BABY AND L. BY FANNIE M. EDWARDS.

Lying among the pillows, so warm and restful. and white,
Baby and I are dreaming, while fades the evenand toes—
Grave blue eyes, silken hair, and the cunningest baby note.

Now I gaze on her quiet visage-ministure image of one Dearer to me than all beside, truest beneath He kissed me good bye one morning, so young and brave, and strong! So full of life—so full of love—so full of hope

Oh, why did I live at even, when they brought me the fatal word!
My star of hope sank in despair when the horrible truth I fleard! For they brought him back in a casket; his dear form silent and cold! This was just two months ago and baby is one week old.

Sleep, helpless babe, on my pillow ! sleep in unconscious rest;
Would I could snatch you to me, and smother
you on my breast!
Would I could end my heart throbs; and together we would go And find the love death stole from us, two

I've taught my own and made them wise;
I've watched them well and kept them pure;
My care the greed of wolves defice;
My walls are high, my gates secure,
I need no help.

Alas! my child has climbed the wall, Is out among the wolves so fierce,
(I dreamed not harm could him befall),

But now their fangs his flesh will pierce—
Help I help! help! help!

. * Carrest * as page 1 * a 1 * a Think not the Lord will spare thy child, If thou hast seen the wolves go by, Nor warned thy neighbor's son, beguiled To pitfalls where he sure must die For want of help.

Or here, or there, the Lord will mete To thee the measure of thy deeds;
Works make the prayer of faith complete,
To help thy neighbor in his needs,
God doth of thee require.

A SPRAY OF APPLE-BLOOM.

Sweeter to me than rarer flowers
This.spray of pinky apple-bloom,
That sheds throughout these morning hours
Its delicate perfume.

Beneath me, like a foamy sea
The pear-tree blossoms toss their snow;
A robin sings exultantly
Upon his perch below.

I mark the stately elm, whose boughs Are feathered with the fairest green, The maples, where the wrens carouse, The lilac's budding screen;

I note the nodding wealth of grass, Dewed with the drops of opel rain, Syringas stirred by winds that pass, The ivy's slender skein;

Yet naught so holds my heart in snare As doth this spray of apple-bloom, Freighting the amber morning air With delicate perfume.

From it I glean a prophecy
Of joy for summer's golden day,
When there fulfillment fair shall be Of all the hopes of May.

—Clinton Scollard.

> THE CLAY CHERUB. BY ELILABETH AKERS.

What is immortal? Dreamers speak of love Outliving mortal breath, And conquering fate and circumstance and death;
And wise men preach, and poets sing in rhyme Of faith and fame which years cannot dis-prove,

And hope which laughs at time.
And yet, the veriest trifles oft oullast
All these, and leave them in the misty past,
Proving how empty is their boast above
A silken shred, a flower, or faded glove.

* * * These trifles, which we call Mere nothings of a day,
Last when our soul's best treasures pass away; Beside the life-time of a book-pressed flower, Love s fond forever dwindles brief and small, And fame is for an hour;
Joy's promise fades before a rose's red,
And clay endures when youth and hope

Shadows outlast our trust, as years befall, But human sorrow long outlives them all,

WORMS.

ORMS may be suspected to be present when a child looks pa'e and grows emaciated, when his belly swells and becomes hard, a gnawing, pungent or twisting pain being felt in the stemsch or about the umbilicus. The specific is usually precarluus—at times vorac'ous, the breath is fetid, and the bowels deranged, being alternately purged or costive, and much mucous passed in the stools. There is commonly packing of the nose or irritation felt in the rectum; the sleep becomes unquiet, he is subject to start or suddenly awake from slumber; grinding of the teeth is a symptom of en observed; the breathing may be hurried or difficult, and the cough, which so often attends, is in general dry, and of a convulsive or suffocating kind. Vomiting, biccough, diarrhoca and and bloody stools often accompany their presence.

When the above symptoms are noticeable, the proof is concluded the twoms are the cause, and the sconer they are removed the better for the bealth of the thild. Procure at once a box of HASIAGTON'S WORM LOZESGES, and use them according to directions. They speedily destroy the Worms, and expel them from the body without the necessity of administeric g unpleasant doses of Senna or Castor Oil. They are parely vegetable; contain nothing injurious, and will not harm the youngest child. Be sure that you get HANINGTON's.
