Shaw, in a recently published article, remarked that the use of this electoral election was to make "periodical gesture of insult to academic education."

Last week we were treated by the Evening Telegram to a series of articles on the Tariff, the high cost of living and economy on the part of the public generally as well as the institutions. I am fully in accord with the majority of these remarks, but I disagree with those regarding expense of BOBBED AND SHINGLED HEADS FOR THE LADIES I BET YOU NEVER READ THAT! The note that struck home with me was that of Economy generally; that is the reason I hunted all round my store next day to secure enough merchandise for my Week-End

De Roche, McDonald and Bellamy in All Star Cast

"Love and Glory," the Rupert Julian-Universal-Jewel production showing to-night at the Star Movie, presents a distinct novelty in the way of screen entertainment in that its characters live through a fifty year lapse of time.

The three featured characters, portrayed by Charles De Roche, Wallace MacDonald and Midge Bellamy, are introduced in the story as young peasant folk in a French village. In the closing scenes of the film they appear in the make-up of persons seventy years of age. So real is the transfiguration that it is said to be difficult to believe that the characters are portrayed by the same players. It is a triumph for the actors, as well as for the director.

Pictorially the production is one of the most beautiful of the year. Gilbert Warrenton, credited on the screen with the photography, can take many a bow for his skillful camera work.

Fundamentally it is a war time romance, woven around incidents of the Franco-Prussian war, but there is little of actual war revealed on the screen. One sequence of the picture, however, reflects a desert engagement between Zouaves and Arabs and it is colorful and dramatic, carrying one of the biggest thrills of the story.

The screen play is an adaptation of the novel, "We Are French," written by Perley Poore Sheehan and Robert Davis. Other featured players are Gibson Gowland, Ford Sterling, Charles De Ravenne and Priscilla Dean Morgan.

Fishery Reports

Eagle Point, Long Harbour to Mall Bay—Total landed to date 780 quintals. It is impossible to judge prospects as no bait is obtainable and all the men are working on the roads, so that the fishery is practically over in this vicinity.

Fortune to Carmel—Total landed to date 7,950. Prospects poor; bait scarce, only one dory fishing during the week as the weather is too stormy.

SIDE TALKS.

AN ODE TO THE GARAGE MAN.

I sing to-day an ode to the gifted garage man.

Not the apprentice who knows just a little more to fix a machine than how to work the gas pump and where the oil goes in, but the real born and trained mechanic who knows machines inside and out.

How Deft He Is.

In what awe and trepidation we watch him—we who know really little more about the true inwardness of the intricate machinery that carries us hither and yon than the savage who has never seen a machine—as he lifts up the hood and probes with clever fingers here and there in the dark places of that mechanism!

What, black magic it seems to us that after unscrewing a nut here and straightening a wire there he should begin to know what ails the beast!

With what alacrity we leap to do his bidding when he tells us curtly, or with condescending kindness as his disposition dictates, to try and start her now!

And Wise!

The garage man who came to our rescue the other day carried a leather bag of tools. "He looks just like a doctor," said someone as he advanced upon us where we waited in our ignominious helplessness. And isn't that what he is? The doctor of the machine or maybe the surgeon would be more suitable for often he probes with fingers as strong and clever and almost as subtle and tender as the surgeon's, and sometimes, alas, for ailments almost as difficult to diagnose.

And like the surgeon, he sometimes has to eliminate one possibility by operating before he can find out the true one, and is as much blamed and as little blamable as the surgeon for not being able to distinguish ailments with almost identical symptoms.

And, as with the surgeon, we wait him with bated breath and hang on his words with eagerness to see if it is to be a major or a minor operation.

Though he were as homely as a hedge fence (and what has he by the way I have never found out) his figure coming toward us is beautiful to us. But he seldom is homely, if you have happened to notice. On the contrary he is often the opposite, one of the finest American types, keen, lean, with deep set eyes and features sometimes well cut, sometimes rugged, but always carved with the habit of thought and lit with the light of intelligence.

And Sometimes Kind!

There is one gift I do wish this god of the machine did have more universally, and that is the gift of sympathetic imagination. Sometimes he does have it and the minute he finishes his probe, he breaks the news as gently as possible to those who hang on his word. But again he lacks it and after probing and unscrewing he suddenly disappears into the garage with only an inarticulate grunt, and leaves us waiting without for 15 minutes absolutely in the dark as to whether we have a rear end or burnt out bearings or only a loose wire to deal with.

Surely those who are so wise could afford to be a little kinder.

I sing an ode to the garage man, the surgeon of the machine, deft and clever, and wise and sometimes-kind.
