John Paris to Be Hanged on March 30

"You are sentenced to be hanged by the neck until you are dead within the confines of the county jail in the city and county of St. John on Thursday, March 30, 1922, and may God in His infinite pity have mercy on your soul."

These were the words which greated John Paris when he stood up yesterday afternoon shortly after five o'clock before Judge W. B. What is Indigestion and what causes it? As you know, solid food must be changed into a liquid by the stonach before it can be taken up as nourishment by the blood.

The stomach acts as a charm, It is but not upon me, as I am innocent of the crime, his second trial, after a session which prevented the crime of murdering Sadie McAuley."

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOF (London Advertiser.)

Reports coming in from several reliable sources indicate that business is improving. Not in a spectacular way, but gradually. One of the best-known furniture manufacturers this week that their plant was operating on a ten-hour perday basis, and that work had been quite steady since July. Prospects for the 1922 trade were quite satisfactory, judging from the volume of orders that were in sight now. Another firm, this one in London, making a number of metal and enamel lines, state they are trying right now to so shape their 1922 programme so that they can bring their costs down to the consumer. This firm claims that manufacturing costs are not appreciably less than they were in the last year, although it is easier to buy raw materials at a lower figure. Then there is the uninterrupted supply of material, which is quite an item, as it allows of planning for work in advance and also for quantity production. The real reason behind the effort of this company to get its selling prices down is that it wants to keep its customers coming into the market instead of staying out. The firm has a big business in Western Canada where low prices for high cost crops and crop failures have helped to reduce for the present the buying power of many of the people.

The firm that takes this view of the situation is building for the future. It is convinced that its goods are needed in Western Canada, and realizes as well that many who would buy are not doing so because their purchasing power is low. The nearer a company can come to meeting the buying possibilities of its clientele the nearer it is to actual sales and a retention of the customer's confidence.

It is very safe and very wise policy to get manufacturing costs down now, we have the province of the customer's confidence.

force of this great potential market has been largely cut off through the poor returns from the season's crops, and it is scarcely conceivable that the west will be an important influence in business adjustment until another crop is harvested in the fall.

Throughout the Dominlon, however, one of the chief obstacles of trade is the relatively high prices still demanded for manufactured goods. While reductions have been made, the price level is still well above normal, and the public with its reduced buying power is avoiding the market as far as possible. Responsibility for this condition is laid at the door of labor, which it is said is still commanding too high a rate of pay for its services. If this is true, and it undoubtedly is in part, the manufacturer has the key to the problem in his own grasp. Lower retail prices possible as a result of lower production costs, through greater efficiencies of operation, but more largely through lower wages, are essential before business recovery is possible.

With a sort, defecte the Gastric Juice which digests or dissolves solid food.

When food enters the stomach, the muscular coat squeezes and presses the food from end to end, or churns it, with the gastric juice to dissolve or digest it. But—if the stomach muscles are weak—or if the dissolving fluid is poor or insufficient—then food cannot be digested properly and you have Indigestion.
