

At about noon the wind changed; we heaved anchor, set sail, and followed the little fleet of canoes which were keeping close in shore, until we approached the entrance to the beautiful harbour of Seven Islands, and saw the broad gulf of the St. Lawrence beyond.

END OF THE FIRST VOLUME.

LONDON

PRINTED BY SPOTTISWOODE AND CO.

NEW-STREET SQUARE