

Treacherous as a submarine is constipation

It strikes when and where you least expect it. In one person it brings on headache and nervous depression. In another chronic dyspepsia and indigestion. In another, blood disorders that show in pimples, boils and lowered vitality.

You simply cannot neglect constipation and escape some serious penalty in the form of ill-health. Stealthily—day by day, it gathers force to strike you in some vital function.

Don't neglect constipation—fortify yourself against all the disorders that follow in its wake by the daily use of

The Recent Exams.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Rev. L. Curtis sallies forth in yesterday's issue of your paper and shells his besiegers with a caustic comment. "Crass ignorance" and "unmitigated prejudice" of those innocents abroad is the learned doctor's appraisal of those who raise a protest against the C. H. E. and the vagaries of the Examiner. Though the Rev. Doctor gets waxy and uses the strong language quoted, still he admits as to the Primary case, all that the writers in the press are battling against. And what he admits to be true in the Primary case may be to a greater extent true in the other grades if he were to examine and pass upon them.

I will close my remarks with one or two further comments on the recent Exams. Of course, these are the opinions of a Candidate and may differ materially from those of learned doctors and the college professors. The intermediate school management would be admirably suited to a student of pedagogics or an Associate of the College of Preceptors, but bewildering and rattling to intermediates.

Questions requiring practical analytical, critical and descriptive skill are beyond the powers of the average intermediate candidates.

In Associate English the Examiners did not intend the candidates to get into mischief for lack of occupation. A good candidate who got flustered by the formidable amount of work presented to him and in which the classical literature unduly predominated to the usual syntax and synonymy questions, would come out of the ordeal badly.

In 1914 Exam. there were 3205 candidates entered for the Exams. 2941 sat, (261 had successfully retreated before the battle begun.) Fourteen hundred and forty-nine, or 50 per cent. failed, or fell victims to the Examiners bullets. To a General in battle this result would be considered a Pyrrhic victory. I have knowledge of an Inspector visiting a school and examining a class in arithmetic, 50 per cent. were correct. His record in the log book: "50 per cent correct is not creditable nor to be expected in a school like this." If 50 per cent. is not a creditable showing, and it isn't according to the above educational authority, something must be wrong. Either the Exam is too high for the candidates or the candidates too low for the Exam. Hence it follows that the Examiners should modify their Exam papers to suit the average candidate so as to increase somewhat the Pass List.

Yours sincerely and thankfully,
INTERESTED CANDIDATE.

Cape Report.

Special to Evening Telegram.
CAPE ERACE, To-Day.
Wind West, fresh, dense fog preceded by rain storm last night; no ships heard passing to-day. Bar. 29.13; ther. 50.

Fads and Fashions

Some of the new buttons are pierced. Silk sweaters are striped or checked.

Tussor coats are soutache embroidered. Belts are tremendously decorative and effective.

Hoops are actually sold in the leading shops. Boots with white kid uppers are laced at the side.

The suit of striped flannel is seen, but it is occasional. Black-and-white parasols are decidedly fashionable.

Many dresses have broad insertions of simple net. Taffeta borders are charmingly used on embroidered batiste.

Fancy foulards are delightful for full-skirted afternoon frocks. The newest silk purse bags abroad have no tassel at the bottom.

A linen skirt worn with a jacket of blue serge, is in good style. Some bodices are finished at the bottom, with a series of little ruffles. The thin summer suit with coat having belted effect, is in the lead.

Striped voile makes a very satisfactory tub dress for morning wear. Splashy organdie collar and cuffs make the plain bodice very becoming.

Accordion pleating is used everywhere—not only in skirts but blouses. Coats of silk or wool jersey and of cretonne are meeting with fair success.

Ruffles on thin dresses are not only set on in scallops but have picot edges.

One still sees dresses with flounces wider at the top of the skirt than the bottom.

It is said that a few Paris corset-makers have begun to make short curved corsets.

REACHED BARBADOS.—The barkentine Lake Simcoe has reached Barbados and is loading molasses there for this port.

Painful Accident.

