A New "Lee Penny."

Our readers have heard of the famous "Lee Penny," the "Penny" from which Scott gave the title to his novel, "The Scotts." "Sir Simon Lockhart," wrote Scott, "after much experience of the wonders which it wrought, brought it to his own country, and left it to his heirs, by whom, and by his friends in particular, it was, and is still, distinguished by the name of the 'Lee Penny.' But a new combination of a similar kind has just come into being. For on the 14th inst., at St. George's church, Toronto, a Mr. Lee was married to a Miss Penny, and they were hyped in their matrimonial announcement as 'Lee-Penny.' The coincidence is a very curious one, and if there are any talkative virtue in names, the union can scarcely fail to be as happy a one as that of Edith and Sir Kenneth, the Scottish knight.

The Ping-Pong Lover.

From London Punch.
It is not mine to serve with stately grace. The celluloid ball is my lady fair. To win no game with skill to me is given. I will not play at all unless I am driven. It is not mine. The light ball bounding in my lady's face. Not mine in endless rallies to repeat. The thousand strikes she knows so well. No mine my victim viciously to press. My lady does this with 'tis in a mess! Not mine with little. Not mine with frantic racket to reel. The cunning service that I know too well. But mine it is to scramble in her train. The search in darkened corners to maintain. And leonardo to fetch with deference. And call the score, off 'love,' with look innocent. The grateful lull. My playful worship. My playful worship to my lady's face.

IT IS AN OFFICER OF THE LAW OF HEALTH. When called in to attend a disturbance it searches out the hilling place of pain, and like a guardian of the peace, his hands upon it and says: "I arrest you." Resistance is useless, as the law of health imposes a sentence of perpetual banishment on pain, and Dr. The Electric Oil was originated to enforce that sentence.

Stephen Henderson has disposed of his greenhouse and residence on Davisville avenue to P. Nestor, for $200.

Police Magistrate Ellis will hold a court at the Town Hall this morning, and will consider two cases of larceny from the sidewalk, one case of slander and two offences against the city ordinance.

Mayor Fisher presided over a meeting of the Town Council last night. Councilor Sullivan was the only member present. A resolution was passed regarding the extension of the water main on Davisville avenue, and the council ordered a committee of three to be appointed to investigate the matter. The council also considered a petition from the residents of the neighborhood of the old water works, who were complaining of the noise and dirt caused by the works. The council decided to grant the petition, and to order the works to be closed at night.

Christian Alliance Convention.
Yesterday was a big day at the Christian Missionary Alliance in Munro Park. Three meetings were held, morning, afternoon and evening. At the morning meeting there were two speakers from New York, Rev. A. E. Funk and Rev. Milton Taylor. The latter, who was introduced by Rev. A. E. Funk, was the main attraction. He was a powerful speaker, and his message was well received. The afternoon and evening meetings were also well attended.

Death of R. Y. Manning.
The death occurred yesterday of Richard Y. Manning, manager of the People's Wholesale Supply Company, at his late residence, 202 Parkville street. Mr. Manning was 49 years of age, and was well known in downtown business circles. The funeral will take place tomorrow at 3 p.m.

PERSONALS.

TRIP INTO THE FAMOUS WELL

A Newspaperman and a Weldigger Go Down to Inspect Joshua Sanford's Prison House.

BOXING OVER OLD WELL HAS TILTED.

Entrance Effected by Means of a Noose on the End of a Bucket.

Paris, July 2.—(Special).—As an evidence of the feeble condition of Sanford, the following is the medical record of the nourishment he received during his imprisonment:

June 27.
3 p.m.—Water, 2 ounces.
3.30 p.m.—Milk and water, 1 ounce.
4 p.m.—Milk and water, 1 ounce.
4.30 p.m.—Milk and water, 1 ounce.
5.15 p.m.—Milk and water, 1 ounce.
6 p.m.—Milk and water, 1 ounce.
6.30 p.m.—Milk and water, 1 ounce.
7.30 p.m.—Milk and water, 1 ounce.

July 1.—Milk, 12 ounces.
7.45 a.m.—Water, 3 ounces.
8.30 a.m.—Milk, 2 1/2 ounces.
9.15 a.m.—Water, 1 1/2 ounces.
9.45 a.m.—White of egg and milk, 2 ounces.
10.50 a.m.—White of egg and milk, 2 ounces.
11.30 a.m.—Water, 3 ounces.
12 noon—Liquor, malt extract, 2 ounces.
1 p.m.—Water, 2 ounces.
3.15 p.m.—Milk, 2 ounces.
4.50 p.m.—Milk and whiskey, 3 ounces.
5 p.m.—Egg, milk and spirits, 3 ounces.

This is the diet on which Joshua Sanford existed from Tuesday at noon, when the wall cavity in the prison was discovered, until Saturday evening at 5.45 o'clock. Thus, it appears that, strong man though he was, his condition must have been one of extreme weakness when taken from the hole.

Down Into the Well.
A World staff representative went into the well this afternoon with a camera for the purpose of taking a flashlight photograph of the chamber in which Sanford was imprisoned. He was accompanied by Thomas W. Langlois of Paris, an experienced miner, and the man who invented the plan that resulted in the final rescue of the prisoner. During the descent, which took place on a rope ladder, the representative saw the new well was said to have been cut at the bottom. The boxing on the surface had been done by a man named Langlois, who was said to have been over to one side since Saturday night, and a guard was stationed at the well to prevent anyone from going down.

Two men were found for a consideration, agreed to lower the newspaper man and the well-digger into the hole, and the well-digger was lowered by means of a rope. The hole was uncovered, and a loop was formed in one end of the rope, through which the newspaper man could be lowered. This was the only means of descent. It looked so precarious that the newspaper man hesitated for a moment before he would try it. It is needless to say the self-sacrificing reporter descended without a second's hesitation.

him the very thing. Then, if the old rope didn't break, and there was no chance of the bottom being reached, the clumsy tackle worked hard. The well, and slipped repeatedly. The newspaper man leaned over the dark hole, one of the well-diggers standing at the top of the shaft, and the other, who was lowered down, was sure, this gang wouldn't work very hard to get a reporter out if that well was found. With this in mind, the well-digger was lowered down.

There was a little water in the well, and no evidence of a cave. The well-digger was lowered down, and the newspaper man was lowered down. The well-digger was lowered down, and the newspaper man was lowered down. The well-digger was lowered down, and the newspaper man was lowered down.
