CHILDREN

Are always liable to sudden and severe colds, to croup, sore throat, lung fever, etc. Remedies, to be effective, must be administered without delay. Nothing is better adapted for such emergencies than Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It soothes the inflamed membrane, promotes expectoration, relieves coughing, and induces sleep. The prompt use of this medicine has saved innumerable lives, both of young and old.

"One of my children had croup. The case was attended by our physician, and was supposed to be well under control. One night I was startled by the child's hard breathing, and on going to it found it

Strangling.

It had nearly ceased to breathe. Realizing that the child's alarming condition had become possible in spite of the medicine it had taken, I reasoned that such remedies would be of no avail. Having a part of a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, I gave the child three doses, at short intervals, and anxiously waited results. From the moment the Pectoral was given, the child's breathing grew easier, and in a short time it was sleeping quietly and breathing naturally. The child is alive and well to-day, and I do not hesitate to say that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved its life."—C. J. Wooldridge, Wortham, Texas.

THE PRICE OF SUGAR.

One of the sections of the McKinley tariff which went into operation yesterday abolished all duties on raw sugars or sugars not above 16 Dutch standard entering the United States, and reduced the duties on sugars above 16 Dutch standard to half a cent per lb. This is a reduction in the duty on refined sugar of about 2½ cents per lb. and is likely to make a corresponding reduction in the price of that article. Yesterday the prices of wholesale grocers in Boston were $4.75 for granulated and $4.81 for fine and prices are more likely to fall than to rise. It is this reduction in the sugar duties which [illegible] arrangements with the West Indies, for these islands send most of their sugar to the United States and they live in great uncertainly as to their future, because of the following clause in the McKinley tariff act which will not become operative until the 1st January next:—

"That with a view to secure reciprocal trade with countries producing the following articles, and for this purpose, and after the first day of January, 1892, whenever and so often as the President shall be satisfied that the Government of any country producing and exporting sugar, molasses, coffee, tea and hides, raw and uncured or any of such articles, imposes duties or other exactions upon the agricultural or other products of the United States, whith, in view of the free introduction of such sugar, molasses, coffee, tea and hides into the United States, he may deem to be reciprocally unequal and unreasonable, he shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, to suspend, by proclamation to that effect, the provisions of this act relating to the free introduction of such sugar, molasses, coffee, tea and hides, the production of such country, for such time as he shall deem just."

It will be seen that the President of the United States by virtue of this clause acquires enormous powers, should he choose to exercise them, and may of his own free will destroy the whole export trade in sugars of the British West India Islands to the United States. It is therefore not surprising that the governments of these Islands are disposed to be somewhat cautious in their movements.

In the meantime it is probable there will be considerable pressure on the government of Canada to modify or reduce the existing duties on sugar. Last year $2,851,547 of the revenue of Canada was derived from sugar most of it being imported for refining purposes. The total duties obtained last year in Canada from raw sugar and melado reached the large sum of $2,628,244, the average rate of duty being about 1¾ cents per lb. If this duty is retained the price of sugar will be much less in the United States than it is in Canada; if it is abolished the revenue will suffer very seriously and the amount will have to be made up in some other way. This is the problem which confronts the Finance Minister, but we have no doubt that a satisfactory solution of it will be discovered.

THE UNFORTUNATE GLOBE.

The Globe of last evening contained an editorial which began as follows:—

It is quite true, as stated in the Sun, that the Globe inserted, without orders, and without any prospect of ever being paid for it, an advertisement of the finance department of Canada relating to the new 3½ per cent. inscribed stock. Not only did the Globe do this, but it called attention in its editorial column to the advertisement.

The paper which made the statement to which the Globe refers above was not the Sun but the GAZETTE. The Sun copied the paragraph which appeared in this journal and credited it, so that the Globe cannot even set up the paltry excuse that it was ignorant of its origin. The amusing feature of the whole affair is the childish attempt of the Globe to ignore the GAZETTE, which far exceeds it, not only in circulation but in advertising patronage. The Globe started with the full determination never to mention the name of the GAZETTE and it has succeeded in carrying out that programme although with great inconvenience to itself. We are in hopes that the Globe will continue firm to the end in this resolve and we can assure our readers that the end of the disloyal and worthless sheet they call the Globe is not so very far distant. If the Globe is alive this day two years it will be either under new management or it will be in such a moribund condition that its funeral can be announced.

THE GAZETTE'S PROGRESS.

