A. W. ADAMS DEAD

Prominent Citizen Passed Away This Morning

While Not in Best of Health, He Had Been at His Office on Last Friday—A Man of Many Friends Who Was Most Highly Esteemed.

A host of friends in this city and throughout Canada will learn with regret of the death of Arthur Wellesly Adams, which occurred at the General Public Hospital at 4.40 o'clock this morning. He was one of the most prominent and most highly esteemed citizens of St. John.

Mr. Adams' health had not been of the best since early spring, but he was able to be about his business and was at his office so late as last Friday morning. Yesterday morning he was taken suddenly ill and lapsed into unconsciousness from which he did not recover. He was taken to the hospital yesterday afternoon at two o'clock and passed quietly away this morning.
Mr. Adams was a son of the late William Henry and Julia Anne Adams and was fifty-nine years of age. He was a well known figure in the business and social life of the city. He was in business first on the North Wharf with his brother, Thomas S. Adams and on the death of the latter, about twenty years ago, he continued the business. He had carried it on with success, lately in Nelson street, and had won a name for himself in the shipping world and earned a high reputation for honesty and integrity in business dealings which gained for him the respect and esteem of all with whom he had dealings. He was a fine type of citizen and his passing is a distinct loss to the community. Mr. Adams was of generous impulses, and did many acts of kindness that few knew of. He was the soul of honor and gave freely of his time and goods to the poor and to charity. He was a life-long Liberal in politics and was a member of the Anglican church, president of the Wiggins Male Orphans Institution, a director of the Fernhill Cemetery Company, a vestryman of Trinity Church and the secretary of the Union Club Company. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias and Masonic fraternity.

SAD PLIGHT OF ST. JOHN MOTHER

An Instance of Conditions Met With by Benevolent Organization Workers.

Last April, in this city, a man died. His wife was left destitute in a delicate state of health, and with a little daughter about four years old. Two weeks ago another baby was born. Within a week after its birth the mother was out scrubbing for she had now two mouths to feed. This morning between ten and eleven o'clock she appealed to a member of the Children's Aid Society, whose agent was at once called in conference. The woman trembled as she talked, and on enquiry it was learned she had had no breakfast. She could get work if she went and worked when it was pointed out to her that for her children's sake she should take them and go for a time to the municipal home.

DOUGLAS AVENUE LEVEL CROSSING

poles in Visar street, that the street shown on the plan had not been taken over by the city. He moved that the council take no action in the matter. Carried.

Commissioner Thornton thought that the city should consider carefully any agreements made with the telephone company as he had been refused the installation of an additional 'phone under a previous agreement with the company.

Commissioner Bullock reported several poles in Duke street near the Victoria school were leaning badly.

Douglas Avenue.

Mr. Jones reported that in preparation for the paving of Douglas avenue next year the water and sewerage department had installed new service pipes and also several new three-way fire hydrants. He submitted a plan of the city engineer for the installing of service pipes to the vacant lots, showing the introduction of the service pipes every forty feet along the frontage. There are about sixty lots of this size to be served and the approximate cost of the work is placed at $16,500, of which about $5,800 is to be borne by the property owners, or about $100 for each service pipe. Mr. Jones said he was prepared to go ahead with the work at any time. Commissioner Frink said he had made arrangements for the storage of granite blocks in Douglas avenue so that the work might be proceeded with next year without delay. It was decided to take the matter up again on next Thursday when the city engineer would be asked to explain a blue print which he had submitted.
