Around the City

Interesting Lecture. Rev. John Jamieson, missionary from the eastern part of London lectured in Centenary church school house last evening on his work among the people of the White Chapel district. Mr. Jamieson told many interesting stories of life among these people. His work was directed especially towards the children and through their parents had been greatly helped. The schoolroom was well filled and those present greatly enjoyed the address. Mr. Jamieson was in the White Chapel district at the time of the Jack the Ripper outrages. He attributed the conditions in the East End of London to high rents and the poor accommodation.

FASHION'S FAIREST FANCIES IN FRENCH AND AMERICAN MILLINERY AT MARR'S

Rich variety of latest effects in Fall and Winter Headwear for ladies, misses and children—No advance in prices. The dash and brilliancy of French millinery notes for fall and early winter find fitting expression in the select assemblage of Paris hats and millinery accessories shown by the Marr Millinery Company, whose exhibit, in point of beauty and vastness, exceeds, by far, that of any previous season. The prices, it is interesting to note, will not be advanced, as the entire stock was secured shortly before the war, the Paris products having been purchased July 22nd, and the magnificent line of Swiss ribbons obtained in Basle early in August. American millinery, which is also strongly in evidence in the Marr display, claims particular attention this year, the selections having been made with unusual care by four of the firms most experienced milliners, who were fortunate in procuring the choicest offerings of New York's leading millinery producers. Velvets, silks and all feminine headwear accessories are shown in almost endless variety, each conforming to the latest decrees of the highest fashion authorities. Those who seek newest and most exclusive effects in the realm of millinery will be more than repaid by an early visit to Marr's.

MANY WORKING IN INTERESTS OF RED CROSS

Society Doing Excellent Work Securing Articles For Soldiers—All Organizations Helping.

Another meeting of the women members of the Red Cross Society took place yesterday afternoon in Stone Church school room. The thanks of the society was tendered all those who are not members but have helped in the work. Many have already been thanked by note but the hope was expressed that in the future the names of all those contributing would be published with the report of the meeting. Mrs. McAvity reported that she had sent copies of the following letter to different organizations asking them to join with the Red Cross Society in carrying on the work. The letter sent out was as follows: St. John, N. B., Sept. 11, 1914. Dear fellow-workers: Under existing circumstances, the "Red Cross Society" earnestly desire your co-operation in attempting to supply the needs of the present emergency. We all want to do the work, which will be the most needed, so, to prevent overlapping, our executive committee is now arranging a "concerted plan" which when completed, we hope will give thorough satisfaction and be worthy of our united efforts. Kindly get the wish of your society or club, make a choice from among the following needs, and without fail, notify us of your decision, whether favorable or not, and use our "Red Cross Branch" as an authorized channel to get a good contribution from St. John women to the "Red Cross Depot," Quebec, as quickly as possible. Our first box of hospital supplies has just been sent forward, and we are now in preparation for others, which must quickly follow. Would you be willing as a society or club, to contribute material and work, making your own choice from among the following articles? We prefer that you should make a few things in large quantity, thus obtaining more frequent completion of boxes, which will be forwarded at once. If not possible to undertake work, will your society or club raise and contribute money to furnish large quantities of supplies that cannot be made? Kindly contribute such funds through "Red Cross Branch."

INTRODUCING FINGER PRINT SYSTEM HERE

E. Foster of Dominion Police Department in city—Great Aid in Catching Criminals. E. Foster, of the Dominion Police Department, is making a trip through the Maritime Provinces in connection with the adoption of the finger print identification system for criminals. This system has been adopted in most western provinces, but not as a regular thing in the Maritime Provinces. The object is to have local police officers take finger prints of those arrested on criminal charges, and send the prints to Ottawa where they kept on file. A large number of such prints have been secured, and in many cases the Ottawa bureau has been able to inform local police officers whether a prisoner has a criminal record in other places. Mr. Foster leaves for Halifax today to see the attorney general of Nova Scotia.

BELIEVES HARD PART OF WAR YET TO COME

H. N. Earle of London, England, Gives Reasons Why the Conflict Will Be Long.

"The battle with Germany is only beginning," said H. N. Earle of London, England, who is at the Royal. "This spurt the allies are making now will only bring them in contact with the real fight which has to be made. Germany has had a million men employed in the invasion of France, but she will be able to oppose probably three million men against an invasion of her own territory. The Germans have certainly proven their mettle as fighters, and when they are fighting on the defensive the Allies will have their hands full. "According to reports in your evening papers speculating on what the Allies demand from Germany, you might think all was over but the shouting, but the real war is yet to come. I left England the day before war was declared, and a short time before that I saw a review of the fleet and had a talk with General French. The English military authorities were expecting war then and they were of the opinion that it would be a long conflict. "Letters I have received from home say the authorities have torn down buildings all along the east coast of England and set up great guns against the possibility of anything happening to the British fleet."
