off my revenue as a performer."

"What was your misfortune?" asked his friend.

"My hair fell out!"—From the Bohemian.

The Proper Term.

Mrs. Newed.—Instead of giving me pin-money, my husband puts it in the savings bank for me.

Mrs. Oldwed.—Sort of safety-pin money, as it were,—Chicago News.

APPETITE GONE—NERVOUS ---BADLY RUN DOWN

A Strong Moral Well Exemplified in Mrs Wilson's Case.

Like thousands of other people at this season of the year, Mrs. E. P. Wilson was tired and worn out—winter sores tried her health and vigor. But now she is robust and well, eats well, sleeps well, feels invigorated and braced. "For some years," writes Mrs. Wilson, of Watmore, P. O., "I suffered from systematic weakness, biliousness and depression headaches, and grew thin and pale. If I ate a hearty meal the result was dreadful. Pains started at my chest and spread all through my body, going across my stomach, back and right side. I was discouraged till a friend insisted on me taking Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They made a new woman of me, and for the past eight months my health has been perfect. For a good cleansing, rejuvenating medicine, I urge every one to use Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

There is extraordinary and magic power in Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they bring vigor, tone, health and spirits—are compounded from the most wonderful and healing juices and essence in vegetable life—are safe for young and old, and guaranteed to kindle renewed activity and strength in every system that is weak, sickly or run down from kidney, liver, stomach or bladder trouble. Get Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut to-day—25c at all dealers.

Two treaties agreeing on the appointment of commissioners to settle boundary line and lake fishery disputes between Canada and the United States were signed at Washington on Saturday.

A cheerful disposition for ten cents per week. Sweet breath, no headache, no dullness, no blues. All that—and more—in a box of Cascarets.

Cascarets supply a natural need. They simply do what some foods will do; what fruits will do, if used in abundance; what exercise does. They cause the bowel muscles to act. Their effect is as natural and gentle as the same effect from food.

If we lived out-doors, and ate whole wheat, green vegetables and fruits, we would never need Cascarets. But we don't exercise enough. We eat fine flour, much starch, and too little of fruit and green things. We live artificially, so we need an artificial laxative.

Cascarets give us, in concentrated form, one vital effect that we lack in rich food. Some people need them more frequently than others. It depends on your food, your drink and your exercise. But we all need them sometimes.

The right way to take them is one Cascaret at a time. Take it just as soon as you need it. You can tell. Don't wait till night.

Carry a box always with you. Ward off the dullness, the headaches. Keep yourself always at your best.

Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with CCC on every tablet. The price is 50 cents, 25 cents and 10 Cents per Box.

AN OLD JOURNALIST.

Death of Mr. Charles Lindsey a Former Registrar.

Toronto, April 13.—There passed away a little after 10 o'clock yesterday morning at the home of his son, Mr. G. G. Lindsey, K. C., 145 Tyndall avenue, Mr. Charles Lindsey, for 39 years Registrar of Deeds for Toronto, and a very old resident of the city. Mr. Lindsey, who since his retirement from the Registrarship of West Toronto during the second week of February last had been living a private life, occupied for more than sixty years a leading position among Canadian publicists and officials. He was active in public affairs in pre-Confederation days, when as a journalist he assisted powerfully in moulding the thought of the period and shaping the destiny of Canada. He accepted the office of Registrar in 1867, when his connection with political life ended. During the long period intervening he, however, maintained his literary studies, pursuing and publishing several volumes dealing with various phases of Canadian history.

WAITRESSES ON STRIKE.

Six Shillings a Week Too Little on Piccadilly.

New York, April 11.—The Sun has received the following cable dispatch from London: Stimulated by the suffragette influence and by a burning sense of injustice the waitresses in the Cabbie restaurant in Piccadilly, headed by a pretty and persuasive young woman named Ware, who is the woman of the hour in London, struck yesterday in the midst of the luncheon hour. Their methods are quite original, inasmuch as they are beseeching their customers by withdrawing their patronage to bring the restaurant to terms. Piccadilly Circus for two days has been a scene of excitement, dozens of pretty girls buttonholing youths and urging them to get their husbands and teas anywhere rather than at the Cabbie.

Several of the suffragette leaders have taken up the cause. It is now planned that a procession of the strikers, headed by Miss Ware, shall march to Trafalgar Square, where speeches will be made. The funds from sympathizers are accumulating to such an extent that the strikers propose to open a tea room themselves. They have resolutely declined enticing music hall offers.

The strike was caused by long hours and small wages. The latter average only six shillings, or 48.50 a week and there is a "no tips" notice on the bill of fare. There was also objection to an unpopular manager.
