WEARERS OF BADGES ARE LIABLE TO FINE

Military Orders State Service Badges Must Only Be Worn By Those To Whom They Are Issued - Immediate Action To Be Taken.

Recent military orders regarding war service badges are likely to affect the holder to an extent of a fine, if such badges are being worn by women or others to whom they have not been duly issued. Badges are those emblems awarded soldiers for service overseas, and are not those bearing insignia of battalions, such as may be purchased in jewelry stores. Classes of badges awarded soldiers for duty in England only, whereas another distinct and entirely different badge is awarded for service in France.

All those who wear these badges, other than those entitled to do so, are liable to a fine, which a recent order in council quotes: "Those wearing any war service badge, when not entitled to the same in accordance with a recent order-in-council, and render themselves liable to the penalty of a fine which are to be taken to draw this matter to the attention of all concerned."

In many cases women especially mothers and sisters of returning heroes wear these badges, especially the latter for services in France of their relatives. In doing so they believe they are doing good, but from above regulation bans further use of any badge for an ornament. However, any insignia badges bearing the motto of battalions do not come under this order, but only the latter class.

The maximum penalty imposed is as high as $200 fine, and is to be rigidly enforced in the future.

WILLIAM MORRIS BOUND TO ENLIST

Drug Traveller, Failing To Get Into British Army, Leaves For United States To Become Soldier For Uncle Sam.

William Morris, of 485 Washington Avenue, Philadelphia, was in the city yesterday. Mr. Morris was in Prince Edward Island travelling for a medical firm in Philadelphia, and resigning his position came here to enlist in the British army.

Upon arrival here his papers showed him to be an American citizen, and therefore he could not be taken on the strength of the British forces according to new regulations. He decided to journey home and sign up in the American Army in Philadelphia, so accordingly left last evening on the Boston train.

Last year Mr. Morris was in the American army at Camp Fort Belknap, near New York city, but being kicked by a horse in the knee cap was discharged soon afterwards, but was sane enough to try again. Speaking to the Standard he said, "If I don't get into the army this time, I might be able to get overseas as an ambulance driver, as I know automobiles like a boy knows his A. B. C."

R. Clark, the West Side contractor.

Mr. Clark has recently received a few medals won by his son and which he prizes very much.

THE SANITARIUM AT RIVER GLADE

Dr. Mackay Was in the City Yesterday—Dr. D. A. Carmichael Appointed Superintendent.

Dr. Mackay, Fredericton, was a visitor in the city yesterday accompanied by Capt. G. Boyd. Speaking of the Jordan sanitarium at River Glade, Dr. Mackay said that in about a week's time patients will be received for treatment in tubercular cases of great development, especially men who were soldiers at a former time. However, civilians were to be treated also but in an entirely separate portion of the building. At present 23 civil patients were undergoing treatment at the sanitarium, and when all the equipment recently arrived has been placed in commission about 50 patients could be looked after.

Dr. D. A. Carmichael, former medical superintendent of the City Sanitarium at Grandview, has been appointed superintendent of the institution. He is a most efficient man in this work, having been medical superintendent at the Freeport Sanitarium, Kitchener, Ont., for nine years. Lieut. Leslie, a former Nova Scotia man, was recently made administrator for the institution, in charge of disciplinary regulations.

REV. DR. ALFRED HALL SENIOR CHAPLAIN TO THE ROYAL NAVY is in the City in Interest of Navy League—Distributed 3,000 Nelson Shields in Canada—Addressed Over Half Million People.

The Rev. Dr. Alfred Hall of Toronto, senior chaplain to the Royal Navy, and Merchant Marine Institutes of Canada, who is well known in this city through his former visits as Lord Strathcona's commissioner for Nelson shields, is at present on a visit to St. John in furtherance of the objects of the Navy League of Canada, at the call of Col. Sturges and the members of the local executive.

