making temporary repairs and on the following morning I decided to return to St. John's. We were then about 50 miles off the land and in order to make our way back to port we had to make a circuit towards the westward to strike a fair wind, which we succeeded in doing several days later and with nothing to guide us but a compass and sounding lead we reached port this morning.
The Novelty, which is owned by A.
S. Russell and Co., was formerly commanded by Captain Arthur Benson.
The cargo, which is partly damaged, was shipped from Monroe & Co.
