HON. FRED MAGEE-Pages 125, 132, Legislature Report

"He wanted to congratulate the Saint John Telegraph-Journal and the Times-Star on their enterprise of sending Messrs. Belding and McKenna to the west to give the people there is better insight into Maritime affairs. Two men better qualified for the work could not have been selected. The hon, member for Kings (McKenna) had contributed a very instructive speech to the debate, one which aby set forth conditions in the provinces-by-the-sea, and he hoped it would be read and re-nead by all the people.

"He had been interested in an editorial in The Telegraph-Journal which had touched upon some of the subjects that he had mentioned. He believed that the people appreciated the good work that these newspapers had been doing for the province recently. The message which Mr. McKenna and Mr. Belding had carried to the people of all parts of Canada was bound to bring results and he would suggest that some other newspapers take this broad patriotic stand and work for the progress and upbuilding of the provinces instead of trying to hoost one political party and abuse the others."

HON. DR. ROBERTS, Page 150, Legislature Report

"He would devote some attention to the New Brunswick situation "He would devote some attention to the New Brunswick situation and in that connection desired to congratulate the New Brunswick Publishing Company and the newspapers, Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star, together with the hon. member for Kings (McKenna) and A. M. Belding for the Canadian Mission which had been so successfully carried out. The data were of great value for both positive and negative revelations in regard to New Brunswick and every part of Canada. The information secured had changed his (Robert's) viewpoint entirely. It showed that there were four great sections in Canada and that each had problems to solve one set being about as important as another."

For the further information of the public, The Telegraph-Josephal herewith publishes a list of the gentlemen who composed the delegation to Ottawa. They are all well known persons in the business world and are supposed to exercise some influence at least in the affairs of Eastern Canada. The following, therefore, in Mr. Rand's opinion made themselves ridiculous by proceeding to Ottawa and calling the attention of the Federal Government to some matters which it was supposed held some interest to the people of this province:

"Premier E. H. Armstrong, of Noval Scotia, has wired that Mayor John Murphy, of Halifax, will head the Nova Scotia delegates, while Hon. George H. Murray, former Premier of that province, will attend. Premier P. J. Veniot will join the New Brunswick deputation."

However, they constitute but a small portion of a large company, because Mr. Rand, when he did get going on Tuesday night, seems to have attacked pretty nearly everybody and everything in and out of sight. It was a wild political orgy, and no doubt Mr. Rand himself was pleased. The Telegraph-Journal is satisfied to think that Mr. Rand's fellow Cabinet Ministers, who endorsed the attitude of this newspaper and expressed satisfaction at the results are first than does the American manufacturers rate the intelligence of the British theatre goer activities of this newspaper and expressed satisfaction at the results are compared to the satisfaction at the results. achieved, are quite as competent to express an intelligent opinion ican. as Mr. Rand. Therefore, this newspaper, with such striking, unsolicited, and wholehearted endorsation, refuses to either feel hurt MARRIAGE BUREAU or rebuked by Mr. Rand's onslaught.

In regard to Mr. Rand's statement that this paper is owned DE LUXE OPERATES or controlled by big interests or the New Brunswick Power Company, it is only necessary to state that the gentleman repeated statements frequently made in the past but which were treated with Furnishes Bride, Tells How to the contempt they deserved. Mr. Rand, however, occupies an honorable position and should accordingly be careful of his utterances. Consequently The Telegraph-Journal, for the first time, wishes to emphatically say that no big interest or combination of big interests control its destinies nor has the New Brunswick

GRAND FALLS.

"Mr. Rand charges me with a suddent turnabout on the question of the Grand Falls development. The Premier and most of the members of his cabinet know that this is not a correct statement. I have repeatedly pointed out the dangers of this project to them and have warned the Premier and a number of the members of his cabinet that unless this project to them and have warned the Premier and a number of the members of his cabinet that unless this project to them and have redress.

"A government that has doubled the debt of the province and trebled the taxation is not entitled any further to the confidence of the people of this province. If the Grand Falls project is and the next step is to sell the couple a book on "how to heappy though married." The wife is sold a book on "how to keep your husband" and the husband is asked to buy one on "how to keep your wife."

"Further, he has not the required in-formation in his possession to justify proceeding with this work. One of his own engineers came to Bathurst last winter and informed us regarding Vets. Stand For last winter and informed us regarding the Grand Falls development under Government ownership. He said they could give us power at Bathurst for from $30 to $35 per h. p. Now, we all know that Government enterprises always cost 100 to 400% more than the ways cost 100 to 400% more than the strike s ways cost 100 to 400% more than the estimates of their engineers. This would mean that Grand Falls power, under Government development, would have to be sold at between $60 and have to be sol under Government at between $60 and have to be sold at between $60 and $100 per h. p. to pay carrying charges. I verily believe that the power would cost such a high figure that it would not be possible, for New Brunswick industries to use it."

"I now charge the Government with proceeding with this work when they do not know definitely what it is going to cost. They do not know definitely whether they can sell it and, further, the cost of development would be so great it would absolutely paralize this province and add to the burlyze this province and add to the bur-dent of taxation to such an extent as to drive the balance of our population out of the province.

"I do not think Mr. Rand is an authority on this subject or that his opinions are worth anything on the Grand Falls project or the lumber business and I now wish to warn the people of the Province of New Bruns-wick that unless a stop is put to this development until it is placed on a safe and sound business basis, the province

SAFE THING TO DO "The Premier of the province o several occasions has made the state-ment that he has orders for about 70,000 h. p. to be used by four to five big interests in the province. If the Grand Falls is capable of developing this amount, the safe thing to do would this amount, the safe thing to do would be to let these four or five big interests put their own money into the development and thus save the taxpayers a heavy burden. Universal experience has been that public ownership costs, at least, double private ownership in the development of any enterprise. The reason is patent to all who know anything about figure. In private enterthing about finance. In private enter prise, the proprietors are spending their own money. In public ownership, the politicians are spending the people's money. It makes all the difference in CHARGES UNCALLED FOR "Mr. Rand's charge against the Frasers and the Bathurst Companies are, I think, quite uncalled for. These two companies, I would point out, are two of the largest employers of labor in the province. Both have reputations for fair and honest dealings and they have always paid 100 cents on the dollar. I hold no brief to speak for the Frasers, but I think I am safe in saying they are the largest employers of ing they are the largest employers of labor in this province and have always been known as men of honor and in tegrity.
