The premier, in his exposition, said he advocated the same principles regarding the suffrage as did his immediate predecessor, adding that if it was impossible to carry out electoral reform with the present chamber, the Government would order new elections. FRANCHISE BILL TAKES ACTION FOR IS DEVISED AS UNBEATABLE BALLOT MACHINE

Courts. Government Jamming Import-dian Northern bill is that it was made necessary by the retirement from the Government of the Hon. Robert Rogers, who was supposed to have a good deal to do with the Conservative campaign fund.

The franchise bill was designed as an unbeatable piece of political machinery, if the soldier vote and the vote of the soldier women can be rallied for the Government, on the ground that the Liberals have been against conscription. Some of the reports that reach Ottawa indicate this vote may not be as solid as supposed but the Governas solid as supposed but the Go

Then when the evening session had been in progress a couple of hours, Sir Robert Borden, seconded by Hon. Dr. Reid, moved the third reading of the franchise bill.

Protests Unavailing.

Hon. Jacques Bureau protested on the ground that he had not had an opportunity of seeing the bill as reprinted. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, hurriedly taking his seat in the House, declared that the move on the part of the Government was totally unexpected.

"I thought it was understood," Sir Robert Borden replied, and "in the absence of any assurance of a third reading this week" he gave notice of closure. A moment later debate on the third reading was adjourned on the motion of Earnest Lapointe and the House rose.

No Statement on War Loan. During the question period Mr. Boivin asked the minister of finance when he would be prepared to give a statement to the House with regard to the new Canadian war loan. Sir Thomas White replied that he had no statement to make about this matter at present. The loan would probably be floated in the month of November.

Mr. Carvell again asked if the Government proposed to put potatoes on the free list.

Mr. Carvell suggested that potatoes, as well as wheat, could be put on the free list by an order-in-council.

W. F. Cockshutt, with the consent of the House, availed himself of the opportunity to refer to the unveiling of a monument to Dr. Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, which will take place at Brantford October 24, in the presence of his excellency the governorgeneral. He extended an invitation to Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier to be present on the occasion.

Housing the Speaker.

The House went into supply on customs estimates. An item of $3,345 for the speaker, "in lieu of residence," caused Mr. Carvell to inquire whether quarters were to be provided for the speaker in the new Parliament buildings, and led Sir Wilfrid Laurier to remark that it would be a great inconvenience to the speakers of both Houses if they were not provided with residential quarters in the new buildings.

Dr. Schaffner suggested getting opinions of past and present speakers on the question, and Speaker Rhodes expressed himself as in accord with the opinion expressed by the leader of the Opposition.

An item of $15,000 for stenographers for members, in addition to the $25,000 for this purpose in the main estimates, was passed, but not before Hon. William Pugsley expressed the opinion that it would be better to allow each member $300 or $400 extra per annum and let him pay his own stenographer.

Dr. Beland, prisoner of war in Germany, was provided for in a vote of $22,010 in payment of full sessional indemnity to members for days lost through absence members for days lost through absence caused by illness, public business or necessary farming operations, and Mr Carvell took exception to the provision for members engaged in farming.