When seen last night at the Dufour in Dr. Hall said he addressed over half a million people in Canada in the interests of the navy since coming to this country from South Africa in 1908, and that this evening a special national preparation for the Navy League programme. Over 3,000 Nelson shields had been distributed throughout the city.

In popularizing the Navy League programme Dr. Hall addressed the parliament of Saskatchewan during the fall of last year, and a strong provincial branch has been set up in Regina. During the past week the commissioner conducted a Navy League campaign in the Province of Prince Edward Island and branches were formed at Charlottetown, Summerside, Souris, Montague and Alberton. It has been arranged that his itinerary for New Brunswick shall include visits to Fredericton, Newcastle, Chatham, Moncton and Sackville in addition to St. John.

In connection with the aims of the Navy League Dr. Hall said the first great feature of the work was educational. By the issue of a school primer on the navy, the circulation of a special magazine called the "Sailor," and the issue of leaflets to the public schools of Canada the boys of the country were being taught the value of the navy.

The second feature of the programme was the provision for the dependents of sailors, more especially of the orphans and widows of men of the merchant marine. A great many cases of this kind had already arisen and every one reported was being sympathetically and effectively dealt with.

The third feature was in relation to Canada's future as a maritime nation and the part overseas commerce which would develop after the war. The plan was to take boys between the ages of twelve and eighteen and give them free instruction under qualified petty officers of the Royal Navy, preparatory to a sea-faring life. These boys would be put in the uniform of the Royal Navy and upon attaining a certain stage of efficiency they would be given a cruise on a training ship as a part of the summer drill. Already on Lake Ontario there was one vessel employed in this way taking fifty boys a week for a cruise on the lake.

The government's proposal to spend $5,000,000 on the matter urged that Canada should be training a merchant marine to man her own ships. Arrangements have been made for Dr. Hall to speak at the Imperial night at 7:45 and it is hoped to have him speak at other theatres between shows while in the city.

E. G. STUCKING TELLS OF KITCHENER, ONT.

Says Inhabitants of German Descent Came Largely To British Red Cross—Pieces of Monument Taken Overseas.

E. G. Stuebing, Kitchener, Ontario, is a visitor in the city. Mr. Stuebing spoke of the loyalty of the inhabitants at his home town, although many purely German descent, who contributed towards a Red Cross fund, to such an extent that $20,000 was raised at a short notice. Many of the highest contributors were German descent, who fled the city officers to overloading in the Red Cross drive.

Again speaking about the city of Kitchener, the speaker remarked, "Kitchener, formerly Berlin, Canada, had a statue erected by the German residents of the town. On the outbreak of the war this was torn down by a Canadian battalion, and many pieces of it are today in the front line trenches on route to Berlin, Germany, to be placed as a souvenir of Canadian loyalty to the British Empire, and as a mark of utter disdain for Germany." Mr. Stuebing leaves today for Montreal, en route to his home.

EMPLOYING GIRLS IN THEIR FACTORY

Massey Harris Representative Says Demand For Farm Machinery Not Above Average - Women Workers Taking Places of Men Overseas.

J. N. Sheaton of the Massey Harris Company, Toronto was in the city yesterday en route to his summer home near Digby and will cross the bay this morning. Mr. Sheaton says the demand for farm machinery this year had not been above the average although when followed that a larger demand for machinery was in evidence. He attributed the falling off in the demand this year to the increased prices of all kinds of machinery, which in the case of that used by the farmer, would average about fifty per cent over pre-war prices. For next year Mr. Sheaton said the prices would be a little higher to meet the advance in the freight rates.

Last week the Massey Harris Company employed its first woman workers, forty girls going to work on Monday the 13th day of August. These had proven very satisfactory and it was the intention of the company to add many more women to their factory staff, to make up the loss caused by the men going to war.

Asked about the crops Mr. Sheaton said the reports received by his company were that Manitoba would have an average crop of wheat but Saskatchewan and Alberta would have poor crops. In Ontario grain crops and hay were fair, and for the Maritime Provinces grain crops were reported good.
