LOCKLAW AND DISTEMPER
Since practicing Veterinary Medicine in and about Annapolis County, I have had many cases of Lockjaw (Tetanus) amongst horses and cattle, and also a great many cases of Distemper (Glanders) amongst horses. Many owners already know the causes of these two diseases but I want to make clear to every stock owner that these conditions are classified as contagious diseases and are caused by the entrance into the system of germs or better known to the medical profession as bacteria. Lockjaw is caused by the Germ known as Bacillus Tetani and gains entrance to the animal's system through wounds or abrasions of the skin. The germ loc