There are, we understand, certain persons in St. John who do not regard with any degree of favor the articles in which the GAZETTE from time to time informs its readers of its growth and prosperity. They profess to look upon such statements as passing the bounds of modesty and beneath the dignity of journalism. To this view we have this simple answer to make that a newspaper has a right to give such information to its patrons, especially its advertisers, as it is necessary for them to know and that as this information in regard to the GAZETTE is not likely to be given by any other journal in St. John the GAZETTE is right in making it public. If the GAZETTE exercises this right more than other newspapers it is because it is able to do so by reason of its more rapid progress. If the Telegraph and Globe told the truth about themselves they would have to relate a sad tale of decreased circulation and lessened revenues. The GAZETTE alone among the newspapers of St. John is able to boast of a continued growth which has never experienced a check.

The street sales of a paper are probably the best indication of its popularity that can be taken, for when people like a paper they buy it and when they do not like a paper they neglect to read it. The street sales of the GAZETTE for the three months just ended have been the largest in its history for any similar period and its street sales for March have been far greater than for any previous month since the paper was started. Comparing the street sales for January, February and March 1891 with the street sales for the same months of 1890 there is an increase of 82 per cent. Comparing the street sales of March with the street sales of February there is an increase of 31 per cent, and comparing them with the street sales of January there is an increase of 39 per cent. The street sales for the six months which ended 31st March exceeded the street sales for the six months which ended 30th Sept. by no less than 36 per cent although the latter were summer months while the former were winter months. The streets sales for the twelve months ending 31st March 1891 exceeded the street sales for the twelve months ending 31st March 1890 by 76 per cent. These figures are absolutely correct and have never been equalled by any other St. John paper.

Closely allied to the growth of circulation is the growth of advertising. Let any one look at an issue of the GAZETTE and he will see in a moment how crowded its columns are with advertisements of the very best class. Yesterday the GAZETTE contained 595 inches of advertising, while the Globe which pretends to rival it and which had the whole business to itself three years ago had but 477 inches.

"want" class, the Globe has been fairly distanced by the GAZETTE and the increase in these has been very great as will be seen by the following statement:—

TO LET AND WANT ADVERTISEMENTS.

Quarter ended	1889.	1890.	1891.
31st March	787	1985	3294
30th June	1727	2363
30th Sept.	969	2338
31st Dec.	1463	2408
Total for year	4946	9094

When the total for the current year comes to be made up it will probably be found to exceed the total for last year by as large a per centage as last year exceeded 1889. These facts and figures should be of interest to the readers of the GAZETTE who are pleased to see it prosper.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

The statement made by Mr. D. L. Hanington in the House, yesterday, that the editor of the Telegraph, Mr. J. E. B. McCready is a candidate for the position of Queen's printer cannot be true. What self respecting newspaper editor would give up his position for the paltry office of Queen's printer, becoming a mere clerk in the provincial secretary's department.

The Globe is greatly pleased because it thinks that the building of the Aroostock Railway is likely to injure St. John. It says:—

"The Aroostook railway, by whatever route it is built, will connect the upper portion of Maine, whose natural outlet to the sea is now by the St. John river, with Bangor, and will substitute an important artificial outlet for the present natural one. It will have the effect of diverting a large trade from its present channels. Following the opening up of the railroad portable saw mills will be placed in the Maine lumber region and the raw or the manufactured product will go directly from the east to the west. A great many of the advantages secured in St. John by the Ashburton treaty will, with a new condition of things, no longer be advantages, and business here cannot fail to be affected by the carrying out of this project.

We believe the Globe will be disappointed in its hopes. The lumber of Aroostook will still follow the natural route to St. John, especially as this port is so much more convenient for the shipment of lumber than Bangor.

The Office Didn't Find the Man.

A woman was in charge of a saloon on Russell street the other day when a man entered, looking around for the husband, and, finding the coast clear, he tenderly observed:

"Madam, I have been appointed a committee to wait upon your husband."

"Yes."

"To see if he would accept a nomination."

"Yes."

"We have decided to run him for alderman of this ward."

"Yes."

"And I believe it is usual on occasions of this sort to greet the committee—receive them liberality—in fact, set up the beer."

"Yes" she replied, as she went on with her knitting, "but you'd better see my husband."

"Oh, certainly. Where can he be found?"

"About six miles out on the Centre Line road."

"Coming in soon?"

"Hardly; he's out there in a burying ground. He's been out there seven years."

"Ah! I see. And in that case he probably won't accept?"

"Probably not."

"And the best thing for the committee to do is to retire as gracefully as possible and as dry as a bone. The committee retires."