Mrs. Young, of Heart's Content, who was a passenger on last night's local train, had her hand badly crushed by the falling of one of the windows of the car, while the engine was shunting near Bay Roberts. Mrs. Young was sitting by the window which had been raised, owing to the excessive heat, with her right hand resting on the sill. The jerking of the train while shunting set the window loose, and it came down with full force crushing three of the lady's fingers. The injured hand was dressed by Dr. McDonald, of Brigus, but Mrs. Young suffered a great deal of pain all the way to town.

Ever Ready Hot Water, Night and Day.

FOR THE NURSERY.

"The bath ready for baby, when baby is ready for the bath" should be an adage of every housewife—who should also keep in mind that any trouble saved to the nurse makes for a well-ordered household. Gas Water-Heaters, whether of the instantaneous or Circular type, offer the convenience of available hot water "upstairs and downstairs, and in my lady's chamber"—without any labour at all—Independently of the state of the kitchen fire.

FOR THE BATHROOM.

An uncertain supply of hot water in the bathroom is a frequent cause of annoyance.

Hot water can only be secured, usually, by getting the cook to act as stoker, but at what a cost! Think of the coal that is wasted—the fatigue of coal carrying—the after labour of grate cleaning—and the discomfort of a hot kitchen in warm weather.

A Gas Water-Heater is economical, because it only heats the water actually required; and labour-saving, because there are no coals to carry, no dues to clean, no ashes or dirt to remove.

The master of the house has hot shaving water and a hot bath whenever he wishes without delay or trouble.

HOT WATER FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

When "spring cleaning days" engross the busy housewife then the convenience of an unlimited supply of hot water on the upper floors is brought home to her with special force.

But at all times—apart from convenient gas water-heater makes an irresistible appeal to the housewife from the point of view of dealing with the domestic problem. Latter-day domestics are difficult to keep unless due consideration is shown by saving them unnecessary drudgery—and in the category of unnecessary drudgery may be included the toil of carrying hot water or coal upstairs, the cleaning of grates and the removal of dirt and ashes. The gas water-heater renders such labour superfluous.—may12,tf

Death of Cpl. Hughes.

In a recent casualty list issued at Ottawa appears the following:—113th Battalion—previously reported wounded and missing, now died of wounds, April 24th, Armourer Corp. Thomas Hughes, Newfoundland. This patriotic Newfoundland who has given his life for his King and country was born at the Goulds, and is a son of Mr. Henry Hughes of Bell Island. He was a mechanical engineer, and a member of the Royal Highlanders before the war. When war broke out he enlisted with the First Contingent of the Canadian Expeditionary Force at Montreal, and was thus one of the first to leave Canada for Salisbury Plains. He has now been added to the Roll of Honor of Newfoundlanders who have died at the front, where many others will find a place before the German Military Menace, which threatens the liberties of manhood, is brought to nought.

Amusements.

CRESCENT PICTURE PALACE PROGRAMME.

The picture programme that the Crescent Picture Palace is showing to-day is a capital one and was thoroughly enjoyed by the Crescent patrons who saw it yesterday. The great Selig feature: "The Dream Girl" is a splendid sea picture, perfect photography and a very interesting story, the other pictures are of the same standard, as the Crescent only shows first class productions of first class picture play producers. If you did not see this show yesterday go to-day as this is the last chance to see the "Dream Girl."

BRITISH THEATRE.

The excellent entertainment given at the above Theatre yesterday equalled any of its predecessors. The two reel feature is most assuredly a work of the highest kind of art and it was needless to say much appreciated by patrons. Another innovation was the introduction of "effects" for the first time, these being in the capable hands of our young townsman, John Cronan. Miss Elsie Tapper at the piano and Arthur Priestman Cameron in a comedy song completed a splendid programme with the addition of three splendid photo-plays.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END.

There was a good attendance at each performance last night at the popular little theatre, and all were delighted with the fine programme. The pictures are all well chosen and interesting, and the two little singers looking most dainty in their quiet Irish costumes sang a delightful Irish song in good form, and were loudly applauded. Patrons are always sure of a good evening's entertainment at the cosy little house in the West End.
