

twice in our life time.

It is largely because of the efforts they have made in discharging this responsibility, and in the sacrifice of blood and treasure which was so gallantly made, and of which we are all the beneficiaries, that today the British are no longer able to carry the burden alone.

---

S/C