IS IT MURDER? SHOT THROUGH THE HEART.

Robert A. Smith of Newmarket Found Lying Dead in His Cellar.

NEWMARKET, Ont., Feb. 27.—Robert A. Smith, merchant, recently married, was found dead in his cellar last night shot through the heart. He was preparing to follow his wife to a social. When she returned home she found all the doors locked. Some neighbors, however, climbed in the house by an upper window. Smith was found lying on his back, with hands and legs outstretched. His pockets were turned inside out and a quantity of loose silver scattered on the floor. His watch chain was wrenched from his wrist but not removed. The house was ransacked and Mrs. Smith's personal effects of contents. Near the body was a small revolver. A small dog leading to the cellar from the outside staircase was found to be removed. From the surroundings it appears to be a case of foul murder. A post-mortem examination is being held. The inquest takes place this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Naturalization in Maine. A decision which will interest hundreds of judges. Judge Libby of the Maine Superior Court was applied to by an individual who had filed his declaration of intention in the Lewiston Municipal court and was desirous of being limited to full citizenship. The application was made by his attorney and accompanying it was a certificate of his intention with the seal and signature of Judge Libby. He declined to entertain the application. He stated that municipal courts are not competent to take any action on declarations of intention or to complete the naturalizing process, and also observed that this ruling is the result of careful consideration of the question and that he knew of at least one other case where a similar question had arisen. He is also reported to have said that courts should not be asked to do what the legislature has not done.

A Maine paper says: "The ruling is the most important that has been made in Maine for years," and points out that the ruling in the municipal courts and the thousands so naturalized would have no further privilege of American citizenship.
