

- Mohawk Indians, the, fear the French, 78 ; at the Albany conference, 95 ; Denonville plans an attack on, 177 ; 205 ; spared by the French at Schenectady, 225 ; express sympathy for the English, 229 ; join the English against Montreal, 258 ; join Schuyler against the French, 304 ; fight desperately for Schuyler, 307 ; the Jesuits spare no pains to convert, 324 ; refuse to make peace with the French, 422.
- Mohawk River, the, 222.
- Mohawk, the, valley of, 97.
- Mohawk towns, the, 228 ; French expedition planned against, 325 ; captured by the French, 326.
- Mohawks, Christian, the, 155, 156, 267, 308, 324.
- Mohawks, the English, 308.
- Mohegans, the, join the English against Montreal, 258 ; join Schuyler against the French, 304 ; desert the English, 307.
- Mohican Indians, the, 152.
- Monseignat, M. de, on the reply of the Iroquois to Frontenac, 210 ; on Frontenac's expedition against the English, 220 ; on the burning of Schenectady, 227 ; on the disaster at Salmon Falls, 239 ; on the Indian attack on Fort Loyal, 241 ; on the capture of Fort Loyal, 243 ; on Phips's attack on Port Royal, 248, 249, 250, 251 ; on Frontenac and his allies, 265 ; on the English raid into Canada, 270 ; on Frontenac's defence of Quebec, 273 ; on Phips's demand for Frontenac's surrender and Frontenac's reply, 281 ; on Phips's attack on Quebec, 285.
- Montespan, Madame de, Louis XIV. enamoured of, 14.
- Montesson, Repentigny de, joins Frontenac against the English, 220.
- Montmorenci, the cataract of, 276.
- Montpensier, Mademoiselle de, 3 ; her exploits during the civil war of the Fronde, 4 ; espouses the cause of Condé, 4 ; wins Orleans for the Fronde, 4, 5 ; temporarily banished from court, 6 ; Madame de Frontenac leaves her husband to follow, 9 ; dispute with her father concerning property, 9 ; Frontenac tries to act as mediator, 10 ; visits Frontenac at Isle Savary, 10 ; aversion for the Count and Countess Frontenac, 12 ; on Frontenac's relations with Madame de Montespan, 14.
- Montreal, Frontenac at, 30 ; Perrot made governor of, 31 ; La Nouguère made governor of, 37 ; jealousy between Quebec and, 38 ; terror at, 187 ; Frontenac forms a war-party at, 218 ; land expedition against, 258 ; revival of the fur-trade at, 264 ; the work of fortifying, 311 ; the grand council at, 470-475.
- Montreal, Island of, 176.
- Montreal, the mission of, 189.
- Monts, De, 354.
- Morin, 478.
- Mortemart, Mademoiselle de, see Montespan, Madame de.
- Mountain of Montreal, the, mission village of, 157 ; joins Frontenac against the English, 219 ; attacked by the Iroquois, 301 ; invited to join against the Mohawk towns, 325 ; teaching of the converts at, 396 ; 418, 465.