

THE EXTRADITION TREATY.

British-Americans will oppose the Convention with Great Britain.

NANTUCKET, Tenn., Feb. 19.—The following letter was received to-day:

IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE OF AMERICA.

LANCASHIRE, N.H., February 19, 1887.

Office of J. J. Smith, Esq., Secretary Branch No. 1, Ashville, Tenn.

DEAR SIR:—I have your letter of Feb. 18, addressed to President Fitzgerald and asking if it would be within the province of your branch to petition your representatives to use their influence to prevent the ratification of the Extradition Treaty. If there were no danger of Irish political prisoners being covered by the treaty, there would be no grounds for our interference. Unfortunately, however, we are so well acquainted with the history of British law, which makes the victims of yesterday's crime today, that we have just reason to believe that any delay would be the extradition of Irishmen, charged with acts of retaliation in England, could be so availed of by British treachery and conspiracy as to accomplish the ruin of any and every Irishman who might be obnoxious to the Government of the day.

It must be remembered that dynamic outrages were resorted to only when every vestige of constitutional liberty in England had been ruthlessly trampled upon, and when numbers of the most thoughtful and patriotic men of the time were driven through constitutional methods, it is to be feared that the dignity of America will be sacrificed to the policy of England in hunting down men who, after all, only turned against England the same methods of warfare employed by British troops in India and South Africa within the past year.

Your action, then, in striving to obtain the ratification of the treaty, is in direct opposition to the policy of the Irish National League, and is in direct opposition to the policy of the Irish National League, and is in direct opposition to the policy of the Irish National League.

Yours faithfully,

J. J. SMITH, Secretary.

Consumption, the great scourge of the age, the destroyer of thousands of our brightest and best, is conquered. It is no longer incurable. Dr. F. J. C. "Golden Medical Discovery" is a certain remedy for this terrible disease if taken in time. All scrofulous diseases—consumption is a scrofulous affection of the lungs—can be cured by it. Its effects in disease of the throat and lungs are little less than miraculous. All druggists have it.

Gen. Fremont recently said of an Indian: "He was a good-looking young man and as naked as a worm."

The great demand for a pleasant, safe and reliable antidote for all affections of the throat and lungs is fully met with in Bickel's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. It is a purely vegetable compound, and acts promptly and magically in subduing all coughs, colds, bronchitis, inflammation of the lungs, etc. It is so palatable that a child will not refuse it, and is put at a price that will not exclude the poor from its benefits.

Amsterdam and Leipzig are said to have an International Food Exhibition.
