SECOND EDITION
ROWLEY WINS IN THE BREACH OF PROMISE.

Judge McLeod, After Reviewing the Evidence at Some Length This Afternoon, Rendered a Verdict in Favor of the Defendant.

Quite a number of interested spectators assembled in circuit court this afternoon to hear the judgment in the Gibbons vs. Rowley breach of promise case, which was postponed from last Saturday. At 3 o'clock His Honor Judge McLeod took his seat, and after a brief review of the case, stated that he was compelled, after looking carefully into the evidence to give judgment in favor of the defendant. The evidence had shown that plaintiff had attached to her agreement of marriage a condition that the defendant's money be made over to her before marriage. There was no evidence to show that this clause had been agreed to by the defendant. Hence the contract had no force.
He reviewed the case briefly. In Sept., 1904, at the home of the plaintiff's sister, the defendant first asked plaintiff to marry him. The first time she declined. The next morning she again declined his offer. That day she went to Boston but they kept up a correspondence. The letters written by the plaintiff were of a proper character for a young woman to write. She returned home in Sept., 1905. Again he proposed to her, but she did not accept him and returned to Boston. She wrote him on the 6th of October and again on 18th October, apparently in reply to letters from him. She again wrote him on Oct. 19th. In that letter she said she would accept his offer of marriage. In that letter she attached a clause which the counsel for the defence said made the contract of no force. In that letter she said she would marry him but she could not occupy the same room with him at night. His answer to this seemed to be agreeable and in the letter he sent six dollars. He told her of his love for her in most of his letters. In her letters there was no talk of love but she told him how much she respected him. On her way home the plaintiff wrote a letter to him in which she said she would marry him but she could not occupy the same room with him at night. He visited her at her sister's home the next day. He would say that there was some question as to whether this contract was legal, since there was a clause attached to it. However, had the marriage taken place the husband would be entitled to all his marital rights. The plaintiff arrived home on Tuesday, Nov. 14th, 1905. The defend-

CONTRACT FOR THE DRY DOCK WILL BE GIVEN TO A MONTREAL FIRM.

George Robertson Says the Agreement Will be Signed in a Few Days and Work Will Start in August—The City Asked to Settle About the Twenty Year Subsidy.

The St. John dry dock seems to be coming nearer. At this afternoon's meeting of the common council a communication from the Imperial Dry Dock Company will be read, asking that the council give effect to the resolution passed some time ago, changing the conditions of the dock subsidy from forty to twenty years.
It is understood that this is desired at once, in order that a contract may be immediately entered into, for the construction of the dock and that the articles of agreement are now being drawn up.
It will be remembered that George Robertson, in arranging the finances of the dock company, at first received guarantees of several subsidies on forty year terms, but that later he saw that a shorter term would be more advisable in making his contracts. Accordingly he requested the different governments to change the conditions and this has been done. By a resolution the common council agreed to do as Mr. Robertson asked.
Now that the council have decided to do this morning stated that it was true that the contract is now being drawn up. Attorney General Pugsley is now working on the agreement and it is expected that in a very short time the contract will be signed.
When asked what contracting firm the contract is to be given to Mr. Robertson replied that he was not at liberty to give the name of the firm at present, but that he would say that it is a Montreal firm of high standing, and one which contracts to do every part of the work.
In reply to the question whether the

