

NOTICE.

This is the second Number of a new Volume, and we would very earnestly impress on our readers the fact that this is the time to send their subscriptions for the year. It is, we believe, a fact that NOT THE HALF of our Subscribers paid their last year's Dollar. It is imperative that we should have money to pay our bills number by number: we don't propose to run into debt. Let those who did send their Dollar last year, send this year's at once; and all who did not send last year's, send the Two Dollars now. Some of our Subscribers are even more behind—from three to six years. Look at the dates on the direction label: see how far you have paid, and remit enough to change the date to January, 1888.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.

In 1867 THE LIVING AGE enters upon its forty-fourth year, having met with continuous commendation and success.

A Weekly Magazine, it gives fifty-two numbers of sixty-four pages each, or more than double-column octavo pages of reading-matter yearly. It presents in an inexpensive form, considering its great amount of matter, with freshness, owing to its weekly issue, and with a completeness nowhere else attempted,

Three and a Quarter Thousand

The best Essays, Reviews, Criticisms, Serial and Short Stories, Sketches of Travel and Discovery, Poetry, Scientific, Biographical, Historical, and Political Information, from the entire body of Foreign Periodical Literature, and from the pens of the FOREMOST LIVING WRITERS.

The ablest and most cultivated intellects, in every department of Literature, Science, Politics and Art, find expression in the Periodical Literature of Europe, and especially of Great Britain.

The Living Age, forming four large volumes a year, furnishes, from the great and generally unaccessible mass of this literature, the only compilation that, while within the reach of all, is satisfactory in the COMPLETENESS with which it embraces whatever is of immediate interest, or of solid, permanent value.

It is, therefore, indispensable to every one who wishes to keep pace with the events or intellectual progress of the time, or to cultivate in himself or his family general intelligence and literary taste.

OPINIONS.

"To have THE LIVING AGE is to hold the keys of the entire world of thought, of scientific investigation, psychological research, critical note, of poetry and romance. . . . It has never been so bright, so comprehensive, so diversified in interest as it is to-day."—Boston Traveller.

"It is one of the publications that intelligent people regard as practically indispensable. From its pages one learns what the world is thinking about. . . . It is an education in itself, as well as an entertainment."—Hartford Courant.

"It contains nearly all the good literature of the time. . . . There is nothing noteworthy in science, art, literature, biography, philosophy, or religion that cannot be found in it. . . . It is a library in itself."—The Churchman, New York.

"It may be truthfully and cordially said that it never offers a dry or valueless page."—New York Tribune.

"Nearly the whole world of authors and writers appear in it in their best moods. . . . The reader is kept well abreast of the current thought of the age."—Boston Journal.

"Through its pages alone it is possible to be as well informed in current literature as by the perusal of a long list of monthlies."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"The subscription price is slight in comparison with the mass of the best current literature which it brings with it in its weekly visits. . . . In fact, a reader needs no more than this one publication to keep him well abreast of English periodical literature."—Sunday School Times, Philadelphia.

"Foremost of the eclectic periodicals."—N. Y. World.

"It furnishes a complete compilation of an indispensable literature."—Chicago Evening Journal.

"It enables its readers to keep fully abreast of the best thought and literature of civilization."—Christian Advocate, Pittsburgh.

"It is absolutely without a rival. . . . Coming once a week, it gives, while yet fresh, the productions of the foremost writers of the day. . . . Essay and review, biography, travel, science, fiction, poetry, the best of each and all, is here placed within reach."—Montreal Gazette.

"It saves not only time, but money."—Pacific Churchman, San Francisco.

"It has become indispensable."—New York Observer.

"It keeps well up its reputation for being the best periodical in the world."—Morning Star, Wilmington, N. C.

GRATEFUL—COMFORTING.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage, which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us, ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fat shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. So only in packets by Grocers, labelled thus:
