

That Tired Feeling

Makes you seem "all broken up," without life, ambition, energy or appetite. It is often the forerunner of serious illness, or the accompaniment of nervous troubles. It is a positive proof of thin, weak, impure blood; for, if the blood is rich, red, vitalized and vigorous, it imparts life and energy to every nerve, organ and tissue of the body. The necessity of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for that tired feeling is therefore apparent to every one, and the good it will do you is equally beyond question. Remember

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Music and Drama.

Dan McCarthy Today—Emily Bancker Next Wednesday—Classic Drama Coming—Jubilee Singers at Music Hall.

DAN MCCARTHY TODAY. The brightest stars in the Irish comedy firmament, will give two performances at the Grand Opera House. Dan McCarthy, a visitor that the calendar could almost be regulated by his booking. He is always welcome, and gains friends upon every visit. On this occasion he appears in another Irish comedy, which serves to bring out his characteristic style of acting in a manner that meets with the approval of all his audiences. The matinee prices are 10c and 25c, and evening 15c, 25c, 35c and 50c. Several excellent specialties are included in the program.

FLOORED THE CONDUCTOR.

Clever Alva Craven Cope, who plays a prominent part supporting Miss Emily Bancker in "A Divorce Case," floored an officious street car conductor in Ottawa a few days ago, to the amusement of the crowd of passengers. She was seated near the front door, and as the conveyance stopped at the corner where she wished to disembark, Miss Cope started to leave by way of the front platform. The conductor, anticipating her, blocked the doorway with his bulky form, and said gruffly: "You can't get off this end of the car, miss. You got to go the other way."

WILLIAM OWEN COMPANY.

Among the coming attractions at the Grand Opera House week of the 10th will be the William Owen Company in a grand revival of classic drama. For the last few years most of the companies upon the stage have been presenting to the public a line of farce comedies, burlesques and other light and frothy plays, which to many are uninteresting, if they do not actually disgust or nauseate the cultured play-goer. This state of affairs is the foundation upon which Mr. Owen has built his enterprise, and he is now presenting to the public the great dramatic masterpieces of our language on a scale of beauty and dignity worthy of the days, themselves. Eloquent costumes, stage settings and special scenery are used in every production, making them artistically complete in every detail. "Romeo and Juliet," "Hamlet," "The Lady of Lyons" and "David Garrick" are the plays which will be presented during the engagement.

FAMOUS JUBILEE SINGERS.

The original Tennessee Jubilee Singers, with a roster of twenty years of sustained triumph, will appear at Music Hall, London, on Thursday, Oct. 15. The chorus is composed of the most gifted singers of the negro race. These singers are especially notable for their beautiful shading and exquisite blending of voices. The Boston Post says: "An audience of 4,000 people greeted the Original Tennessee Jubilee Singers at Tremont Temple. Like wine, they improve with age, for each number on their program was encored. The rendition of 'Swanee River' and 'Old Kentucky Home' was sublime. The original Tennessee Jubilee Singers will ever be welcome by the music-loving people of Boston."

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parment's Pills according to directions until the head of dyspepsia or indigestion. The pain entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing me in the least." These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when a cathartic is required. Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Kilborn, formerly of Clinton and Beamsville, celebrated their golden wedding on Friday at their present home in Toronto. Confusion as to the choice of a blood purifier is unnecessary. There is but one best Sarsaparilla, and that is Ayer's. This important fact was recognized at the World's Fair, Chicago, 1893, being the only blood purifier admitted to be placed on exhibition.

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

The Literary Society Elects Officers—Mr. Galbraith the President.

The election of officers for the ensuing year for the Literary Society of the Collegiate Institute took place yesterday afternoon, immediately after the close of the day's studies. The upper assembly room was crowded with students, each eager to see if his or her candidate had been successful. There was much good-natured rivalry at the expense of the contestants. After the balloting it was found that Mr. Daniel Galbraith, a popular member of the Collegiate teaching staff, had been elected as president. The members here called loudly for a speech. Mr. Galbraith thanked them for the honor in a very feeling manner.

The other officers elected were as follows: Vice-president, J. Graham; treasurer, Miss E. Fraser; secretary, Ed. Barnes; executive, W. Gunn, Miss Sawyer, Gordon McIntosh, B. Smith, James McKee, Robert Murray, Miss E. Rolston and W. Black. The members here called loudly for a speech. Mr. Galbraith thanked them for the honor in a very feeling manner.

LONDON'S NEW SEWERS.

Will There be Water Enough to Flush Them?

To the Editor of The Advertiser: From all the information that has been given through the press or otherwise to the ratepayers, it is evident that the merits of the proposed sewerage systems are mysteries. The intelligent criticism of Dr. Gardner demonstrates that the proposed system will be defective, and it is a fair inference to be drawn from the information given that it will not only be defective but most probably useless, because it is conceded by the experts that the waste water from ordinary consumption will not keep the sewers flushed, and that the sewers are not intended to and will not carry off storm water. As it is a fact that the supply of waterworks is not more than sufficient for ordinary consumption, it follows that water for flushing is not obtainable from any source. The matter now rests with the City Council, as to whether the experimental expenditure of nearly $200,000 shall be made upon a system which cannot be effective unless supplemented at an unknown cost. Yours, truly,

W. H. BARTHAM, London, Oct. 9, 1896.

TURNED OUT BAREFOOTED.

An Old Farmer's Rough Treatment of His Young Wife.

New York, Oct. 10.—Clark Hults, an aged and well-to-do farmer of Unionville, L. I., married five months ago Etta Golden, a pretty, 19-year-old Valley Stream girl.

Young men have been calling at the house lately, and this made the wife very angry. Tuesday night he heard a youth refer to him as the "old man."

"Look here, Etta," he said, "here is a first-class alarm clock. I have let it at 5 o'clock. When that bell rings tomorrow morning you must tell me you love me just as much as ever or leave this house."

At 5 a.m. the alarm rang, and Clark strode into his wife's room.

"Do you love me?" he asked.

His wife did not make a reply to suit him, and he ordered her to leave. All her fine clothes he packed in a trunk, and allowing her an hour to get ready, he bid her go. She was without shoes, but was thrust upon the highway.

She walked eight miles to her home at Valley Stream.

Hults is looking for some of the young men, and says he will punish them for breaking up his home.

A BIG SHOUT.

Cheers for McKinley Hoard 1,000 Miles Away.

New York, Oct. 10.—The wonders of the telephone were exhibited in a practical manner yesterday at the Republican headquarters. The big sound money placed in the hands of Chicago, and by means of a special wire those at the New York headquarters could hear the shouts of the crowd as they passed along in front of the Great Northern Hotel in Chicago. The receiver was connected by special wire with the headquarters in New York and with Major McKinley's home in Canton, Ohio.

In the French army, when the men are in a trying or unhealthy climate, or when they are invalided, tea is served out to them in liberal quantities. It being a well known fact among physicians that the gentle stimulant contained in tea is highly beneficial to people with weak nerves, or invalided whereas coffee the most robust person finds hard sometimes to digest, and it often induces dyspepsia.

Chinese soldiers are coming in the English army, no other teas but Ceylons are used, they being considered the most healthy, as well as the most delicious of all teas. "SALAD" Ceylon Tea always being the preference. It being packed in air-tight lead packets.

DISAPPOINTING.

More Comments on Rosebery's Speech—Does Not Justify His Action in Resigning.

London, Oct. 10.—Rosebery's speech at Edinburgh last night, giving reasons why he resigned the Liberal leadership, was eagerly awaited, but proved a disappointment. Some of the morning papers say that in effect it is but a feeble exposition of commonplace views of the Eastern Question, and revealed practically no more than the letter of resignation itself as to what led him to lay down the leadership of the party. The only actual news was that his resignation had been in the hands of his colleagues since the general election. The chief interest in the ex-Premier's utterance centered beforehand in the attitude he would assume on the eastern question. It turns out that he, after all, differs in no essential way with Harcourt and his associates. Gladstone deprecates isolated action; so do they. He holds Armenia not worth a European war; so do they. He suggests making practical advances to Russia; so, at least, does Harcourt. Altogether, the speech neither justified his action in resigning, nor is it likely to affect the Turkish situation in the slightest degree.
