Mr. Deans: Are you deaf?

Some Hon. Members: Order.

Mr. Flis: —reflects outdated thought. There are other mayors. There is the union of British Columbia Municipalities—

Some Hon. Members: Order.

Mr. Flis: They made a resolution.

Mr. Deans: A point of order.

Mr. Flis: That resolution reads as follows—

Mr. Deputy Speaker: The Chair has listened—

Mr. Deans: A point of order.

Mr. Anguish: One way for the Liberals; one way for the rest.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Will Hon. Member please be seated.

Mr. Deans: I am not sitting down. You cannot sit there and ignore us. Who the hell do you think you are? Take your seat. You cannot allow this kind of garbage. Who do you think you are, Francis.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Will the Hon. Member please be seated?

Mr. Deans: No. I have been on my feet for two minutes asking for a point of order and you have damned well refused to listen. You sit down.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Will the Hon. Member please be seated.

Mr. Deans: I bloody well will not sit down. Who do you think you are? You cannot allow this garbage to take place. You may think you are God up there but you are not.

Mr. Anguish: Withdraw, Speaker.

Mr. Deans: I rose on a point of order and by God I will be heard.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Will the Hon. Member for Hamilton Mountain (Mr. Deans) be seated.

Mr. Deans: I will be heard on this point of order. Don't pussyfoot around.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Will the Hon. Member please be seated.

Mr. Deans: I will be heard.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Will the Hon. Member for Hamilton Mountain please be seated?

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Mr. Deans, I have to name you for disregarding the authority of the Chair.

Mr. Deans: Well, you bloody well go right ahead. But you are going to have a problem. You cannot ignore me when I rise on a point of order.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: I invite the Hon. Member to withdraw from this place.

Mr. Deans: No.

Some Hon. Members: Shame!
