Signaller Burgess is the younger son of the late Randolph Richard Burgess, who was an official of the C. P. R., and who was a member of the original Burgess family of this place.

The older and only other son, Charles Burgess, went overseas in the early stages of the war, and after doing his bit has been in hospital for some months suffering with fever, but is now convalescent and is employed for a time in a convalescent hospital in England. ## "How Is It That The Man-Next-Door Always Wears Better Clothes Than You Do?"

JOHN'S wife had just finished reading an English & Scotch Woollen Co. advertisement. "John," she began, "How is it that the man-next-door always wears better clothes than you do?" John smiled — "Simply because he is more extravagant!" was his easy reply. "You see, he has his clothes made-to-measure, and I never felt that I could afford made-to-measure clothes." But John was wrong. And Mary knew it. "Of course his clothes are made-to-measure, they plainly show that," was her reply. "They are English & Scotch Woollen Co. tailored clothes costing $15." "How do you know?" demanded John. "Because his wife told me so the other day," said Mary. "And she actually gloated about the Fifteen Dollar price!" "Hm!" said John, and the next day he visited one of our conveniently located tailor shops.

Uncle Dick's Chat With the Children

My Dear Kiddies:—

Again the examinations are nearly every member of Children's Corner is working hard to pass the various tests. I trust when results are given, it will be that the C. C. members have done very well. After the work sent in for the different tests, I have formed the opinion that the boys and girls who read regularly do splendidly. I am sure that the same will be true to their school work. Let me know how you succeed, as I am interested in the progress made.

A great number of well-written letters have come in, in response to the request for same two or three ago. I published one last week, and am publishing several more this week which I hope you will enjoy, so letting you have the story I spoke last week, regarding a girl who was the means of saving the school children from a fire. I shall write the conclusion next Saturday's page, and I will see how the whole story developed based upon the suggestion which I gave.

I have received further matter on the subject as to these should be reported for man air raids or not, but so have come in speaking in the news. Will some Kiddies write why there should be different assistance given another written again in another column.

One of the Kiddies has written reminding me that as a great of boys and girls have been recently, it might be a good have them write and give the fence as to how they progress the result of their work. I have and tell me what you did and vegetables are coming up, it would also be interesting to the experience of those boys and girls who have gone to different assist the farmers, during the months. Let me know how the work and where you are.

This week I am simply asking the letters received, and wearing them fully, as I wish to have several stories written, as well as me, as at when you are working so hard exams it is nice to have something to turn to as a little for the mind, as all work play makes even a dull day.

You may remember that some ago, I wrote you regarding a search of all parts of the little fellow have strayed that direction and been lost might be able to locate him, turn him to his anxious parents of the boys, having been up most the others at the starting point, set off on their own search. Presently they came a handkerchief, some ten paces the roadside, and making a the ground proceeded on their. Some half hour afterwards traced their steps and to the prize found another scout sign beside the one which they had. This sign told them that some scouts engaged in the search had come across their mark, had one saying that they had got certain direction.

The lesson to be derived from an incident is this. First, boys used their eyes, and for handkerchief. Then the others were evidently keeping such watch, that in spite of darkness thick undergrowth, in a large they discovered the sign left by first two. Both companies of ers knew how to use their eyes, thus were able to assist each other.

As you are at school, home use your eyes boys and girls have been given you for a purpose make best use of them. They get older you will be surprised how much you can observe, you have turned into useful knowledge since you were young.

I remember of once seeing a picture of a place which time I had never visited. It was some three thousand miles away where I then was. A few afterwards, although I had not expected to ever see the place, I found myself right town, pictures of which I had less familiar with my surroundings through having taken notice what the place looked like in future.

In such a way you will have fun to observe places, faces, hundred other things which events will prove as to whether really used your eyes or not.

I have several little surprises for you in a week or two so I will not forget to watch for you the Corner.

With best wishes to all the From your
