

riegalante, Desfrada, Martinico, and S<sup>o</sup>. Lucia or Santa-Lucia, are given back to France. These are the Terms granted to that Crown in America. In Africa, France recovers the Possession of Goreé. — In Asia, Pondicherry ruinée de fond en comble, is restored to her; together with the several Comptoirs which belonged to her East-India Company in Bengal, and on the Coasts of Malabar and Coromandel. This Restitution supercedes that Part of the Treaty concluded between the Nabob and the English Company in 1757, in which the French were for ever prohibited from settling in the three Provinces of Bengal, Babar, and Orixa. In Europe, the Island of Belleisle is given back to France.

The King of Great-Britain restores to Spain all that he has conquered in the Island of Cuba.

The Time reciprocally permitted to the Inhabitants of the ceded Countries for their Emigration, is fixed to Eighteen Months from the Ratification of the definitive Treaty.

Between the Rupture of the Negotiation in 1761, and the Signature of the present Preliminaries, Great-Britain had acquired Martinico, Santa Lucia, St. Vincent, Grenada, the Grenadillas, and the Havannab. I do not recollect that we took any formal Possession in Tobago.