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning a Tuesday drunk and a man arrested on the holiday were given the option of paying $4 or going to jail for ten days. They paid.
Thomas Cobham and Wm. Hudson were before the court having been reported by Policeman Gosselin for allowing their horses to run at large and free of charge on the grass on market place, Carleton. The owners of the stock were given $2 each.
The case against a boy named Goldstein charged with striking Harry O'Donnell on the forehead with a stone was resumed yesterday afternoon, when Officer Corbett and Officer Greer were called to the stand and being telephoned for. The plaintiff, according to Corbett, identified the defendant as the boy who had thrown the stone. Officer Greer said O'Donnell had not denied that the defendant threw the stone. There were two boys were in the north end police station, Goldstein told the policeman that O'Donnell had thrown a stone at him and he said he had not been a strong boy he would have been dead.
O'Donnell when asked by the magistrate if what the policeman said was true, declared that he never identified the defendant as the one who threw the stone. He also denied that he had told the magistrate last Friday that Goldstein had thrown a stone at him.
His honor in view of the stand the plaintiff had taken, thought it would be better to adjourn the case and call more witnesses, as it looked as though O'Donnell was perjurying himself. The two boys were remanded to jail, but allowed their liberty on deposit of $20. O'Donnell was let out on a $20 deposit.
This morning the case was again taken up about eleven o'clock. J. King Kelly appeared for O'Donnell, but the latter did not put in an appearance so Mr. Kelly was barred from examination of the witnesses.
There were two witnesses called. Alexander Clark testified that on Friday on Murray street about 12 o'clock he told defendant to keep away for a few days as there had been some trouble between defendant and O'Donnell. Shortly after a boy named Cunningham came for witness and said that O'Donnell was being killed with stones. He then saw O'Donnell chase the defendant about the yard. The two were clinched when he first saw them but were not striking each other. William McCann, sworn, said that about 10 minutes past one defendant came to the barn and said that Mrs. Kennedy wished a load of wood. O'Donnell came up behind defendant, threw him down, and tramped his foot on defendant's stomach. He then caught defendant by the hair of the head and shook him. O'Donnell took a stick and asked defendant to use it on him, but defendant refused to make the assault. Witness did not see O'Donnell assaulted.

Reports of Officers Received—Membership Increase Has Not Been Great.

The 23rd annual session of the high court of New Brunswick Independent Order of Foresters, was commenced this morning at St. Andrews for the first time. In reviewing the work for the year High Chief Ranger Duncan G. Lingley in his report said he made 42 visits during the year, installed officers at twelve courts and spoke at six public meetings. A new hall was dedicated at Burt's Corner, Keswick. He suggested that an advertising booth be placed in the St. John exhibition. He invited an investigation of the Foresters' affairs in view of the recent upheaval in the insurance world. The total gain in membership is 7,840, and the surplus, with a gain of $1,690, is now over $10,000,000.

A NICE OARSMAN.

The prizes for the winning oarsmen in the four-oared race at Fredericton in the handsome gold watches, "Bud" Nice who won the single shell race in such a surprising manner also got a gold watch. Nice certainly opened the eyes of aquatic followers in his race yesterday. He is a young man not yet twenty-one, of good build and has a clean, strong sweep of his oars that is admirable. When it is taken into consideration that he has not yet rowed a dozen times in a single shell, his victory over Coates and Ross is all the more wonderful. Great things are expected from this West End.

CANADA LOSES TO TRINITY HALL IN HENLEY REGATTA.

But the Argonauts Put Up One of the Best Races Ever Seen There—Belgium Crew Will Row in Finals.

HENLEY, Eng., July 4.—In the semi-final for the grand challenge cup today Trinity Hall, Cambridge, beat the Argonauts (Canada) by half a length. Time 7 minutes, 9 seconds. The club Nautique de Gand, (Belgium) beat Trinity Hall, Cambridge, by two lengths. Time 7 minutes, 23 seconds. The Belgians and Trinity Hall will thus contest in the final for the grand challenge cup tomorrow.
The Argonauts-Trinity Hall race was a magnificent one. For the first quarter of a mile the boats' noses were level. Trinity Hall then slowly forced to the front. Half the distance was reached in 2 minutes 25 seconds. The Canadians then were hardly a quarter of a length in the rear and making desperate efforts to overhaul their opponents. But the repeated spurts of the visitors proved unavailing. The Trinity Hall crew always responded with a slight quickening of their stroke and held the lead to the end after one of the best races ever witnessed at Henley.
