TO CANADIAN VETERANS. Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 11. (By Canaan Press) .- Placing before the war eterans of Canada as a group the lternatives of either being "releated to the national attic where ulness are stored away," or of be coming "a living instrument of national service," Lieut.-General Sir Richard Turner, V.C., Dominion President of the G.W.V.A. and National Veterans' Unity Trustee, to-day ssued a stirring Armistice Day anniversary message. He calls upon Canadian veterans to forget the petty differences that have divided their ranks in the past, eliminate suspicion and distrust, and come together in a united organization. The text of the message follows:

In the hearts of those who fought and survived the conflict of 1914-18, the anniversary of Armistice Day has a place of transcending significance: Seared upon their memories is the recollection of the moment at the eleventh hour when the crash of shell, the rattle of machine gun, the crack of rifle, the menacing drone of the bombing plane and the numerous other accompaniments of modern warfare, ceased, 'After more than four years of death-dealing and facing death the release came as a shock With the realization that the conflict had actually ended the thought of the survivors turned to their comrades who had passed over the "borderland of death." and to them the great but invisible cenotaph of Memory was dedicated. There was a general resolve that the sacrifices of the Dead should not be in vain, that from the hideousness and carnage of war there should arise a new civilization and a world-wide brotherhood which would eliminate war for all pause for a moment to glance backward over the seven years that have intervened since the first Armistice Day. We see—not the world of our early visions and high resolve but a world first absorbed in riotous pleasure-seeking, followed by the bitter struggle for the very means of existence even among those who had hobly fought and suffered for their country. We see a renewal of the jealousies and bickering that were antecedent to the Great War. But, rising slowly and surely, we see also the struggle against almost overwhelming odds of the few who have sought to keep faith.

As Canadian war veterans, let us examine briefly our efforts during the past seven years. Much has been done in bringing justifiable betterment in the provisions for the care of the disabled and the dependent. There has been much British Labor leader has said, by praiseworthy effort, as individuals and as organizations, in attempting to learn the meaning of the words— "Come to the Fair" (Easthope Martin) ples," should not overlook,—Christian wolves, and many kinds of fish. There have been sporadic efforts to- tention that the country is seething wards community and national ser- with unrest. Refreshing it is, therevice. of those who have passed on I appeal you to forget the petty differences that have divided our ranks, destroy the viper of suspicion and distrust which has ranged unchecked among us, to catch anew the vision which carried you to the heights of heroism and self-effacement on the battefields, to be true to your comrades and yourselves, to new and greater service—to unite. - tuft, and a properly curved handle so that the end tuft can reach and clean back teeth?
- 4 Will it keep germs, tartar, food debris, and other unclean substances off your teeth?
- 5 Is it fully guaranteed?

When your tooth brush is a Pro-phy-lac-tic, you can answer all of those five questions correctly. The Pro-phy-lac-tic Tooth Brush has for more than forty years been the standard, correctly designed tooth brush for keeping teeth clean, white
