STOOD UP FOR FAITH

Remarkable Scene at the Gipsy Smith Mission.

Not Sorrow, But a Turning From Sin to God.

Rebukes Tendency Towards Hysterical Demonstration.

Toronto, May 13 .- A public declara tion of faith by over three thousand people is a wonderful thing. That is people is 'a wonderful thing. That is what took place at Massey Hall last night. Gipsy Smith appealed to those who pinned their hope of salvation to the Gospel of Christ to rise. There was practically no hesitancy. Row after row of the people who had flooded the hall as soon as the doors were open until every seat was occupied and "house full" had to be hung out on the main door sprang to their feet.

and "house full" had to be hung out on the main door sprang to their feet. Then from among those doubting, dozens flocked to the inquiry room.

Gipsy Smith preached the most eloquent sermon he has yet delivered here. It was on repentance, which he explained was not merely a conviction of sin, an expression of sorrow, but a turning from sin to God.

So great was the number of people disappointed that an overflow meeting was held in the Metropolitan Church, at which an address was delivered by the Rev. J. Goforth, a returned missionary from China.

Gipsp Smith must have grown in the estimation of practically all the 3.500 people who heard him yesterday afternoon, when he rebuked anything approaching an hysterical outburst. The Rev. Dr. J. A. Turnbull gave the missioner his sibject in his ten minute address. Speaking on the text, "By what power," and its answer, "His name, through faith, has made this man whole," Dr. Turnbull likened the power of the Holy Ghost to the electrical dynamo, and faith to the conducting wires. "It is," he said, "the power that eventually, with the hammer of truth on the anvil of conviction, will beat the sword into a plowshare and the spearinto a pruning hook. Purify polities and compel men to put principle before party, and purify the social life."

XEED CHANGT OF TONGUE.

"Jesus said, Ye shall receive power when the Holy Spirit is come upon you," commented Gipsy Smith, and then he drew the picture of how at the Pentecost the disciples "spoke with many tongues," "It would be a blessing if some of you spoke with other tongues, for the old one is a nuisance. I hear some professing Christians sing, 'Oh, for a thousand tongues to sing,' when with the one they have there is hardly any living. Something begins when the Holy Spirit comes to a man. He is the author of surprises and you cannot know much about it if there is nothing very special in your lives,"

"Just as sure as you get the Holy Spirit some one will misunderstand you. You must look out for that. Those most dear will look and say, 'What is the matter with him,' They said, What meaneth this, and they said, 'These men are drunk.' I wonder is anyone going to' your beautiful little tony service would say, 'they've had too much to drink this morning?' You would be humiliated and chagrined if they intimated such a thing. The fact is that we are too sane, too sober. We don't want anybody to think us either insane or drunk. The thing we ought to do is to give the idea that something has got hold of us that's not natural but supernatural, and that's what we try to avoid.

"Dr.

At this point one of the audience gav At this point one of the audience gave vent to a long-drawn hysterical wail. "Take that sister out if she can't behave herself." said Gipsy Smith. "I cannot believe it is the Spirit to make a row like that, for the Spirit is orderly. I can do with a hearty 'Pfaise the Lord' or 'Hallelujah,' but I don't believe in any thing that produces confusion or gives the enemy a chance. It's blasphemy. If there is anything about the Holy Spirit and His power it is intelligence, sanity, reason, just as sure as sanity, reason, just as sure as here. I should not be loyal to we're here. I should not be loyal to my Lord if I didn't put down my foot on anything and everything which I be-lieve is of the flesh rather than the heve is of the flesh father than the Spirit."

The apostles accomplished their work by the power of the Holy Spirit, not out of their own learning or what had been crammed into them by colleges and seminaries. "What we need is another Pentecost. When the people said, These men are filled with new wine," Peter gave them a reasonable answer, and told them that they did not understand. "He said, This that ye see is that." There is a sermon for some of you theologians in those two words. What is 'that' Turn back to Joel and see the prophecy, 'I will pour out my spirit on all flesh.' Compare the little beautiful thing you cap a church with 'That,' If you cannot say 'This' is 'That' there is something the matter.

not say 'This' is 'That' there is some-thing the matter.

"When is our regenerating, piercing, pungent, personal, trumpet-like demand for the consideration of the things of God. These apostles didn't write scented notes asking, 'If you please do this,' or say, 'Won't you come and hear our preacher?' These men said, 'Come out say hear'. It tell you when I read these. and hear.' I tell you, when I read these opening chapters of the Acts of the Apostles I want to get on my face before God and say, Where is my power?' What little sentimental so-called believers we are with all the forces of divinity at our disposal if we only had sense enough to appropriate them. "It is no use trying to wield the sword of the Spirit with the arm of Ilesh. One of the old saints tells how he saw the devil preaching in the garb of a friar, and when he asked how that could be, the devil chuckled and said. Don't you know that in preaching and hear.' I tell you, when I read these opening chapters of the Acts of the what could be, the devil chuckled and said, 'Don't you know that my preaching cannot have the Spirit, and without the Spirit it savors of death.'

