A Chase Down Dundas Street.

On Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock, a farmer named Perkins, who lives on con.

4, went into the Waish House to pay for his stabling. He pulled out a $10 bill to hand the bartender, when a young man standing near snatched the note and took to his heels. Quite a number witnessed the affair, and immediately gave chase down Dundas street and over the bridge into London West, where the thief was last sight of. The police are endeavoring to find the thief, whose name is not known.

Smyth, of Bigelow, Morson & Smyth, has for some time past heen engaged with the plaintiff's case and, as it is alleged that some important evidence has been discovered since the last trial, the yplaintiff's solicitors expect that this case will turn out differently than the last. Miss Gokey was formerly a resident of this city.

Caught at Port Stanley.

A monster sturgeon was captured off Port Stanley on Saturday in the nets of Brown Bros., of that place. The fish weighed 190 pounds, was 7 feet long and 3 feet 3½ inches in circumference. Fishermen stateit was the biggest sturgeon ever caught near the Port. Capt. Ellison last season got one weighing 155 pounds, which was considered a monster. A remarkable thing was that on Saturday no less than ten sturgeons were caught in three nets—the largest number known. When the Brown Bros. examined the treasure they found 60 pounds of tallow. As all the tallow is rendered into oil, the value of such a catch can be readily understood. Two carloads of fish from the Port were sent to Buffalo Saturday night. Saturday night.

A Meeting for Tenders.

A meeting of No. 2 Committee of the Board of Education was held on Saturday evening for the purpose of opening the tenders for the enlargement of the Askin street achool and for supplying the seate required for the new additions lately erected to many of the schools. The following were present: Trustee Turner (chairman), Cook, Dewar and Jeffery, Secretary Abbott and Engineer Tracy. Mr. J. Fleming's tender for brickwork at $768 was accepted, and also that of Mr. John Purdom for carpenter work at $275. H. &C. Colerick secured the painting at $7. In regard to the seats for the new additions it was decided to put in new seats in one room of each school and to put old seats in the others. The tender of the Bennet Furnishing Company will be presented to the Board with a recommendation that it be accepted. The same company's tender for teachers' desks was accepted, the figure being $9.

"The idea is a splendid one, don't you think so?" said School Trustee Cook.
"Yes; it's one of the best yet," responded Trustee Johnston. Irustee Johnston.
"What are you worrying over now?" said

"What are you worrying over now?" said a citizen.

"Oh, we've just been up examining the stock-in-trade of the old high school cadets. There is no reason on earth why such a drill company should not be organized in connection with the present Collegiate Institute. All the boys in the institute would be glad to have a uniform adopted by the institute. We had them before and they were worn by all the boys, in and out of school hours."

"The suits would cost ——"

"Not more than ordinary school clothes. The boys who were drilled in the old high school cadets made the best soldiers during the Northwest rebellion. I think you'll find a fine and well-drilled cadet corps in the 'hoisting of the flag' demonstration next Dominion Day if the matter is properly considered."

Dominion Day if the matter is properly considered."

Causes of Crime.

On Sunday evening, Rev. S. Bond, of the King Street Methodist Church, preached on the causes of crime, as presented in evidence before the Prison Commission which sat in this city a few days ago. The main causes, as presented, were: Bad example or environment, idleness, running the street at night and the drinking habits of society. The preacher added to this list vicious literature, needless exposure of temptation, as in the case of the habit of displaying goods for sale, exhibition of nude or semi-nude pictures and statuettes and the like. With all these there was the absence of the teaching of media and roligious principles to multitudes of youths. The speaker said that the heredity idea must be expanded to a full recognition of the natural depravity. Indorsing most of the ideas of the witnesses, he would enforce the lessons to be drawn from them, and pointed out that they all suggested a wide field for Christian endeavor. He charged home on all who by their votes consented to the continuance of the liquor traffic the guilt of its consequences.

How William Morris Met Death.

Mr. F. R. Green, son of Mr. Thomas Green, carpenter, of this city, who is at present in business in San Francisco, has forwarded to the ADVERTISER the particulars of the drowning of Mr. William Morris, a former Londoner, off Ciotop
Beach, Oregon, on Friday of last week.
In company with a number of companions
the deceased went in bathing, and being a good swimmer he went out beyond a line of breakers. He was seen to swim around for awhile and then suddenly disappear in an immense wave. Little attention was of breakers. He was seen to beyond a line of breakers. He was seen to swim around for awhile and then suddenly disappear in an immense wave. Little attention was as paid to the ocurrence, as it was thought to be some trick on the part of the swimmer. When the other bathers commenced to dress, Mark Warren, of Astoria, who occupied the same room with Morris, found his companion's clothes still there. He looked around the beach, but saw nothing of Morris. As evening came on, and all had retired from the surf, the clothing still lay untouched, and it was then beyond the possibility of doubt that Morris was drowned. It is supposed he was taken with cramps, as he was subject to them. It was only a few days before that he was taken with cramps and had to leave the water. Although diligent search has been made, his body has not been found, and was probably carried out to sea by an undertow or ebb tide. Mr. Ballantyne, a fellow-boarder and intimate friend of the deceased, and also a former resident of this city, notified Mr. Morris, of this city, of

It is no Wonder that invalids lose faith in all specifics, when so many worth-less medicines are advertised to cure various diseases, but which, when tried, are "found wanting." We have yet to learn, however, of the first failure of DR. WISTAR'S BAISAM OF WILD CHERRY to cure coughs and pulmonary disease.

The classes will be resumed at the Sacred Heart Academy, Dundas street, on Wednesday next, Sept. 3. The plan of studies has been entirely revised and the latest and most highly approved text books will be introduced.

The members of the city courts of the Canadian Order of Foresters held their annual parade to attend divine service yesterday afteracon. About 300 of the brethren turned out in their Sunday clothes, and headed by the band of "D" School, I. S. C., marched in line by way of Dundas street to the Colborne Street Methodist Church, Edlboying are the award of the court.

Rev. George Boyd, of the Queen's Avenue Methodist Church, occupied the pulpit and preached a thoughtful sermon from Romans xii., 10: "Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love." The reverend gentleman dwelt on the fact that there were societies and institutions on earth having a single eye to the mitigation of human sorrow, to the relief of human distress and to the assistance of the widow and orphan.
The right plan for this world was a plan of brotherhood. Sin broke in upon the plan of God. Adam and Eve could not agree, for they came across one another when sin entered the world, and Cain and Abel could not get along together when there were only two brothers on this earth, and one slew the other. It would be found that the whole history of the human race, apart from God, had been the carrying out of the same thing, only on a larger scale. Further from God, always further from men: nearer to God, always nearer to men. The aim of God was to need, that could not be paid back to the giver; that was prompted by a spirit of kindly affection; and one not letting the right hand know what the left one did. The speaker closed his impressive address by a forcible appeal to his hearers to direct themselves towards the extension of practical benevolence, of which Christ was an example, and in accordance with the principles of their order.

A handsome collection was taken up at the close, the proceeds for the benefit of the Frotestant Orphans' Home and the Women's Refuge. The members then re-formed in line and marched back to their rooms, where hearty votes of thanks were passed of Rev. Geo. Boyd, the choir and the officials of the church for their kindness.