"It is not Gipsy Smith," he delared, "that attracts these crowds. It is not personal magnetism, but powers from on high." Then he proceeded, "I will bring a rough Welsh collier who cannot read a verse of the New Testament, and because he is filled with the Spirit he will teach one of the scientists from your colleges where the things of God are concerned."

Then the missioner drew two pictures from the great Welsh revival, the salaries of the lady teachers fifty dollars a year.

Cases on record prove that Ferrozone builds up when all else fails. Mr. Alonzo W. Douglas, of Woodbridge, Ont., says "I desire to state the results I derived from the use of Farrozone. Two years ago I was stricken with Pneumonia. So severe was the attack and so reduced was my strength that my life was despaired of. I had the very best medical attention, but made no progress toward recovery. When reduced to practically a skeleton, a kind friend told me of the remarkable powers of Ferrozone. An improvement began almost at onee. I gained steadily in weight and strength until Ferrozone made me a new man. I will gladly answer inquiries from other sufferers if they care to have further particulars about my recovery. Ferrozone deserves its great measure of sueces."

As to this, Mr. Chamberlin says that Foley, Welch & Stewart, the contractors, are giving as good a medical service as does the G. T. P. itself, and that as a matter of fact at the time of his writing they were $17,000 behind, but the best proof of the success of the hospital service on the Prince Rupert section is that the men's health has been generally good, and that there have been very few cases of typhoid. The records show that in 1908 there were twenty-six deaths among the men on that section in a force which ranged from 2,000 to 5,700, as against sixteen deaths in 1907, when the force ranged from 343 to 4,500.

Ottawa, May 12 .- Prorogation w brought a step nearer to-day by the passing of several important bills. First in order and in importance was Hon. Mr. Graham's measure for the protection of railway crossings held over from yesterday. It gives the Railway Commission large powers in ordering and apportioning the cost of protection, and provides that during the next five years $200,000 yearly shall be granted out of the Dominion treasury toward aiding in the work of protecting dangerous crossings. Mr. Lancaster, who has kept up a running fight on behalf of his own bill, made a strong final appeal to have it accepted in place of the Senate compromise, and in this he received the undivided support of his own party, and of one Liberal, Mr. Miller, of South Grey. The majority, however, recognized that to take such a step would be to court disaster in the upper chamber, and the third reading of the bill was carried by 100 votes to 70. EES. It was next the turn of Hon. Mr. Lemieux, and he proved his claim to the gratitude of letter carriers and fourth-class post-office clerks by not merely securing the House's approval of his schedule of salary increases, but by extending its benefits. Under the bill as originally drafted the letter-carriers who in 1902 elected to be governed by the old system were to be graded in class "B," but Mr. Joseph Russell, who pleaded their cause with great earnestness, suggested that they should be given the benefit of a higher grade, and the Postmaster-General at once consented. The result is that these older carriers will receive an advance in salary of about $120 a year. Mr. Lemieux gave further proof of consideration by acceding to a request to date back the increases to April 1, the beginning of the Opposition, came the bill authorizing a flat rate increase of $150 to members of the inside eivil service, which employees of the various departments at Ottawa have been anxiously waiting for for weeks. Mr. Foster detected in the new classification features suggestive to him of unfair discrimination, and he was particularly voluble in urging the claims of old servants, who, having attained the maximum of their class, would not be eligible for the full $150 increase. Mr. Crothers, on the other hand, throwing party considerations to the wind, claimed that the civil service at Ottawa was over-manned, underworked and overpaid. mistaken, and he had to congratulate McMaster on the prominent place to which it had attained among the educational institutions of this Province.

Dr. C. J. Holman said that he agreed heartily with those who maintained that the Bible should be taught in a university. But he held that it was very dangerous for the Bible to be taught in any institution from a purely literary point of view. It was manifestly unfair to Christian believers that it should be taught as an ordinary book. Still, it was unfair to the agnosties that it should be taught purely as a revelation. In such an institution as McMaster the Bible should be taught purely as a revelation. In such an institution an intelligent way and in his opinion the freedom which was allowed the Chancellor in this matter had been entirely justified.

Before the close of the convocation Chancellor McKay announced that the Senate and Board of Governors had made some changes in the faculty. "We have accepted the resignation of Dr. Cross, who has occupied the position of professor of history for eight years with distinction," he said. The resignation of Dr. E. H. Oliver from the post of lecturer in history was also announced. Dr. Oliver had occupied the post for four years and had served the university well during that time. Dr. J. L. Gilmour, who for two years had filled the position of practical theology, had been transferred to the professorship of church history. That this appointment was a popular one was shown by the applause on the part of the students when the announcement was made, Mr. G. H. Campbell had been raised from the position of lecturer to that of professor of Latin.

Provision had been made for the enlargement of the faculty, and a lectureship in mineralogy and geology was established, but no appointments have been made.

from falling off the bridge or by drowning.

No trace can be secured of Tomlinson's movements since April 30, and his coat and hat are both missing, while another hat of a different pattern to that usually worn by Tomlinson was found not far from the body. The absence of broken bones shows that he did not fall from the railway bridge, and there is said to be no water in the lungs, which disproves the theory of drowning, but there are bruises on the head and body which may have been inflicted before death.
